THE CALL OF IRELAND

THIS issue of 'The Ringing World' is very much an Irish number. Mr. Donald G. Clift has not only written an entertaining account of the 600-mile journey covered by Mr. Wilfred Williams' peal-ringing tour in Southern Ireland, but provided an excellent series of photographs, six of which are reproduced in this issue. The story of their achievements—the warmth of hospitality received from Irish ringers and the beauty of much of the country traversed—is an encouragement to those members of the Central Council who are doubtful about making the long journey to Dublin next Whitsun. It will be recalled that the decision to visit Dublin was only carried at Chelmsford by 59 votes to 51, and there were about 40 abstentions—probably from members who were uncertain about making the journey. For the Council meeting to be effective and its decisions to command the respect and confidence of the Exercise as a whole, it is essential that an attendance of much larger than 60 should be recorded.

The affiliation of the Irish Association with the Central Council dates back to 1902, and the contribution to the art of change-ringing by the Association's first secretary, Gabriel Lindoff, is outstanding. As a composer, there have been few his peer, and his compositions of London run into five figures! Among the new methods which he has presented are Erin, Dublin Court and Rochester. In St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, where for many years he was instructor, there is a brass plate to his memory. He died on November 7th, 1941, having served the Association for 43 years as hon. secretary and as president in 1934-5.

Apart from Dublin, Bray and Arklow were centres of change-ringing in those early days, and it was at the last named tower that J. W. Washbrook was the inspirer of many noteworthy performances. The Emerald Isle has for years been a happy hunting ground for English ringers. The first peal in Ireland was rung by a band of College Youths at Waterford Cathedral on July 27th, 1872. It was Holt's Original, called by James Pettit, the band consisting of W. Cooter treble, James Pettit 2, R. Hayworth 3, G. Muskett 4, C. Lee 5, M. A. Wood 6, A. Haywood 7, W. Greenleaf tenor. The next year in the same tower another peal was rung for the Ancient Society (Grandsire Triples). In it stood a 14-year-old Waterford boy, Richard R. Cherry, who was destined in years to come to be the champion of change-ringing in Ireland. He left Waterford to study law in Dublin, and eventually rose to the highest positions in his profession of Attorney General and Lord Chief Justice of Ireland. Richard R. Cherry, K.C., was a natural choice to be the first president of the Irish Association. Such was his affection for ringing that despite his prominent position as Lord Chief Justice he was to be found at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, on practice nights. To St. Patrick's Cathedral he presented two trebles in 1909, and on these bells he rang the eleventh to a peal of Grandsire Cinques on January 14th, 1911, which was the first 12-bell peal ever rung outside of England.

To Mr. Williams' party goes the honour of adding another 'first' in the history of the Irish Association by a peal of Pudsey Surprise Royal. The illuminated peal book of the Association is freely sprinkled with names of ringers famous in English ringing. These include the Revs. F. E. Robinson and C. W. O. Jenkyn, James George, George, William and Ernest Pye, J. H. Cheeseman, Ben Knights, William Fussell, Bertram Prewett, W. Keeble, J. Simpson, Frank Bennett, James Bennett, C. T. Coles, E. Duffield, Harold Poole and Rupert Richardson. Mrs. G. W. Fletcher, as Miss Edith Parker, had the honour to be the first lady to ring and also conduct a peal in Ireland—Stedman Caters at Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin, on August 1st, 1927.

No touring party has visited Eire in recent years without availing themselves of the services of Mr. F. E. Dukes, who has been secretary of the Irish Association since 1941, having previously been assistant secretary for three years. Upon Mr. Dukes' shoulders will fall the responsibility of organising the programme next Whitsun. An object of the Irish Association when it was founded read: 'That the Society shall be a bond of unity between all ringers in Ireland for the promotion and study of scientific change-ringing.' Despite political differences the Irish Association embraces Northern Ireland. The Northern Branch has been functioning since 1927; it elects its own officers and carries on as an independent unit. Mr. J. T. Dunwoody will doubtless share in the welcome, and nothing would give him greater pleasure than to arrange for members of the Council to visit Northern Ireland and meet some of the keen bands of ringers in his towers. The Central Council treasures its Irish representatives, and while at times they do not always see eye to eye with each other they both impart a sparkle of wit which is refreshing to the somewhat stolid English outlook.

PEALS OF SPLICED CAMBRIDGE AND SUPERLATIVE QUESTIONED

Dear Sir,—I should like to draw attention to the arrangement for Spliced Superlative and Cambridge given in the Central Council Collection as follows:—'Call each course CSCSCSC, true to compositions for Superlative with no bells reversed in 5-6.' Unfortunately, this qualification is insufficient to ensure truth, and only peals of Cambridge with the tenors together would appear to be true to this arrangement: the Cambridge leads unfortunately running false against themselves. The arrangement required to run true to the 'no bells reversed in 5-6' qualification is SCSCSCS, and as far as I can see from peal reports, these arrangements have been rung in fairly even proportions. Perhaps conductors would care to check back and see whether they have rung the false arrangement, and the easiest guide seems to be to notice whether more Cambridge was rung than Superlative. I am sorry to be stirring up so much mud, but I have not heard of or seen any statement correcting this error in a widely-used Collection, though evidently quite a few conductors have appreciated it for some time now.

While on the subject I should like to query the superiority of Bristol with 6th place bobs, recently averred in your columns. The mere fact that all the courses with the 6th at home, and 4, 5 and 6 in 5-6 are rung full, seems of little value when considering that the wrong leads of the courses 3 4 6 2 5 and 4 2 6 3 5 contain as much music as the 65's at the Homes, for instance: and, apart from anything else, the tenors are on the front 22 times compared with the customary 14 or 15 in a 4ths place bob composition. Surely the 'lengthening lead' properties of Bristol are its main attraction?. Also, perhaps I have odd tastes, but to me Cambridge Royal is infinitely superior to Yorkshire (also the Major) by virtue of the very fact that the coursing order is broken below the treble!

Beating a hasty retreat,—Yours,

STEPHEN IVIN.

FOUR-BELL TOWERS IN HERTFORDSHIRE

Dear Sir,—There are very few fours in Herts, and this is the list and their condition as far as I can ascertain:—Brent Pelham (7 cwt.), probably ringable; St. Mary's, Stanstead Abbots, St. Andrew's (new church), chiming only; Wadesmill (6 cwt.), unringable (treble pre-Reformation, tenor by John Deir, 1580); St. Giles', Wyddial (11 cwt.), probably ringable but obstructed by organ (second and third probably 14th century). The three (5 cwt.) at Lilley are ringable.—Yours faithfully,

D. P. JONES.

Hitchin.

WHEN SPLICING

Dear Sir,—Perhaps ringers who splice their own bell-ropes would find this tip useful: After unwinding the rope ready for splicing, bind each of the three strands with cello tape for about two inches from the end. This keeps the ends from fraying and makes threading much easier.—Yours, etc.,

H. BUTLER.

'NINE TAILORS'

Dear Sir,—While listening to the third instalment of the B.B.C. production of Dorothy Sayers' 'Nine Tailors,' I was interested to hear what I took to be a slip on the part of John Thomason as the Rev. Theodore Venables. Talking of the path of the tenor in Kent Treble Bob Major, he described it as moving directly from 6ths to 4ths, before dodging in 5-6 down—by no means an uncommon occurrence in actual practice! However, on checking with my own copy of the book I find the error to be the printer's. As this is a first edition copy, the misprint must have been overlooked by the proof reader and perpetuated in later editions and by the B.B.C.

Presumably Mr. Harold Pistow's services were limited to the actual ringing involved rather than extending to those of a 'technical adviser' to the producer.—Yours sincerely,

CYRIL A. WRATTEN.

Cheltenham.

THE MAJOR PROBLEM

Dear Sir,—Mr. Philip Gray's letter on the above subject goes right to the core of what should be the greatest concern of all ringers and Associations—the problem of the silent, undermanned and jangling towers, and he deserves credit for his challenging.

In estimating the number of towers which are adequately rung at half, I think he is, if anything, being over-generous.

I agree entirely with him that the Council should now set up a committee to investigate the problem and issue a report with a view to bringing about an enthusiastic drive to build up the strength and efficiency of Sunday service bands. If these are flourishing, all other aspects of ringing will also flourish.

London University Society made September 8th a memorable day for Norwich, when a peal and two quarter peals were rung simultaneously on the bells of the city. It is said on that particular evening no part of the city was free from the activities of the Society. One of the quarter peals was by an all-ladies band, and although it needed three attempts the length was eventually well and truly rung.

Mr. Geoffrey Harper, a former ringer at Kenwyn, Cornwall, was ordained deacon at Coventry on September 15th.

Mr. B. P. Morris, Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers, has been appointed postmaster of Ashbourne, Derbyshire. He expects to take up duty there early in October.

Bramley, Leeds, is Mr. W. Eric Critchley's unlucky tower. At last, at the fifth attempt, he has rung a peal on the bells. Incidentally, this was Bramley's first peal of Surprise, unusual for a Yorkshire 8-bell tower.

Mr. Brian Austin points out that it is no longer the select band of ringers who have rung Cambridge from Minor to Maximus, as he is now a member of it by a peal at Rushton on September 11th.

The first peal conducted by Edward F. P. Bryant (14) at Sedlescombe, Sussex, was followed by a happy tea party, arranged by Mr. and Mrs. E. Fellows, who are thanked by the band for their hospitality.

Without advice, the Vicar of Bardwell, Suffolk, bought a set of ropes in the market at Bury St. Edmunds. The huge sallies they had caused them to stick in the floor above. The opinion of Suffolk ringers, transported by Mr. Arthur Rolfe, who visited the tower recently, was that these bells could be rung well with good ropes.

BELFRY GOSSIP

A quarter peal of Stedman Cinques was rung on the bells of Leicester Cathedral on September 8th as an 80th birthday compliment to Mrs. Jenney, wife of Mr. Harold G. Jenney, a highly respected member of the Cathedral band and president of the National Police Guild of Ringers.

Mr. Shirley Burton has rung peals of Kent Treble Bob from Minor to Maximus.

The ringers of the peal of Plain Bob Major at Bolton on September 8th would like to record their sincere gratitude to Mrs. Young, mother of the second ringer, who afterwards kindly provided the band with refreshments.

The two bells at Clanfield, Hants, dating from 1448 and cast by Roger Landon, are to be quarter turned and rehung on ball-bearings. Both were hung in the original 14th century church at Clanfield which was pulled down in 1878 and the present church built on the site.

A peal attempt was made at Spalding on September 7th, which was to have been in honour of the wedding of Mr. W. A. Dobbs and Miss J. Drury, also in honour of the birth of a daughter to the Rev. and Mrs. R. W. H. Nind, assistant curate at Spalding Parish Church, and also a birthday compliment to the conductor. Perhaps too many celebrations are not good for peal ringers?

A get-together by friends from Sudbury, Clare and Whepstead, Suffolk, and Sawston, Cambs, on September 7th, resulted in a very pleasant excursion. Towers visited were Strettham (6), Wilburton (6), Haddenham (6), Willingham (6) and Cherryhinton (5). London was an excellent touch at Strettham and Haddenham, with the assistance of a Cambridge contingent en route to the Ely meeting, whose company was much enjoyed.

A PEAL TOUR OF SOUTHERN IRELAND

600 MILES THROUGH TEN COUNTIES

*'The blue hills of Ireland
I see in my dreams,
The high hills of Ireland
the glens and the streams;
In sunlight and shadow
in weal and in woe,
The sweet vision haunts me
wherever I go.'*

IN defiance of superstition, 13 ringers journeyed to Ireland on August 17th for the sixth annual tour, organised by Wilfred Williams. This year we were pleased to re-welcome Messrs. Jim and Ronald Diserens after an interval of five years, and Tom Southam, who seems to have adopted the habit of every other year. Making their first tour with us were Frank Darby—making our complement of bell-hanging friends up to two—and John Phillips, of whom more later.

The advance guard descended on Dublin by way of an Aer Lingus dawn flight from London. Ten braved the rigours of an all-night crossing from Holyhead, while your chronicler, as usual the last to arrive, flew from Cardiff, his late arrival being greeted by the strains of 'Happy Birthday' (obviously prearranged), making an immediate celebration necessary where the boat was duly launched.

Our headquarters for the first and last parts of our tour was the historic Four Courts Hotel, which four centuries ago was known as the 'Angel Inn.' Dean Swift lived and wrote many of his poems in this establishment.

Our first peal attempt took place at Christ Church Cathedral, where we received a warm welcome from Billy Lynch and Fred Dukes. We had been led to believe that the bells at Christ Church were a real 'handful,' but despite the fact that eight of the band had travelled all night, a good peal of Cambridge Royal was brought round, the man from Coventry showing off his 14½ stone to advantage on the 39½ cwt. tenor. Those not ringing attended a meeting at St. John's, which had been specially arranged by Fred Dukes, and where we were all kindly entertained to tea by the Irish Association.

On Sunday morning the fine ring at St. Patrick's Cathedral placed at our disposal, and after a warm welcome from members of St. Patrick's Cathedral Society, we rang an excellent course of Cambridge Maximus, followed by two courses of Stedman Cinques. Mr. R. S. F. Murphy, P.C. (president of the Irish Association), who rang the tenor to the first peal on these bells, declaring that in all his 57 years' association with this tower he had never heard the bells rung better. Following this we were all elected honorary members of the St. Patrick's Cathedral Society, a gesture which we much appreciate.

We also rang again at St. John's, receiving a warm welcome from the local band. The ascent to the ringing chamber here is by means of an open spiral staircase of some 50 to 60 ft., and proved most unnerving to one member who is averse to high places. After lunch we wended our way to the Church of St. George, a fine Wren-like structure, where an excellent peal of London was rung: F. E. D. reaching the 300th milestone, and 'Mr. Chips' his 50th this year. After this peal we were most kindly entertained by Mr. R. S. F. Murphy.

While waiting for the church to be opened we were the object of much interest from the windows of an adjacent nurses' home, a number of the band offering to give up their places in the attempt. It was observed, however, that the windows were strangely empty after three hours' ringing. The evening was spent ringing handbells in a room specially set aside for us. Here we were joined by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Roberts, who were holidaying in Dublin.

Early Monday morning we left Dublin in three cars on our journey south, stopping at Christ Church, Bray, for our first attempt of the day. On this magnificent eight—surely one of the best in the four countries—a good peal of Bristol was rung, though not without incident as after 20 minutes the tucks suddenly flew out of the fourth rope, which left our senior bell-hanging friend ringing for two leads with his hands virtually tied together. We now understand that he is claiming to be the only ringer to perform the 'Leaf Test' during a peal. During the ringing the original 'Belfryman' holidaying nearby paid us a visit, and it was interesting to have his comments on some excellent ringing.

PEALS AT WASHBROOK'S TOWER

During the afternoon we enjoyed a journey through lovely scenery, passing on our right the Wicklow Mountains, and arriving shortly afterwards at Arklow, with its magnificent church on the hill overlooking the sea and dominating this beautiful scene. A grand ring of bells here, and the many peal boards in the ringing chamber testify to the prowess of the late J. W. Washbrook as a ringer of two bells. Here with Wilf II at the helm we rang one of the best peals of the week.

While this peal was in progress the 'Governor,' in company with our two bellhangers, drove to Wexford. The bells at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception—a very fine ring installed by Gillett and Johnston in 1931—are seldom rung, and though permission had been granted for a peal attempt we had also been informed that the third was unringable. It was therefore entirely due to the work put in during this visit that the peal attempt next day was made possible.

Monday night was spent at Redmonds Hotel, Gorey, a sleepy country town with no street lighting, and where the name of Redmond was unusually predominant. The events which followed dinner are probably best described in the following lines:—

'Any draught?' queried Jack, with tongue in throat,

But the answer from Madam gave little hope.
So down Gorey's street that dusky night,
Jack set out on mission bright.

Up the road and over the hill
Followed at length by Border and Bill.

Others, too, joined in the quest,
Echoing their cries with the utmost zest.

From shop to bar the searchers wound,
But the familiar Red Triangle just couldn't be found,

The calling of 'Time' caused Jack to give in.
He'd missed his paragon, found Phoenix the thing.

THE FIRST PEAL AT WEXFORD

Tuesday saw us on the road early, as with two peal attempts we should cover something like 150 miles before reaching Cork that night. Back again to Arklow, a prompt start was made for Bristol, a first-class peal resulting. The sound of the bells brought many visitors to the church all full of praise for the excellence of the ringing. There is no doubt that the two best peals of the week were rung at this tower, the striking in both being of a high standard. With sandwiches to eat in the cars, the journey to Wexford was covered in record time, and with the advance party already having the bells up, Cambridge Royal was soon rolling out from these fine bells, the first peal on them being duly rung. An excellent meal, then the

A VISIT TO ST. FIN BARRE'S CATHEDRAL, CORK

Despite the lateness of our arrival on the previous evening, everyone reported early on Wednesday morning, and after wishing the 'Governor' happy birthday, the 'top brass' set out for Bandon, where a peal in seven methods were rung on the noisy six. Those not ringing looked around Cork and paid a visit to the lovely Cathedral of St. Fin Barre. We had originally been granted permission to attempt a peal on the eight which hang in the north-west tower of this building, but the 'go' of the bells during the last six months had made it necessary to call in the services of Messrs. John Taylor and Co., and the bells are now awaiting shipment to the foundry. We were, however, able to see the bells and ring on the fine set of handbells in the ringing chamber. We were also shown around the Cathedral, which is built in French early pointed Gothic, and much admired the nave which is lined with red Cork marble, also the wonderful decoration of the floor, walls and ceiling of the chancel, which symbolises Paradise. Later that morning 'Mr. Chips' chimed Grandsire Triples on Shandon bells; but an attempt to see the heavy eight at St. Mary's R.C. Cathedral proved fruitless.

In the afternoon the 'rabbits' drove to Doneraile, where at St. Mary's we were welcomed by Billy Evans, who in his own words described himself: "Forty-five years an Irishman, but be-Jasus born within the sound of Bow Bells." After Canon Osborn had wished us luck, a start was made on the pleasant six for Cambridge Minor, but after three excellent 720's we experienced our first and only failure of the week. This was a great disappointment as it would have enabled Jack to complete the sequence from Minor to Maximus. Our disappointment was soon forgotten when Billy Evans introduced us to Tommy O'Donnell, the landlord of the local hostelry and a famous Irish footballer of 45 years ago. His bedtime stories were many and varied, and had we chosen could have remained there indefinitely, for we certainly saw no observation of licensing hours in those country places.

Back in Cork that evening the 'Governor's' birthday was well celebrated, the final act resembling a scene from Samson and Delilah, but with the aid of a well-known phrase our Samson preserved that shaggy mop, and Delilah departed much chastened.

A VISIT TO BLARNEY CASTLE

Early on Thursday morning we said goodbye to Ireland's most hospitable city and started our journey to Limerick, calling en route at Blarney for a visit to the castle and its famous stone; but none of the party could be persuaded to hang backwards over a 70ft. drop to kiss the stone—perhaps there were too many cameras in evidence.

FIRST PEAL OF PUDSEY ROYAL IN IRELAND

After an early lunch we assembled at the Monastery of Mount St. Alphonsus, where we were made welcome by The Brethren; also meeting us were Mr. David Benson (president of the Mount St. Alphonsus ringers) and George Bingham (hon. secretary, Southern District, I.A.C.R.). The preliminaries completed, this glorious Taylor ten were soon going to Pudsey Royal, a good peal, the first in Ireland, being rung. At the conclusion of the peal we were entertained to a most wonderful tea by the Limerick ringers, presided over by the Lord Bishop of Limerick (the Rt. Rev. E. C. Hodges) and Mrs. Hodges; also present were the Dean of Limerick (the Very Rev. M. J. Talbot) and Mrs. Talbot, Mr. J. A. Haydon (president of St. Mary's Cathedral Ringers), Mr. Cyril Galbraith (chairman, Southern District, I.A.), Mr. George Bingham, Mr. G. H. Ellis (Ringing Master, Southern District, I.A.) and Mr. David Benson (president of the Mount St. Alphonsus Ringers).

The Dean, in welcoming us to Limerick, said that he hoped we would enjoy the bells at St. Mary's Cathedral as much as we had enjoyed those at Mount St. Alphonsus. They were proud of their bells at St. Mary's, which were reputed to have been cast by the celebrated Perdue brothers.

In a very witty speech the Lord Bishop welcomed us to the loveliest part of the diocese. It was famous for many things, including a little fighting when necessary. [Much laughter.]

Mr. Cyril Galbraith welcomed us on behalf of the Southern District, I.A.C.R., and expressed the hope that some of us would return to Limerick when the Central Council meet in Dublin next year. On behalf of the tourists Wilfrid Moreton made a suitable reply, expressing our thanks for their wonderful hospitality.

After indulging in some handbell ringing, a move was made to Desmonds Hotel, where we enjoyed a social evening with the Limerick ringers, our senior bellhanging friend coming into his own for the first time on this tour.

Promptly at 8.45 a.m. on Friday we presented ourselves at the Cathedral, the Dean receiving us in the ringing chamber and remaining to see the start. These fine-toned bells, which run anti-clockwise, were soon going to London with almost faultless precision, an excellent peal being rung. After this we faced an 80-mile drive to Waterford, and we are very grateful to Cyril Galbraith for his fine gesture in providing us with the sandwiches which we found in the cars on descending from the tower.

A COLLEGE YOUTH PEAL

Waterford was reached in good time after a delightful run through glorious countryside, during which we passed through the town of Tipperary (singing at the top of our voices) and skirting the Galty Mountains via Cahir and Clonmel.

At the Cathedral of the Blessed Trinity we were met by the Rev. A. P. Stanley and Mr. E. Kelly, who extended a warm welcome. The tower of this Cathedral, built in the English classic style of the 18th century, houses a fine eight originally by Mears, and has past links with the Ancient Society of College Youths, for it was here 85 years ago that James Pettit called Holt's Original, which was the first peal in Ireland. We therefore decided to commemorate this anniversary by ringing a College Youth peal, which was duly brought round, though not without incident as we were unable to lock ourselves in due to work taking place inside the roof of the Cathedral, and had an audience on the gallery overlooking the ringing chamber almost throughout the peal, with its consequent effect on our concentration.

After the peal, Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin met us, and we much appreciated the handbooks which were presented to us by Mr. Harris. It was a tired but happy band which reached Dublin late that night after another 100-mile drive, during which we passed through Castlecomer, the site of Ireland's only coalmine.

THE FINAL DAY

Saturday brought us to our last day, and to the highlight of the tour—a peal attempt at St. Patrick's. The morning was spent in shopping and buying presents, some of which were undoubtedly peace-offerings. So 12.45 saw us wending our way to St. Patrick's, there being a short wait for some who had paid a visit to the Guinness Brewery. However, promptly at 1.15 the bells were away to the tune of Cambridge Maximus, and as others had done before, the composition was Lindoff's.

Perhaps it was due to the tension created by the knowledge that we wanted to score here more than anywhere, coupled with a week of late nights, that our ringing did not have the same edge as the excellent course rung on the previous Sunday; nevertheless, a good peal was rung, Arthur Reed earning all the medals for a near-faultless performance in his first 'touch' in the method. We were pleased to hear the comments of the listeners on descending the tower, and after posing for photographs spent a convivial hour with the locals in a 'local.'

The hour for our goodbyes came all too soon, though due to a gale those departing by boat had their departure delayed for more than an hour, while those flying to London arrived in record time ahead of a following wind. Your chronicler was not so lucky. His plane, rocked about by a 50 m.p.h. gale, was unable to land at Cardiff, but after what seemed an eternity managed to get down at Bristol with everyone on board much the worse for wear. So ended our most happy and successful tour to date, the memories of which will haunt us always.

THANKS AND IMPRESSIONS

This report cannot be completed without spotlighting some of the things which impressed us most.

First. Our sincere thanks to Messrs. Fred Dukes and George Bingham for the work they put in during the last 12 months, without which this tour would not have been possible.

Second. To the Limerick ringers for their hospitality, may I be forgiven for lifting the words of another writer. Ringers' hospitality is proverbial, but Irish ringers' hospitality is hospitality 'par excellence.'

Our thanks also to the Church Authorities for their ready permission to ring, and to all the other ringers who met us, always on time and with everything in readiness.

Three. The fine state of preservation of all the churches, and the wonderful stained glass in them, and last but by no means least, the quality of the bells.

Thank you, Ireland: we shall certainly hope to return one day. D. G. C.

BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Younger ringers had no difficulty in handling the light and easy-going bells of St. Patrick's Church, Patrington, when the Beverley and District Society held a meeting there on September 14th.

A short service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. F. B. Crook), who welcomed the Society. An excellent tea was served in the Hildyard Arms Hotel, followed by the business meeting, with the president (Mr. A. E. Sellers) in the chair. All present joined in giving the president their best wishes for his 80th birthday, which he was to celebrate the following Tuesday.

OBITUARYMR. G. DOWLING

With the deepest regret, the Beverley and District Ringing Society record the passing of Mr. George Dowling, of Beverley, one of its oldest and most respected members.

He learned to handle a bell at St. Augustine's Church, Hedon, at the age of 12, but afterwards moved to Hull and then Withernsea, joining the band of ringers at both places. Whilst ringing with the Hull Holy Trinity band he was a pupil of Mr. Charles Jackson.

Mr. Dowling joined the Yorkshire Association in 1908, and rang in 31 peals for the Association. It is believed he also rang several more outside the District, but of which there is no record. During the first world war he joined the Royal Artillery, and for a period was in the anti-aircraft branch defending London, where he made many friends among the city's ringers.

He moved to Beverley in 1939, and became a member of the Minster band, where he rang up to the time of his death. In later years he spent many of his evenings helping bands of learners in the District, and many a struggling youngster has been glad of his help and guidance, which was never sought in vain.

On the day of the funeral at Beverley a touch of Grandsire Caters was rung as a last token of respect, and at Bridlington Priory Church, where he did so much to teach the local band, a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung.

MR. G. A. STEELE

Mr. George Steele followed his father-in-law, Nicholas Stredwick, as verger and sexton of St. Leonard's, Aldrington, and served in this capacity for 42 years before retiring to Eythorne in 1954. These were the only two vergers since the restoration of the church in 1878.

He held the record for the longest service of any bellringer in Aldrington belfry, being 64 years, including many years as captain and also as secretary of the band. How many ringers he taught, no one knows; but there are many who owe to him their interest in this form of service to the Church. The standard of ringing in our own tower is the result of his efforts and enthusiasm. His personal interest in the progress of the young ringers, his youthful outlook and fine sense of humour moulded a band to be proud of.

Mr. Steele was a member of the Sussex County Association since 1895, and rang three peals, including the first by a local band, which was of Bob Minor, fully muffled in memory of Queen Victoria on February 2nd, 1901. George rang the third bell of our six when the Aldrington band rang the first peal of London Surprise Minor ever to be rung in Sussex.

The influence of George Steele had its impact on many of us. His example of churchmanship and sincerity, of loyal service and love of St. Leonard's was such that won the admiration of all who worked with him.

The bells were rung half-muffled at his funeral on September 6th by members of Aldrington, Ditchling and Brighton towers. A half-muffled quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles had been rung in grateful memory by the local band on the previous Tuesday. S. W. B.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD IN ESSEX

A Tour in the County's Winding Lanes

HARDLY more than 30 miles from London City is the village of Pleshey, not far from Chelmsford, once a place of note, when it was dominated by the Castle of the Bohuns—but 'Where is Bohun? Where is Mowbray? Where is Plantagenet? They are intombed in the urns and sepulchres of mortality.' As for the castle, apart from some earthworks, 'Perierunt etiam Ruinae!' Pleshey is now a peaceful village reached by a narrow winding lane that seems to lead nowhere.

Thoughts such as these, however, did not trouble members of the Cambridge University Guild when they came to Pleshey on Sunday, August 25th, for their 41st annual tour; and the peace of the village was shattered by the incongruous collection of vehicles that brought them there—ranging from the smooth Prefect to the 1933 London taxi that has featured in these pages before, known as 'Ichabod.' Our headquarters were at the Diocesan Retreat House, where we were extremely well looked after. A feature of the Retreat House is that every room has a name such as 'Charity,' 'Faith' or 'Light'—so that one member was 'Resting in Peace,' another was in 'Love' while a third had the name of his room changed by a practical joker to 'Total Abstinence,' so that he had difficulty in finding his room on the first night.

Some began the tour by ringing with the local band at Chelmsford for evening service, while others sampled the minor five at Pleshey. Later a small party set out to find a place with the unlikely name of Chignall Smealy, where there was reputed to be an inn called the Pig and Whistle. In this tour of discovery, however, they were unsuccessful, so returned to Pleshey, where the handbells were soon produced and a course of Stedman Cinques rung.

Monday's ringing started at Great Waltham, where a touch of Spliced Surprise nearly came round. By the time we reached Little Waltham 'Ichabod' had proved its sterling qualities by getting a puncture, as well as having to be watered every few miles. Its usefulness, however, became apparent on the way to Chelmsford for lunch, as the four passengers were able to ring handbells en route. The first peal of the tour was scored in the afternoon at Hatfield Broad Oak, where E. M. Atkins called Double Norwich. Meanwhile the rest of the party had fun finding Matching Church: one car ended up in a farmyard.

It was at this point that the admirably arranged programme was first side-tracked: as the week went on it was completely disregarded. Cambridge has a reputation for producing individualists, and when over 20 individualists all have different ideas about where to ring what, the wise organiser discreetly retires and lets them get on with it. This afternoon it was decided to include Harlow Common in the tour, and this was arranged with such speed that the party were just leaving Matching as Gilbert Thurlow arrived. After Harlow Common bells (and ice-cream) had been sampled, we rang on the heavy six at High Easter. As if this were not enough ringing for one day, the tower-snatchers had to invade the local practice at Braintree after supper, while four members attempted a handbell peal, which was soon lost, as some were ringing Plain Bob Major, while the more conservative were ringing Bob Major. It was during this evening that the mathematical element started wondering what the connection is between 6, 28, 496 and 8,128.

The writer's suggestion that the answer can be found in 'Wisden' was received with contumely, and we believe this vital question is still unresolved.

GILBERT PLAYS MARBLES

On Tuesday morning Frank Haynes called a peal of Cambridge Royal at Bishop's Stortford, while the non-pealers cursed the organiser for sending them to Manuden, where the five bells, cast by Miles Graye, are in a wildly original scale. However, the amateur bellhangers found work to do, and Gilbert Thurlow had a game of marbles with a young spectator. At the next tower, Farnham, everyone was baffled by the third, so we soon left in high dudgeon and lunched in Stortford. The tower-snatchers were then kept happy by a visit to the roughish five at Great Hallingbury, and the peal hand joined the rest at Sawbridgeworth, where, by way of a change, the bells were rough-going, and where we were mystified by the clock-hammer.

The last official tower of the day was Waltham Abbey, where a notice said that the Guild were going to ring 'twelve peals.' In spite of this, we scarcely did justice to the 12 bells. After so much rough stuff, and after a fresh contingent of tower-snatchers from London had rung at Pleshey, we had the annual meeting. (Cambridge University Guild, by the way, is one of the few organisations known to the writer which has two annual meetings.) At this meeting we had a report on the progress made in collecting money for the Great St. Andrew's, Cambridge, bell fund, concerning which we believe more is to be written shortly. We also heard the staggering news that after ten or more years' 'Great Argument About it and about,' the Guild History Supplement is actually being printed.

By Wednesday the peal-grabbers were also dissatisfied with the programme, and coerced the organiser into arranging an extra peal, with the result that a band went to Stansted Mountfichet in the morning, where E. M. Atkins called a peal of Little Bob. We hear that the conductor nearly stopped the peal halfway through when, looking round the ropes, he thought the coursing order was wrong—but remembered just in time that the bells are arranged anti-clockwise! Meanwhile the programme offered ringing at Boreham and Galleywood for the non-pealers; but some were dissatisfied with only two towers in one morning, and snatched Broomfield, where the six bells hang in a round tower, and Little Baddow. Such deviationism was, perhaps, only to be expected, when it is realised that some half-dozen of the more ardent 'Snatchers' had been thrown together (almost literally) in Brian Price's van, where they sat on a garden seat and three chairs borrowed from the Retreat House.

In the afternoon the programme was adhered to for a short while, when Widford and Writtle were visited. The eight bells at Writtle were especially admired. After this came the highlight of the tour, an attempt for a peal of Stedman Cinques at Chelmsford Cathedral: and it is sad to have to relate that after two and a half hours' quite good ringing the treble rope broke. Before this happened, Chris. Johnson, on the 10th, had done a strange thing: he caught the loop of his rope on the edge of the box, and somehow managed to tie a knot in it! After he had done this twice, and shortened his rope-end by nearly two feet, he showed characteristic resourcefulness in climbing on to a bench behind the box, where he was just able to reach the back-stroke by dint of ringing with one finger through the loop at the rope-end.

Altogether a most remarkable performance. While these antics were in progress, the fanatics added a triangular tower to their round tower (if you follow) by joining in the local practice at Maldon. When all had safely returned to Pleshey, some maniacs rang handbells, including what was probably the first course of Great Big Bob Minor.

MILK FOR THE 'CATS'

It is always asserted that the Cambridge Guild's tours are not peal-ringing tours; yet the sober fact remains that on Thursday, August 29th, no fewer than three peals were rung by the Guild. In the morning Chris. Woolley called four Spliced Surprise at Great Dunmow, while the 'profanum vulgus' rang at Felsted and Stebbing; for a wonder both these towers were on the programme, and there were no divergences. In the afternoon the majority visited the beautiful villages of Thaxted (where the bells match up to the rest of the village) and Finchingfield (where they don't). Meanwhile it had been found that there were six members of St. Catharine's College on the tour; so these six resolved to show the 'Selwynites' that Selwyn isn't the only college when it comes to ringing (a select few know that it isn't either of these that really counts, but Jesus College)—anyway a peal of Cambridge Minor was quickly arranged for the 'Cat's men' at Rayne, and E. M. Atkins was again the successful conductor. The six 'Cats' were suitably rewarded for their labours: on coming out of the tower they found six saucers of milk, appropriately inscribed by Brian Price, awaiting them. Tower-bell ringing for the day finished at Great Bardfield, but in the evening, while the saner members were being guided round the ruins of Pleshey Castle, four fools rang a handbell peal of Bob Major. To the conductor's chagrin, this came round exactly at closing time!

On Friday those travelling in Paul Williamson's car survived his 'Grand Prix' style of driving and all rang at Great Baddow, where Gilbert Thurlow was able to inspire confidence in the verger as to our bona-fides. A peal of Yorkshire was then called at Rayleigh by Henry Fielden, and those not in the peal amused themselves with the Guild's old friend 'Boatrace Delight' (Cambridge in front, Oxford behind) at South Benfleet. The tower-snatching element, game to the last, then persuaded the rest to visit Leigh-on-Sea. In the afternoon we joined saner holiday-makers and went to Southend: ringing took place at Prittlewell, where a course of Double Norwich Caters staggered round, and at Thorpe Bay.

It might be thought that, having reached the end of the official programme and worn themselves out in so doing, members would have gone quietly home. But no: rumour spoke of a practice that evening at Brentwood: and thither many members duly went—perhaps by this time they felt lost without a bell-rope to prop them up! After this not a few of the party were accommodated for the night by Hugh Neill, the organiser (to whom, in spite of what has been said above, we are all extremely grateful for making such excellent arrangements)—and the peace of Ilford was disturbed by the ringing of handbells to changes and tunes. Finally, on Saturday morning, a peal of Cambridge was scored at Loughton, called by Henry Fielden, and so ended a hectic but rather wonderful week.

CAMPANOLOGY AFLOAT

Tour of Norfolk Broads

The Norfolk Broads being a very popular holiday resort, it is not surprising that during August Bank Holiday week two five-berth cruisers should be manned by a party of bell-ringers.

Nine of the party from the villages of Yelvertoft and Lilbourne left Rugby station early on the Saturday morning and reached Oulton Broad in the early afternoon. Provisions, handbells and ale aboard, the party were under way by 4 o'clock and proceeded to Burgh Castle, where a 'Bellringer's Guide to the Inns of Britain' would have proved useful. The boats were moored here for the night, which proved a restless one for nearly all aboard.

Sunday morning found the boats heading for Great Yarmouth, where a further member was added to the party from Caston. There being no bells at present in Yarmouth, and little by way of amusement open on a Sunday morning, the party cast off earlier than scheduled, thus forfeiting ringing at Winterton for evensong. By tea time the low bridge at Potter Heigham was being navigated, and a suitable mooring was found on the other side for the night. Some members of the party preferred refreshment, whilst others walked to the parish church with its three bells, two of which are pre-Reformation.

Monday was spent on Horsey Mere and Hickling Broad, and it was not until Tuesday that Catfield, the first tower, was reached, where the crew were met by the Rev. E. Lillingston (president of the Norwich Association) and Mrs. Lillingston, and Ted and Ella Chapman, from Pakefield. The five bells were soon set ringing to methods varying from Plain Bob to Stedman Doubles. The next stop was Ludham, two hours distant, where the 22 cwt. tenor of the ring of five was raised at the fourth attempt, three ringers attaching themselves to the rope for the final effort, others having either fallen off the box or just given up in bewilderment. After ringing, the tower captain gave permission for the bells to be lowered in peal.

Coltishall, with its six bells, was reached that evening, ready for ringing there first thing next morning. Although they had received bellhangers' attention in 1951, the bells seemed a little out of tune. Within an hour of leaving Coltishall the party invaded Wroxham, where some local ringers and one from Watford awaited them. It was difficult to believe that the bells had not been touched by a bellhanger since last century.

SPOTLIGHTS ON MIDNIGHT RINGERS

Malthouse Broad proved the resting place for the cruisers that afternoon and evening, and was a place of much activity both silent and noisy. Silent in the way that four youths manœuvred a cruiser full of young ladies into the weeds at the water's edge at the dead of night: noisy because handbells were rung joyously for some reason on deck at midnight, resulting in an array of spotlights being directed on to the performing campanologists from neighbouring vessels.

Before ringing at Ranworth, a conducted tour of the wonderful church was given by the Vicar (Rev. Mr. Everard), who also exhibited the priceless Ranworth Antiphoner. The six bells were rehung by Alfred Bowell, of Ipswich, in the late 1930's, and a cracked pre-Reformation bell was recast at the time.

A quick trip to Barton Broad and back, and Acle was reached, where the ringers were met by Mr. Lidbetter (84 and still ringing). Since the round tower had not been thought strong enough to house the six bells, a new steel tower was constructed inside, independent of the walls, to form a seat for the bellframe. Here a touch of Cambridge Surprise came to an untimely end after two minutes' ringing and ten minutes' hopeless struggling. After the two-mile walk back to the boats, certain members of the party indulged in merriment, resulting in a loud and rather blurred solo rendering of 'Kiss me goodnight, sergeant-major,' sounding over the water in the early hours.

The cruisers passed through Yarmouth and across Breydon Water on Friday afternoon and moored at St. Olave's. After tea the party started the two-mile walk to Haddiscoe, where Mr. Bussey awaited them and assisted in ringing the light five.

One hour's run on Saturday morning and they were back on Oulton Broad, and the boats returned to base. Ted Chapman's car became a taxi, and before catching the 12.40 train to Rugby, the party enjoyed ringing on the beautiful eight at Pakefield. Here a 704 of Plain Bob Major was rung, to the satisfaction of at least one ringer, and a more satisfying or more inspiring church could not have been found with which to end the tour.

Thanks are due to those who helped make the holiday a success: Dawn Elson for hiring the cruisers and for organising the party generally; John Barnes for the ringing arrangements; Ted Chapman for unlimited use of his car, and Peter Westerman for spontaneous entertainment.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Devizes Branch

Guild members from many towers in the Salisbury Diocese, together with members from Chippenham, Horsham and Worthing, and 15 members of a party from Hatfield (Herts), who were spending a holiday touring Wiltshire, ringing peals at various towers, attended the Guild meeting at Bromham on September 5th. The Rector (the Rev. J. F. Collins) conducted the service in church, with Mr. A. T. Weeks (Branch chairman) reading the Lesson, and Miss H. M. Webb as organist. Tea followed at the Greyhound Inn, and the chairman welcomed all the visitors. Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector and organist and to Mr. G. Minty, captain of Bromham tower. Ringing continued till 8.30 p.m.

Record Length of Yorkshire

Last Saturday, at the Loughborough Bell Foundry, a peal of 14,560 Yorkshire Surprise Major was rung in 7 hours. This is the longest length yet rung in the method and was conducted by the composer, Stephen Ivin. The peal will be credited to the Bedfordshire Association. Congratulations to all concerned.

WEDDINGS

At Stonham Aspal, Suffolk

A well-known member of the Suffolk Guild, Miss Muriel Pipe, was married at the Church of SS. Mary and Lambert, Stonham Aspal, on August 31st, to Mr. Alan Page, of Pettaugh, who has been organist at Stonham Aspal for the past four years. The service was fully choral, and a former Vicar (the Rev. Mr. Greenway) officiated.

The bride, given away by her father, wore an ankle-length gown of white-figured lace over net. Miss Edna Clements and Miss Pamela Beal were bridesmaids, and Mr. K. Page, of Oxford, brother of the bridegroom, best man.

As the bride entered and left the church, Stonham Aspal bells were rung, but unfortunately a peal attempt for Yorkshire Surprise Major on the bells later in the day was unsuccessful. Wedding presents included an electric copper from the Helmingham ringers, and the bride's colleagues gave dessert spoons.

At Warmley, Glos

On September 14th the captain of the Warmley ringers, Mr. Paul Garnet King, was married to the tower secretary, Miss Barbara Jean Rogers, at the Church of St. Barnabas, Warmley.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a nylon lace dress with a full-length veil, and was attended by her sisters, Cynthia, Pauline and Diane, and the bridegroom's sister, Elyn.

Many ringing friends were present and the bells were rung before and after the service. Two peal attempts came to grief during the evening, a fact which many local ringers attribute to the excellence of the reception.

LATE NEWS

We regret to announce the passing of Mr. Percy Dyke, Ringing Master of the Reading Branch, while at work on September 4th. Quarter peals to his memory were rung at Shiplake and St. Mary's, Reading, on Sept. 8th.

Stoke St. Michael bells will not be available on Oct. 12th when the Coventry Diocesan Guild dinner is held.

BROMLEY COMMON, KENT.—At St. Luke's Church, on Sept. 8th, 1.264 Plain Bob Major: J. Lyddiard 1, G. Kite 2, C. W. Phillpot 3, Miss H. Thoday (first in method) 4, Miss H. Oakshott 5, P. Spice 6, D. Kirby 7, M. F. Oakshott (cond.) 8. For morning service.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION Northern District

London Surprise Minor was the first ringing at Barley, when the Northern District began a meeting there on September 7th. Leaving a band ringing Cambridge Surprise, three others went on to open Barkway's octave, where the meeting was to continue. Here the reverse applied; whole-pull Bob Minimus to start with until, one by one, more ringers came and the standard methods could be rung.

After an excellent 'ringers-size' tea at the Cross Keys, a short business meeting was held. St. Ippolyts was chosen for the next meeting on October 5th, with Trinity Sunday Treble Bob as the special method. J. S.

BEDFORDSHIRE YOUNG RINGERS

A party of young ringers from Kempston, Bedford, Woburn, Felmersham and Harrold spent an enjoyable day in North Bucks on August 31st.

Ringing took place at Great Horwood, Winslow, Beachampton, Stony Stratford, Leckhamstead, Buckingham and Maids Moreton.

Methods rung included London, Stedman, Kent, Grandsire, Little and Plain Bob and several Spliced Doubles methods.

At Buckingham the party was joined by one of our number engaged on National Service, as well as two local ringers. B. G.

ELTHAM, KENT.—On Sept. 6th, 1,316 Grandsire Triples (Holt's Original): R. Clarke 1, E. J. Coode 2, J. Sims 3, K. Small 4, Miss B. Slark 5, E. B. Crowder (cond.) 6, B. Aldridge 7, F. Mounce 8. Rung half-muffled in memoriam A.C.1 G. J. Hurrell, R.A.F., a member of the band, who passed away August 31st after a short illness.
