THE SPIRIT OF HENRY JOHNSON.

Another Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner has come and gone, and it serves as a reminder of the rapid passing of the years. It is just about half a century ago that admirers of the old Birmingham worthy began a series of annual gatherings to celebrate Johnson's birthday, and out of these grew the "commemoration" after the passing in 1888 of one of the greatest and most lovable figures that ever adorned the Exercise. There have been other men, more brilliant in scholarship and more prominent in ringing affairs, perhaps, who have served their day and generation well, but there does not seem to have been anyone among them as gifted as was Henry Johnson in the great art of making and keeping friends. In matters appertaining to ringing Henry Johnson had a master mind, but he did not talk about it; he just used it in a humble way for the benefit of those who needed his help and of the art which he loved so well. All who knew him—and they are now growing rapidly less in numbers; there were only ten present at the gathering on Saturday—speak first and foremost of his geniality and humility; it comes even before the genius which won for him a lasting place among the pioneers of the science. Henry Johnson will always have his place in the history of ringing, and as long as men who knew him remain he will have a cherished spot in their hearts.

The annual gathering, which serves to keep green the memory of such a man, is an institution which the Exercise does well to maintain, but we sometimes wonder whether it will have quite the same meaning a few years hence, when time, as inevitably it must, takes toll of the remaining handful of men who were the youth of Johnson's declining days. Those who have from year to year listened to the eulogies of this grand old man of change ringing paid by those who knew him in the flesh, have imbibed some of the sentiment which his contemporaries have endeavoured to hand on to us, but it will be difficult, if not impossible, for future generations, without any living link between them and Johnson, to retain the same spirit of esteem and appreciation which up to the present has existed in Birmingham. But Henry Johnson left a legacy to the Exercise which cannot be measured. His example in genius, in patience and in humility is a part of it which in these days it is well sometimes to think of and strive to emulate. A little more of the spirit of Henry Johnson would do no harm to-day, and if in the future it can be kept alive by an annual reminder, it will be all to the good of the art of ringing, whatever other reasons may be found—and there are many—for drawing together such a gathering as that in Birmingham on Saturday.

V.W.H. BRANCH PROGRESS.

A meeting of the Vale of White Horse Branch was held at Stanford-in-the-Vale on Saturday, February 11th. Ringing commenced at 3 o'clock and was followed by a short service, conducted by the Vicar (Canon E. Farmer), who also gave the address. The Rev. A. J. de D. Denne (Rector of Shellingford) read the lesson, and Miss Whitfield was at the organ.

Tea was served at the Institute to 33 ringers and was followed by a business meeting, the Rev. A. J. de D. Denne (chairman of the branch) presiding, supported by the branch secretary (Mr. R. Gilling) and members from Faringdon, Stanford, Shrivenham, Uffington, Shellingford, Buckland and Great Conwell, with visitors from Childrey, Swindon and Southwark.

The Chairman said he was very pleased to see so large a gathering and welcomed everyone, especially the visitors and ringers from local towers not represented before. As it was the largest meeting held for several years, he was sorry the Master of the Guild (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn) and the general secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert) were not able to be present, as he was sure it would have been a great encouragement to them to see so many present. He felt that some credit was due to the local secretary.

Five new members were elected, viz., four from Uffington and one from Shrivenham.

It was decided to hold the annual meeting at Faringdon on June 3rd. The Chairman referred to the death of the late foreman of Stanford tower (Mr. C. Robinson), who had held that post for a number of years and took a keen interest in it.

The Rev. A. J. de D. Denne thanked the Vicar for the use of the bells and for conducting the service, also the organist, and the ladies for providing the tea.

The ringers then made a move to the belfry, where touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Bob Minor and Kent Treble Bob were rung, and the bells were lowered in peal about 8 o'clock, bringing a very successful meeting to an end.

STEDMAN TRIPLES.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Would you please inform Mr. Dexter that, if he will 'beg, borrow or steal' the copies of 'The Ringing World' issued between November 26th, 1923, and March 25th, 1927, and read, as I have just done, all the correspondence on the subject of 'Washbrook's Six-Single' peal of Stedman Triples, he will understand why I consider it unnecessary to go all over the ground afresh. Particularly would I ask him to study the letters of Mr. W. H. Barber and Mr. James Hunt.

There is only one new feature come to light recently, viz., that Washbrook himself called it a variation of Thurstans'. All the evidence I have seen in print, direct from himself, has been (when he has called the peal) that he has put at the foot 'Composed and conducted by J. W. Washbrook.' What evidence has Mr. Dexter for his assertion?

Mr. Dexter's sneer about newly-acquired knowledge is unwarranted. There was at least one band of ringers of a 'peal' of Stedman Triples in the M.C.A. who knew more about it after I had written than they did before, as he will see if he refers to the letter of Mr. W. P. Whitehead in the issue of March 25th, 1927.—Yours truly,
W. A. CAVE.

VARIATIONS RUNG YEARS AGO.

Dear Sir,—After my name had been freely used recently by Mr. Hunt and Mr. Cave in reference to a variation of mine, I asked for dates of publication of both. You, sir, kindly supplied the information, that mine was published in 'The Ringing World' on February 4th, 1927, and that Mr. Cave's was printed on postcards bearing the date February 8th, 1927. The above needed no comment from me; in fact, comment from anyone would have been superfluous.

But recently someone kindly sent me two of these cards, bearing the Bristol postmark. My thanks to the unknown sender. Surely it was not Mr. Cave himself? Anyway, I would like to inform Mr. Cave that these variations had been rung years ago. Any 'mutt' with a very elementary knowledge of the subject, ay, even as big a 'mutt' as myself, knew that by using singles 9 and 11 for 14 and 2 you get the same result. But in these days this does not justify any claim to originality. So the peal rung last year by the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association was a variation of mine, as stated by Mr. Hunt. Now, as there are no royalties to collect, I will be really very generous, and Mr. Cave can have the whole caboodle, original and variations thrown in.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Another one-armed ringer has rung a peal. Mr. Horace E. Plowman, who is thus handicapped, rung in a peal of Stedman Triples at Irthlingborough, Northants, on Saturday.

Mr. Harry Withers has an unbroken record of 36 consecutive Johnson dinners to his credit—and he is looking forward to many more.

Mr. A. Paddon Smith, who began his dinner career at the same time as Mr. Withers, has missed only one—when business took him to India.

A feature of the Birmingham gatherings is the large number of ladies who grace the proceedings. Last Saturday Mrs. E. K. Fletcher, hon. secretary of the Ladies' Guild, was among them. She was, some years ago, the first lady to attend a Johnson dinner, and thus set an example which to-day is widely followed.

Mrs. Cyril Johnston, of Creydon, is the first lady to respond to a toast at the Johnson dinner. Hitherto the speaking has been confined to gentlemen, but the departure was so successful that the innovation of to-day may be the commonplace of future similar events.

The wintry conditions of last week-end failed to keep the enthusiasm from the gathering, but probably the most courageous was a lady who induced her husband to drive her by car 110 miles over arctic roads in order that she might be present. To the 'chanceur' the ride conjured up visions of much warmer regions.

Several letters on the subject of 'Peal Grabbing' are held over.

MR. WILLIAM NEVARD'S BIRTHDAY.

After a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major, rung by eight Williams, at Witham, Essex, to celebrate the 77th birthday of Mr. William Nevard, of Great Bentley, the Essex veteran entertained the rest of the company. He received hearty congratulations and good wishes upon his birthday, and was cordially thanked for his hospitality. Many peals, past, present and future, were discussed during the happy social hour which was spent after the peal.

SUPERLATIVE SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The compositions which Mr. Dexter quotes in referring to my peal and rung at different dates belong to Mr. Sottanstill, and were published in his work about 1865. He was the first to publish a peal of Superlative with reversed course-ends and in five parts. The late Mr. Henry Datus produced the first two part with course-ends reversed about the year 1885, and I believe it has been left to me to produce the first three part. Some may say there is no advantage in reversing course-ends, but if there is anything in composing at all, it is in peals of this description that art lies.

THE PUPIL AND THE TEACHER.

SOME HINTS TO INSTRUCTORS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Your excellent leader, 'The pupil and the teacher,' interests me immensely. There is no doubt a little booklet as a guide to the instructor would be most welcome.

Many who try to get youngsters to take up ringing have no idea how to start. Pending the arrival of a book such as you suggest, might I trespass on your space to offer a few hints?

(1) Start at the beginning, show the pupil how the rope is handled, then take him to the belfry and whilst a colleague is swinging the bell from below explain handstroke and backstroke, the use of the slider and stay, how a bell is held up just over the balance and how necessary it is to cultivate the right amount of weight to take the bell up without breaking the stay.

(2) Put on a silencer and let the pupil have rope's end. See that he stands comfortably. I prefer the right foot slightly in front of the left. The rope should be adjusted to such a length that he must reach up well. Let the pupil pull at rope's end whilst the teacher looks after the sally.

(3) When he can control the bell at backstroke, let him have the sally, but be sure and 'see he reaches up well'—cramped arm ringing is not only ugly, but prevents good vision.

(4) When he has advanced sufficiently to try the bell entirely by himself, impress upon him the advantage of (as soon as he pulls off) putting his right hand immediately to the rope's end just above the left hand.

(5) As soon as he is master of the bell, but not before, let him try some rounds. Teach him to use his ears as well as his eyes; make him a good striker in rounds and he will always abhor bad ringing at any price.

(6) Do not attempt to let him try to ring changes until he can ring rounds really well.

(7) Do all you can to encourage your pupil. Do not let him sit in the tower all the evening doing nothing; give him a fair chance. If he is an apt pupil, do all you can to keep him. If after some time you have come to the conclusion that he will never make a good ringer because he will not try to learn, you are better off without him. BUT GIVE HIM A FAIR CHANCE.

THE HENRY JOHNSON COMMEMORATION.

45th ANNUAL DINNER AT BIRMINGHAM.

Although the company was not quite so large as in some previous years, the gathering which assembled in Birmingham on Saturday for the 45th annual dinner in commemoration of Henry Johnson was as happy and enthusiastic as any of its predecessors. The arctic conditions of the week-end and the prevalence of illness kept away a number who would otherwise have been present, but the company numbered about 130. There was ringing during the afternoon at St. Martin's Parish Church and at other towers in the city, and in the evening the company assembled at the Imperial Hotel. The Rector of Birmingham (Canon T. Guy Rogers, B.D., M.C.) presided, but, unfortunately, Mrs. Rogers, who had intended to be present, was unable to attend owing to illness among her family. The Rector was supported by Mrs. Paddon Smith, Alderman J. S. Pritchett (Master of St. Martin's Guild), Mr. T. H. Reeves (hon. secretary), Mr. Albert Walker (Ringing Master) and Mrs. Walker, Mr. A. Paddon Smith (vice-president), Canon Blofield, Mr. G. W. Fletcher (hon. secretary of the Central Council), Mrs. E. K. Fletcher (hon. secretary of the Ladies' Guild), Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hughes (London), Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Johnson (Croydon), Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Goldsmith (Woking), Mr. Harry Mason (Bagley), Mr. W. G. Robinson (churchwarden of St. Martin's), Mr. F. E. Dawo (London), Mr. J. George and Mr. J. H. Shepherd (vice-presidents of the Guild), Mr. A. J. Hughes (Bradford), Mr. S. F. Palmer (Sheffield), Mr. G. Horner (York), Mr. E. Guise (hon. secretary, Gloucester and Bristol Association), Mrs. Wilkins, Mr. W. Knight, Mr. W. Birt, Mr. P. C. Williams, Mr. F. Skidmore (Bristol), Mr. J. Austin (Gloucester), Mr. T. F. King (Bath), Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Smallwood (Wisbech), Mr. J. P. Fidler (Loughborough), Mr. H. Knight (hon. secretary, Archdeaconry of Staffs Society), and members and friends of St. Martin's Guild from a wide area, including Wolverhampton, Coventry, Walsall, etc.

An excellent dinner was served, and at the close the Chairman submitted the loyal toast, which was enthusiastically honoured.

THE CHURCH'S OPPORTUNITY.

Mr. F. E. Haynes proposed 'Church and State,' and in the course of a thoughtful speech remarked upon the closer contact which now existed between the bellringers and the Church, in which they were being more and more recognised as essential servants. The clergy also were taking a far keener interest in their activities than before. At St. Martin's the ringers were singularly happy in their relations with the Church as personified by the Rector, who frequently came up into the ringing chamber himself and brought visiting clergymen from all over the world with him, while on one evening a considerable portion of the congregation visited the belfry at his invitation. It was not perhaps out of place to say that in return for this increasing interest which was being shown by the clergy in the ringers it was fitting that an increased interest in the Church should be shown by certain sections of the ringing community. It was not fair of ringers to expect the clergy to take them to their bosoms, as it were, if they did not support the Church adequately. Continuing, Mr. Haynes said the fact that they coupled Church and State in their toast showed that they considered there was a close relationship between the two. It was more and more becoming realised that the application of Christian principles was necessary to successful government, not only in affairs of State, but even in world affairs. Surely now was the Church's opportunity to go forward and make itself definitely the head in the relationship between Church and State? In the last 20 years there had been extraordinarily few fine statesmen, but there had been a number of fine churchmen, and it would be a good thing if, by some means, they could get more power for the Church in the councils of the nation through the Bishops and higher clergy. He did not mean that they should have a power behind the throne as in the days of Cardinal Wolsey, but if the Bishops and higher clergy could play a more important part in the governing of the State, he believed it would be for the good of the country. The Rector of Birmingham often put before them in his sermons current events all over the world, and showed them how the Church could play its part in them and how its influence was increasing. They saw portrayed in their Rector not only the characteristics which they accepted as churchmen, but also the qualities of higher statesmanship which they would welcome in their politicians (applause). He hoped the association between Church and State in this country would long continue to flourish and that the power of the Church within the State would increase. It was because of such men as their Rector that they saw the power of the Church actually increasing in the State, and it was peculiarly apt that his name should be coupled with the toast (applause).

RELATIONS BETWEEN CLERGY AND RINGERS

The Rector, in replying, congratulated Mr. Haynes upon his very able speech. Apart from the kind words he had used about himself, which he appreciated very much, he admired the way in which he had dealt with the toast. The Rector added that he thought it was a delightful thing to see the happy relationship growing up between clergy and ringers. It was quite true that the relationship at St. Martin's was of the very happiest kind. Whenever he went into the belfry he received a hearty welcome, and the smiles on the faces of the men sent him down to take the service in the church encouraged with a sense of fuller friendship, and he believed that out of that friendship on the part of the ringers grew a greater desire to support the Rector in the services. He remembered Mr. Paddon Smith saying on one occasion that they ought not to think of the bells as being simply intended to ring to bring the people to the church, but that they had a message of their own. In that way they formed part of public worship and thus had a far larger symbolism and spiritual purpose than some people seemed to understand. The more both clergy and ringers realised that, the closer would be their relation in that worship for which they were mutually responsible. The Rector went on to thank Mr. Walker for his co-operation in the plan of getting members of the congregation up into the belfry to see the ringing room and the work of the ringers. At least 80 people visited the belfry that evening, and he hoped that at least as many more might be able to visit it on another occasion. He believed in creating a real spirit of friendship in the church and its worship, and he thought it would be quite possible for the clergy and bellringers to co-operate in bringing the whole congregation together in a larger social life.

With regard to the relations between Church and State, the day had long since passed when the Church attempted to govern the State, and he hoped they would never arrive at the time when the State tried to govern the Church. They should run like husband and wife in double harness, and although that was sometimes a little difficult (laughter) and required a considerable amount of tact and discretion, of mutual sympathy and understanding, that was precisely what they wanted to see in the relations of Church and State (applause). He was glad that the relations at the present time were happy. The separatist movement seemed to have died away; there was no demand that he knew of for disestablishment. The old social prestige of the Church was being more and more shared with the Free Churches, the old education controversy which used to divide them was a thing of the past, and there was a new feeling of fellowship between all the churches. The whole situation was different, and he did not think they would find any demand outside the Church for disestablishment. The more the Church witnessed to the true Christian faith the more did the citizens generally respect it, and he was glad to see the Church continually taking the lead in social questions. Church and State were working together in Birmingham for the welfare and uplift of the citizens, and although they lived in dark and difficult days, and the economic situation was so strained, the relations between Church and State were of quite a happy character, far different to what they were in Spain or Russia. They thanked God they had been allowed to take a share in what was being done and that there had been no forfeiture of the confidence of the people among whom they lived (applause).

THE MEMORY OF HENRY JOHNSON.

Mr. Harry Mason was entrusted with the toast of 'The Memory of the late Henry Johnson.' The quotation appended to the toast, 'His life was gentle,' was a very apt one, the speaker said. That was the essence of Henry Johnson. If ever there was a man who was humble, that man was Henry Johnson. Humility was a grace with him. A tremendous amount of ringing talent was brought together on the occasion of his 80th birthday festival, which he (the speaker) well remembered, and which was really the origination of that gathering. The festival lasted three days in Birmingham, from Thursday to Saturday night. The arrangements were made by Sir Arthur Heywood, together with Mr. Harvey Reeves, of 'The Bell News.' It resulted in bringing together one of the biggest companies of ringers ever seen in Birmingham. He was almost a stranger among the party at that time, and it was a great pleasure to him—a pleasure which he had never forgotten—to be introduced by such friends as Mr. Samuel Reeves, Mr. Rock Small, Mr. Russam and others. It was an honour to be there, where all, with one accord, did honour to the great talent and genius which Mr. Johnson had displayed in the art of ringing. Mr. Mason recalled his introduction to Johnson on that occasion and the old man's interest in what was being done in connection with a new peal of bells which had at that time been put in not many miles from Birmingham. Before his birthday came round again Henry Johnson had passed from them, and it was a sad gathering that met for the first commemoration dinner in the following year. Mr. Mason added that a dinner on Johnson's birthday had been originated first about 1862, when he reached his 73rd year. That gathering was held at the Dog and Partridge, and was continued until the 'Johnson Dinner' was inaugurated on his 80th birthday. Every year since then they had met to do honour to his memory. In his lifetime Johnson was at everyone's beck and call, to help in composition and assist in peal ringing, but the characteristic which struck him (the speaker) most was the great humility of the man. He was always ready to sink self in order to help others; and it did them good to think of the lives of such men as Henry Johnson. Mr. Mason went on to pay a tribute to Johnson's personality and genius, the results of which remained with us until to-day. Among all the famous men who had gone from them Johnson occupied a unique position, and they did well on those occasions to remind themselves of all that he did for them and the stimulus which he gave to the art of ringing. Johnson was tremendously keen on good striking, and he wondered what he would have said of the practice advocated in a recent letter in 'The Ringing World.' If there was one thing more than another on which Mr. Johnson insisted it was on good striking, and if they could pay no other tribute to his memory they would do well to keep up his tradition for good ringing. If bad striking were to be allowed or recognised in any form or way, the art of ringing would be lost altogether. If, concluded Mr. Mason, to live in the hearts of those we leave behind is not to die, then Henry Johnson lives to-day.

The toast was honoured in silence.

Afterwards three leads of Kent Treble Bob on 14 bells was faultlessly rung by A. E. Norman 1-2, A. Walker 3-4, G. F. Swann 5-6, F. E. Pervin 7-8, F. W. Bailey 9-10, F. E. Haynes 11-12, M. J. Morris 13-14.

PROSPERITY TO ST. MARTIN'S GUILD.

Alderman J. S. Pritchett, who again proposed 'Continued Prosperity to St. Martin's Guild,' said one evidence of its continued prosperity was to be found in the handbell ringing they had just heard. The fact that the Guild had produced seven men who could ring changes on 14 bells, and that most efficiently, was evidence of continued prosperity. He congratulated the Guild on that most excellent gathering of old friends, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. Many had come from long distances to show their appreciation of the memory of the late Henry Johnson. The past year, he continued, had been an entirely satisfactory one for the Guild. The practices and Sunday service ringing had gone on as usual, and he did not think the clergy had any cause to complain at any of the churches. Many young ringers were coming forward, which was another sign of the continued prosperity of the Guild. There were those in every society, he said, who distinguished themselves as pioneers, and among those in St. Martin's Guild he would mention one or two. They were indebted to Mr. George Swann for his services as librarian, and also for his good work at Ewington, where they had a distinguished lady ringer, who was with them that night, Miss Sanders, who during the past year had rung peals of London and Superlative Surprise (applause). He would also like to mention two ringers at King's Norton, Mr. Webb and Mr. Fearn, who had kept the art going there. Mr. J. Neal had rendered valuable service in Sunday ringing at St. Martin's and also as a ringer at St. John's, Deritend, while Mr. James George had again taken up the superintendence of the ringing at Bishop Ryder's Church. He congratulated him on attaining his 79th birthday, and hoped he would live long and ring many more peals. The Guild rang 21 peals in 1932. The number might not be considered large, but the quality had been excellent. He would mention more especially the peals of Cambridge Surprise Royal and Maximus. The peals had been in a great variety of methods, 66 ringers had taken part in them and there had been nine conductors. Among noteworthy events had been the restoration and reopening of the peal of ten bells at Solihull, which were recast by Messrs. John Taylor and Co.; and the recasting and relanging of the eight bells at Selly Oak by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. During the forthcoming year they were looking forward with eager anticipation to the recasting and reopening of the bells at Aston Church (applause). Those bells were associated with his early ringing days, before he ventured to St. Martin's. He used to go there for practice under the able tuition of Mr. Russam, who they all regretted was unable to be present that night. He hoped before they met for a similar gathering next year peals would have been rung on the recast bells at Aston.

Continuing, Alderman Pritchett said they would all wish him to express their deep sense of the loss which the Guild had sustained by the death of Mr. Walter Bryant and Mr. Albert Parsons. Mr. Bryant was one of the old school of ringers, always willing to take part in a peal or make up a band. He was an excellent handbell ringer, although he never went as far as ringing a peal of Stedman Cinques in hand. Mr. Albert Parsons' death caused a great loss to the Exercise. He more than once proposed at those gatherings the toast to the immortal memory of Henry Johnson, and also proposed toasts on many other occasions, his usual theme being 'Church and State.' He held distinct and emphatic views on church discipline, and never hesitated to ventilate those views. They were all sorry to have lost such a colleague. In conclusion, Alderman Pritchett paid a tribute to the services rendered to the Guild by Mr. Albert Walker as Ringing Master, and Mr. Thomas Reeves, as hon. secretary. Mr. Walker ably represented the Guild, not only in Birmingham, but all over the country. There was no ringers' gathering of importance that he did not attend to represent the Guild, and last Whitsuntide he was elected an honorary member of the Central Council. He offered Mr. Walker their congratulations upon having attained that distinction. The Guild was prospering, he concluded, and he was certain it would continue to prosper. They were grateful to the clergy for the growing interest which they took in the work of the Guild, and they looked forward with confidence to the future (applause).

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

The society's February meeting was held at Birstall on Saturday, February 25th. Owing to weather conditions (in the shape of a continuous downfall of snow, which has been slowing down the train services and in some cases stopping bus services altogether), the attendance was rather thin, only eight towers being represented.

The bells were pulled up about 3.30 p.m., and touches were rung in various methods. After an interval for tea, more ringing took place.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and to the local company, especially Mr. Herbert Peel, for his endeavours to make the visitors comfortable.

CENTRAL COUNCIL MEMBERS SHOULD SET EXAMPLE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—What is our Central Council coming to? We have seen one member give notice to attempt an unorthodox peal, another says we must adopt a doubtful practical peal, but now the limit is surely reached when we are told by a clergyman to have had striking as a relief! Would he stand in the pulpit and advise his congregation to break some of the commandments in order to get the beauty of others? It is time some of the Council realised they are there to lead and set an example to the Exercise, not to push them back. In these days it is hard enough to stand up for good striking, without a member in the Rev. Herbert Drake's position advising bad ringing.

I am pleased to add that my experience of Suffolk ringers is that they do not follow Mr. Drake's advice. You can get striking there. A. H. PULING.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

In spite of the wintry weather, an enjoyable meeting was held at Ickleton on Saturday. Ringers came from Exning, Fulbourne, Harlow Common, Melbourn, Sawbridgeworth, Sawston, Trumpington, Woodford, and there was a splendid muster of the local band. Service was conducted by the Vicar, who gave a helpful address. Mr. L. Lilley very kindly presided at the organ.

Tea and business followed. It was decided to visit the five-bell towers of Stetchworth, Wood Ditton and Dullingham on March 25th.

The proposed division of the district was discussed, and a vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar and organist.

Standard methods were rung during the afternoon and evening. Grateful thanks are due to Mr. Webb for making all arrangements. It is always a very real pleasure to visit Ickleton, and this occasion was no exception.

DEATH OF AN ESSEX FOUNDER MEMBER.

MR. THOMAS WATSON, OF BRAINTREE.

The founder members of the Essex Association are reduced to one by the death of Thomas Watson, which occurred, at the age of 84 years, on Saturday, February 11th, at Baintree. The sole remaining member is Mr. Thomas Edwards, of the same parish.

Mr. Watson, who had not rung for some years owing to his age, was a member of the old Baintree company, before the bells were augmented to eight. He was a remarkably good treble ringer and striker, and took part in many peals, including one in 14 methods. He was also a member of the College Youths.

At the funeral on Saturday, February 18th, the body was taken into the church, where the Vicar (the Rev. R. S. Eddeson) officiated. At the burial afterwards the assistant curate read the committal prayers.

Among those in church were Messrs. C. H. Howard (Master), H. E. Hammond and Thomas Edwards, representing the Essex Association. The floral tributes included one from the association which Mr. Watson helped to form. Immediately after the funeral, with the clappers half-muffled, 1,248 Double Norwich Court Bob Major was rung: S. Warne 1, C. H. Howard (conductor) 2, W. G. Melbourn 3, H. E. Hammond 4, B. Redgweli 5, F. T. Eley 6, G. Wiffen 7, W. H. Hammond 8.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

There was a good attendance at the meeting of the South-Eastern Division of the Essex Association, which was held at Galleywood on Saturday, February 18th. Ringing, which commenced at 3 o'clock, was followed by a service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. A. Roughton). The lesson was read by Mr. Howard (Master of the association), and an excellent address given by the Rev. T. Lancaster (Vicar of Little Leigh). Tea was afterwards provided at the school, when a company of 40 sat down, twelve towers being represented. The Rev. T. Lancaster presided, supported by the Vicar, the Master, District Master and District Secretary.

At the business meeting Mr. Sydney Easter, of Maldon (All Saints'), and Mr. Harold Moss, of Galleywood, were elected ringing members. It was arranged to hold the next meeting at Springfield on April 8th.

Mr. Howard proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and conducting the services, and to the Rev. T. Lancaster for his helpful address. He also extended thanks to the organist for his service and the ladies for providing the tea.

The Vicar and the Rev. T. Lancaster, replying to the vote of thanks, said it was a real pleasure to meet the members of the association again. The Vicar said he was always willing to let the members have the use of the bells.

Handbell ringing was subsequently indulged in, whilst others returned to the tower, where further ringing brought a most successful meeting to a close.

BRIDGNORTH'S VETERAN STEEPLEKEEPER.

Mr. John Overton, the veteran steeplekeeper of Bridgnorth, Salop, reached his 82nd birthday on February 15th, and in honour of the event a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung at St. Leonard's Church: H. G. Thomas 1, B. H. Head 2, J. Elcock 3, B. Head 4, Rev. G. Benson 5, W. Overton (conductor) 6, H. W. Overton 7, E. Foxall 8.

DEATH OF MR. THOMAS FAULKNER.A PROMINENT LONDON RINGER.

It is with deep regret that we record the death, at the age of 57 years, of Mr. Thomas Faulkner, of Barking, who passed away on Wednesday of last week. Mr. Faulkner underwent a serious operation about a year ago, from which he made a good recovery, but a recurrence of the trouble had, unfortunately, confined him to bed since Christmas. He leaves a widow and two sons in bereavement.

Mr. Faulkner was held in high respect in London ringing circles, as well as in Essex, where he resided. He was elected Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths in 1912 and 1913, and had represented the society for many years on the Central Council. He was also for a long period a member of the committee of the Essex Association, which he had further served in other capacities.

Mr. Faulkner's ringing career began in 1893 at Barking, when the late Mr. E. A. Davis established a new band at St. Margaret's Church, but out of the first dozen who joined, only Mr. Faulkner and Mr. A. C. Hardy stuck to the art. But the foundation of the present company was laid, and ever since there has been a good band at this church, where change ringing was taught by two old College Youths, Messrs. Samuel Hayes and York Green. Mr. Faulkner rang his first peal in 1895, and afterwards rapidly added others in company with many well-known London ringers. He also took up double-handed change ringing and scored peals of Triples, Major and Caters. He called Holt's Original on handbells in 1897—the hallmark in those days of a conductor's ability—and Harrison's 8,895 Kent Treble Bob Major in April, 1899. He could also ring Surprise methods 'in hand.' He was a very safe conductor, and, brought up in such a school, was an excellent striker. A staunch churchman, Mr. Faulkner held strongly to the view that a ringer's first obligation was to the church, and that the highest type of ringer desired no other reward than a good conscience and the satisfaction which comes from duty well performed. Mr. Faulkner was a member of many diocesan and county organisations and had rung a large number of peals, including Cambridge Surprise Maximus.

Mr. Faulkner was one of the best known inhabitants of Barking, where he had lived from the age of six. All his business life had been spent with the firm of Messrs. Randall (Maltsters), Ltd., in which he had risen to the position of manager. He took an active interest in local affairs at Barking and was particularly proud of the fact that he was recently elected a manager of the Church of England School, at which he was formerly a scholar. He was a keen Freemason and at the time of his death was Reigning Master of St. Erkenwald Lodge, No. 2,808. He was also a member of St. Erkenwald's Chapter and of various other chapters and lodges.

The funeral took place on Tuesday at St. Margaret's Parish Church.

DEATH OF MR. W. WALMSLEY.A FIRST MEMBER OF THE CHESTER GUILD.

The passing of Mr. W. Walmsley deprives Macclesfield Parish Church of its oldest member. Mr. Walmsley, who was in business as a jeweller, was 66 years of age, and was recovering from an operation some weeks ago when he had a relapse and died on Friday, February 14th. He was the oldest member of the Parish Church company in point of service, and only last June completed his jubilee as a ringer.

He was only 16 years of age when he joined the St. James', Sutton, band, in 1882, for a period of three years, part of which time he was conductor. In 1885 Mr. Walmsley joined the old church company at Macclesfield, where he taught quite a number of young ringers, and was conductor for many years.

He had been a member of the Chester Diocesan Guild since it was founded in 1887, and was secretary and treasurer of the Macclesfield branch for the first seven years. For a similar period he represented the Guild on the Central Council.

The funeral took place on Tuesday, February 21st, the first part of the service being taken in the house, the Rev. N. A. Vesey, Vicar of Macclesfield, officiating. The ringers were represented by Messrs. J. Norbury and F. Yates, of the Parish Church, and W. Gayes, of Christ Church. Among the floral tributes was one in the shape of a bell from the ringers of the Macclesfield branch.

After the committal, the handbells were tapped over the grave by Mr. J. Norbury as a last token of respect.

At the Parish Church a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in 55 minutes with the bells half-muffled: H. Lomas 1, W. Gayes 2, J. Worth 3, S. Dean 4, H. Dean 5, J. Westwood 6, A. Burgess (conductor) 7, F. Yates 8.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.CHERTSEY DISTRICT LIVES UP TO ITS REPUTATION.

Members of the Chertsey District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild lived up to their reputation on Feb. 18th, when they failed, except in small numbers, to attend the annual district meeting at Ottershaw. This area has always been a difficult one to 'work,' and it is not being made easier by the attitude of some of the clergy. Despite the fact, however, that only eight members of the district were present, the meeting from other points of view was a success. Combined with it was a meeting of the Southern District of the Ladies' Guild, and this, with visitors from other Guildford Guild districts, notably Aldershot, helped to swell the attendance to slightly over 30.

The service was conducted by the Rev. F. T. Robinson (Vicar of Chobham), who made a feeling reference to the death of the Guild's first treasurer, Admiral T. P. Walker.

After tea in the Parish Hall, the general secretary of the Guild (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith) presided over the business meeting, and Mr. G. L. Grover (Guildford District secretary) discharged the secretarial duties. Miss Eastes was elected district secretary in place of Mr. H. Hancock, who retired, and Mr. H. J. Chaffey was appointed Ringing Master in place of Mr. F. E. Hawthorne. Messrs. J. Hessey (Chertsey) and W. Massey (Esher) were elected to the Executive Committee of the Guild, and Mr. Sayle (churchwarden of Ottershaw) was elected an honorary members' representative.

The general officers of the Guild were renominated, and for the three representatives to be elected to the Central Council at the annual meeting of the Guild, the following were nominated: Messrs. A. H. Pulling, A. C. Hazelden, G. L. Grover and R. Whittington.

Thames Ditton, Horsell, Chobham and Egham (joint with the Surrey Association) were selected as meeting places for the year, with the annual meeting of the district at Chertsey, if it can be arranged.

The district voted the sum of £2 to the Guild's scheme for providing a memorial to the late Admiral T. P. Walker, and the meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the retiring officers, to the Vicars of Ottershaw and Chobham, to the organist and to the chairman.

The ringing on the six bells included a variety of methods up to Cambridge Surprise Minor.

RESIGNATION OF STEEPLEKEEPER.

The congregation of St. John's Church, Bournemouth, have presented Mr. Frederick Frampton with a beautiful chiming clock, with a suitable inscription, in appreciation of his faithful service during 45 years at St. John's.

Mr. Frampton started in 1889 as organ blower, and continued in that capacity until 1900. At Easter, 1900, he was nominated a sidesman, which office he still holds. In 1907, after the tower and spire, had been built and the bells and chimes put in by the generous gift of two ladies, who have since been laid to rest, Mr. Frampton was asked to take charge of the bells and clock as a steeplekeeper, and to deputise for the verger in his absence. The time has now come when he must give way to a younger man. Although nearing 70, he hopes to carry on his ringing.

BECKENHAM, KENT—On Sunday, February 12th, a quarter-peal of Oxford Bob Triples for evening service: P. Meek 1, W. Rawling 2, A. Richards (first in the method) 3, W. Martin 4, G. Wickens 5, S. Humphrey 6, W. Smith (conductor) 7, C. Tammadge (first quarter-peal) 8. The ringers of the 3rd and tenor come from West Wickham.

MR. H. KNIGHT'S LONG SERVICE.35 YEARS CAPTAIN AT WOLVERHAMPTON.

In appreciation of his long and loyal service to St. Peter's Society, Wolverhampton, a presentation of Treasury notes was made to Mr. Herbert Knight, for 35 years captain of the company, at the annual supper of the society. Mr. Knight began his ringing at Highbridge, Somerset, 44 years ago, and for the last 39 years has been associated with Wolverhampton's Collegiate Church. During that time he has rung 436 peals, his longest being 11,563 of Grandsire Caters at Wolverhampton. The Rector (the Rev. R. L. Hodson), in making the presentation, congratulated Mr. Knight on his long period of 'really fine service' in the belfry of St. Peter's Church, and expressed the hope that his captaincy of the band would long continue.

Mr. Knight having acknowledged the gift, the Rector spoke in praise of the ringers' work and referred sympathetically to the recent death of Mr. E. F. Mitchell, a ringer for 20 years, following which the company stood in silence for a moment.

Mr. C. H. Clapham (Rector's warden) welcomed the visitors, including the Rev. C. H. Barker (Vicar of Swindon and hon. secretary of the Stafford Archdeaconry), Messrs. R. Pickering (Tettenhall), J. Perry (Brewwood) and F. W. Perrens (Coventry), and announced greetings from Canon Penny and Canon Stockley, the Revs. Frederic Willett and C. P. Way, Alderman Johnson, Mrs. Shaw (Aberystwyth), Messrs. Alfred Hall, W. H. Hinde and E. H. Bull.

The Rev. C. H. Barker responded, and Mr. W. M. Pinson (people's warden) also spoke.

Mr. H. Knight was re-elected captain, Mr. A. Baker secretary and treasurer, Mr. F. Brotherton librarian, and Mr. T. Smith representative to the Society of Change Ringers for the Archdeaconry of Stafford. Messrs. H. Griffiths and A. Smith were admitted probationer members.

The annual report, which was adopted, stated that the five peals rung on St. Peter's bells were outstanding, including two each of Cambridge Maximus and Stedman Cinques, and one of Grandsire Caters. In each St. Peter's band were well represented.

MR. H. KNIGHT*MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.*AYLESTONE VISITED AFTER 17 YEARS.

The mid-quarterly meeting of the Leicester District was held at Aylestone, on Saturday, February 18th. The six bells were raised in peal at 3 p.m. and kept going in various methods during the afternoon. A short service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Percy Lidster, B.A.), the M.C.A. form of service being used. The collection realised 8s.

Tea was partaken of in the Church Rooms, a company of 27 ringers sitting down. There was no formal business meeting, but the vice-president suggested that the collection be given, in the name of the Leicester District, to the memorial to Sir Arthur P. Heywood, once president of the M.C.A. This was agreed to. One honorary and one ringing member were elected, viz., the Rev. Percy Lidster, B.A., Rector, and Miss Kitty Gee, of St. Margaret's, Leicester.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for the use of the bells, and to the local ringers for providing an excellent tea.—The Rector suitably replied, saying that he was informed that it was 17 years ago since the M.C.A. last visited Aylestone. He hoped it would not be so long before the next visit. The local ringers had been only too pleased to provide the tea.

Further ringing on the bells till 8 o'clock concluded a very pleasant and enjoyable meeting.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Western Division of the Sussex County Association took place at Storrington on Saturday, February 18th. Owing to illness, the meeting was not so well attended as usual; the following towers, however, were represented: Billingshurst, Henfield, Heene, Kirdford, Warnham, West Grinstead, Washington and Storrington.

Ringing commenced soon after 3 o'clock, and later the members attended a short service, conducted, in the absence through illness of the Vicar of Storrington, by the Rev. G. Hall, Rector of West Chiltington. A substantial tea was partaken at the Old Forge, after which the Rev. G. Hall presided at the short business meeting. One new member (Mr. H. Markwell, of Storrington) was elected.

All the officers were re-elected for the ensuing year, with the exception of Mr. W. Charman, whose place on the committee was taken by Mr. W. Denman.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the chairman for his address and for presiding, also to the organist. The Chairman offered to convey the thanks of the members to the Vicar of Storrington for granting the use of the bells, etc. Another visit was afterwards paid to the tower for further ringing.

A FRENCH VIEW OF ENGLISH STRIKING*To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—I do not wish to join in any argument on the various phases of the Rev. H. Drake's letter in your recent issue, but there are one or two points he raises on which the following extracts might enlighten him somewhat. Thus in the first paragraph he states that abroad 'the only ringing they do is actual jangling—the more noise and clashing there is, the better pleased everyone is.' Now I have recently been in correspondence with a French gentleman, who is a professor at an English college, and he tells me in one letter that the majority of churches in France have one, two or three bells, and they are 'in accord,' i.e., a third below, or an octave, or lower third below. Thus if they happen to clash together there is not a discord like bells 'in sequence' would give. Your warning, too, about the single bell is timely, for if this is set up as an example to bombard the Church Assembly, it may be—even as your leader states—the thin edge of the wedge to banning ringing on larger numbers. It might be interesting to many ringers to quote from my French friend's letters on these subjects:

'The majority of our churches have only one, two or three bells (generally two). They may be played by the same man; such bells as we have in our villages or small towns being not too heavy, and the man teaches himself how to peal them in varied rhythms. For instance, in my village, where we have two bells only, they are played thus—only, of course, on big occasions—marriage, processions, baptism, feast days, etc. (then he gives a little tune of two notes with long and short duration—the first "sprightly," then "a little slower"), or according to the man's fancy—a blend of rhythm following each other after two bars and a pause, or after any number of bars. Ringing before any service is only pealed on one bell, the deeper note generally, and often the ringer just sets the bell into motion enough to have repeated strokes of the hammer on the same side of the bell (chiming) he does not set in full swing. The bells are never pealed more than one or two minutes—except on special occasion, WHEN THE LAW AUTHORISES A FIVE MINUTES' PEAL. As far as I know, churches must not peal their bells all at the same time in big towns (even and perhaps more so on special occasions, such as all the eves of holy days), BUT VICARS COPE WITH THE LAW in starting a minute before the other bell stops, and people who do enjoy bellringing may have a good ten or fifteen minutes' treat!!

'The majority of churches have a lighter and bigger bell—generally IN ACCORD—a third below or an octave, or a lower third below. Some towns even have arranged to have all their church bells in tune, so that when the Angelus is rung on the 'Bourdon' these show harmony and harmonics from their ringing all at the same time.

'I cannot remember when THE LAW FORBIDDING LONG PEALING OF BELLS was passed—somewhere round 1905 I should say—but since then, bells being rung one at a time, and for a short time, the sexton is now the bellringer. When the "bourdon" is a really big bell, there may be two men to pull the rope, but that is all.

Regarding our English ringing, my French friend asked:—

'Is it traditional in England to play all the bells some time all together—just as if it were a great harmonious crash! or make them run down the scale at a bright tempo, and keep on doing this for hours? Are there specially trained ringers, or does each parish use men of goodwill? Is variety of play allowed? Could bells be rung according to fancy, in true popular measure; a naive tune, a few variations and da capo? I ask all this because I really know VERY LITTLE about English ringing, the only contrast I am aware of being—if I may be bold enough to say so—the happy silence of our French Sunday evenings. Being, I think, a great lover of bells, the dismal and hectic and monotonous ringing I hear on English Sunday evenings leads me to think that OUR LAW, although very narrow and in its way rather intolerant, taught us at least that enough is as good as a feast. This is a challenge which asks for a vindication of English custom. I shall be only too glad to read you, and lose some of my prejudices.'

I wrote in answer to above, trying to explain, as far as my poor knowledge allowed, the English systems, etc., and received the following answer:—

'I had no idea change ringing was such a carefully devised science and art. It is, on the whole, very simple—hence its appeal; but very elaborate and requires well-trained ringers. We have nothing like it in France, nothing that comes anywhere near it. All I can see is that, contrary to our so-called national habits, you have turned bellringing into a most logical affair, while we stick to fancy and popular inspiration.'

Reverting to the matter of the public appreciating good or bad striking, there is one practice which cannot be too strongly condemned. That is the raising or falling of two or three bells anyhow—in a glorified jangle. I have often heard (and taken part in) a beautifully struck peal which has been spoilt at its conclusion by this practice. Surely if the hand is incapable or undesirous of raising or falling IN PEAL, the bells could be pulled up or silenced either singly or, as our French friends have it, 'in accord,' i.e., two or three which would 'blend' if struck together accidentally.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO SIR A. P. HEYWOOD, BART.

As the 10 bells at Duffield, which was the home of Sir Arthur Heywood, and where he was a Sunday service ringer for many years, are about to be recast, the committee of the Midland Counties Association invite subscriptions from all ringers towards the expenses of recasting one of the bells and adding a suitable inscription.

Sir Arthur was, as is well known, the founder of the Central Council, and its president for a quarter of a century. He was also president of the M.C.A. for 29 years, and the committee feel that there are many, particularly those who knew him personally, who will welcome this opportunity of being associated with the scheme, and it is with confidence that they appeal for generous support from one and all.

Donations, however small, will be thankfully received and acknowledged by the hon. treasurer of the M.C.A.,

W. E. WHITE,

Ivy Cottage, Cotgrave, Nottingham.
