ST. MARY'S, STOKE D'ABERNON, RING

UNTIL a few months ago, this was probably one of the less popular rings of bells in the Diocese of Guildford. Its transformation into an effective and efficient light ring of six, which is the pride of the parish, is a lesson to incumbents and ringers to persevere in the face of difficulties. It is also a tribute to the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, who carried out the rehabilitation, including the casting of the new additional treble; with a tenor of just under 4 cwt., it was the lightest ring they could remember handling and so presented a challenge to them, which they gladly accepted.

The existing bells were an assorted lot. The treble and tenor (both memorial bells) were new, cast in 1955 by Gillett and Johnston. The third was a 19th century Warner bell. The fourth was cast about 1450 by the famous woman bellfounder of Croydon, Joanna Sturdy—and named Joanna after her. The second was cast by James Elldridge, of Chertsey, in 1687.

There was nothing wrong with the bells themselves; chimed or struck with a hammer, they responded freely and vibrated well. The second was the weakest of them and to this day is less audible than the others in the ringing chamber, though no weakness is discernible outside the tower. The ancient Joanna speaks after five centuries with a fine, clear voice in no way inferior to that of a modern bell. But, when rung, their effect was dismal in the extreme. The treble muffled herself and was inaudible both inside and outside the tower; two, three and four double-clappered continually—none rang on and there was no incentive to accurate striking, for however the bells were struck they sounded just the same.

There were some ancillary problems. The belfry is no more than twelve feet square and open to the weather: for the little shingled wooden spire above it is a false one and the bells are, in effect, hung above the leaded roof of the tower proper, sounding through a continuous opening at the base of the spire—yet the steel angle frame butted so closely against this structure that no maintenance of some parts of it was possible. A large clock below dictated the run of the ropes. Last, but not least, there was a very inexperienced band, the tower captain himself having only been ringing a couple of years.

The key to the whole situation lay in the fittings, for the original bellfounders had produced a completely misguided solution to the problem of how to make light bells handle well; they had equipped them with fittings suited to bells much heavier. The headstocks were not merely too heavy, but made the bells swing at the wrong radius. The wheels were not merely too large, but the spokes and rims were standard for bells three times the weight. The effect of all this was to slow down the speed of rotation indeed, but to slow it down in such a way as to upset the clappering completely; the clappers lay on the bells, and in addition the clapper balls were badly graded.

In an attempt to synchronise clapper action with bell movement, the clappers were counterbalanced; when this proved unsatisfactory, pieces were added to the flights—the treble, in particular, looked like an ironmonger's advertisement. There were even lead weights screwed to the wheels.

A donor had offered a new memorial bell. It could only be a new treble, and even that would be a tight squeeze in the tiny belfry. The casting of this was entrusted to the Whitechapel Foundry, and at the same time it was decided to have frame and bells out completely and deal with the lot. The frame was to be shot-blasted and specially treated, so that maintenance could be forgotten about for many years, and for good measure self-aligning ball bearings would be installed, together with new lightweight ropes. The old chicken wire in the belfry openings was ripped out in favour of a plated steel mesh of great hardness, guaranteed to last as long as the bell frame—there had been enough trouble with unwanted ironmongery and birds' nests were not wanted.

So much for incidentals. For the bells themselves, Whitechapel decided to make the new treble (barely 1 cwt.) the guinea pig. If this could be made to handle and clapper well, the rest would follow. They were left to get on with the job and the operation was a brilliant success.

A week before Christmas, in a dense fog, those ringers who could struggle to the tower assembled to try out the new ring. The first impression was one of extreme fright. The new ropes, not yet adjusted for length, felt like lengths of elastic and on the front three there seemed to be nothing on the end of them. The new treble's slider was sticking and set on a hair's breadth. Even the bellhanger (a redoubtable City church ringer) was in trouble with his bell. But undeniably each bell spoke out loudly and clearly, clappered correctly and rang on as she was intended to. The new treble produced a high-pitched, silvery note of great sweetness; the remainder had been re-tuned and sounded most harmonious. Within 24 hours the first stretch had already gone from the ropes, the steeplekeeper had taken them up and the teenage ringers were rapidly mastering the handling of them. A formidable band from the Guildford Guild arrived hotfoot to see what we had got and were loud in their praises; and at the same time we ourselves were able to listen to the bells from outside the tower.

The effect exceeded our wildest expectations. Over the churchyard, fields and villages in this ancient place, where people have worshipped for over a thousand years, the bells, led by the high, clear voice of the new treble, sang with great sweetness and complete harmony. Even their range was considerably increased. Many ringers will traditionally prefer heavy bells, but the music of this light ring is unique and, in some changes, produces a haunting effect that makes a tremendous impression. To produce this effect it is necessary to keep the rate of striking down and not let the bells run away with themselves; with control becoming hourly more certain, this was easily achieved and has already become habitual.

Before seven on Christmas morning the bells were ringing for service for the first time and the good people of the parish—as the experts had been—were delighted with them. The moral is that no bells are past getting into good order and even the smallest of towers can have a satisfying ring.

One final touch. Something could be made of the open-sided belfry, which would allow a view of the bells, if properly lit. So floodlights were installed in the hollow steeple; and now, on dark winter mornings and at winter Evensong, the congregation, on their way into church, can see bells and wheels revolving while the ringers ply their ropes. On New Year's Eve, when the church roof was snow-covered, the silhouettes of Joanna and her younger brethren were thrown upon it as on a screen, swinging from handstroke to backstroke, holding up, hurrying down to lead. In the cold, bright night people stopped to watch: there was no doubt that the parish had a ring of bells.

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD

Successful First Annual Dinner

RINGERS from Tenby, St. David's, Cardigan, and other parts of the diocese attended the first annual dinner of the St. David's Guild at the Cliff Hotel, Gwbert-on-Sea, Cardigan, on February 17th.

Cardigan bells were rung in the afternoon and the Mayor and Mayoress visited the tower and were welcomed by the Vicar of Cardigan and the captain of the tower (R. Pateman). They also joined the ringers for tea during a break in the ringing.

The guests at the dinner were the Lord Lieutenant of Cardiganshire (Capt. J. Hext Lewes), accompanied, in the unavoidable absence of Mrs. Hext Lewes, by Mrs. Ponsonby Lewes, and the Mayor of Cardigan (Councillor I. J. C. Radley) and Mrs. Radley. Over 50 guests sat down to the dinner and enjoyed dancing afterwards.

The Lord Lieutenant, in proposing the toast of 'The Guild,' admitted to being completely unable to talk about ringing, but, nevertheless, was delighted to attend such a gathering. He felt that the ringing of church bells was an important part of worship and wished the Guild every success in its efforts to increase the knowledge of the art. He was particularly pleased to record that Cardigan had its own bells in the Church of St. Mary, and this was due almost entirely to the untiring work of the Vicar (the Rev. J. E. Jones).

In responding the Master of the Guild (Mr. Gwyn Thomas) said that before 1946 the Guild did not exist and that occasion was the first time the members had been able to gather and drink the health of the Guild. Before 1946 there was no opportunity of attending Guild meetings except those of the Swansea and Brecon Guild and he was particularly pleased to welcome Arthur Hoare, secretary of that Guild, and the others who had journeyed from Swansea to the dinner. Another member he was delighted to see present was Harry Jenkins, captain of Tenby tower and one of the founder members of the Guild. He thanked the captain of Cardigan tower for first of all pushing the idea of the dinner and for organising the evening.

Proposing the toast of 'The Guests,' Mr. Richard Warburton (Ringing Master) said he hoped it was the first of many similar occasions. It was, he felt, an excellent idea to meet, with their honoured guests and friends, under such circumstances. Such support was very encouraging and would, he felt sure, help the St. David's Guild to grow.

Responding, the Mayor of Cardigan, in a witty speech, said as a churchman he had heard bells rung on many occasions and could tell if they were being rung correctly. Until that afternoon, however, he had never actually seen bells and had no idea what went on in the tower. He was pleased to remark that Cardigan bells, only a short while after the restoration of the ring, sounded well and obviously much effort was being put into the training of ringers in the locality.

Before dinner commenced a plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by Messrs. Hoare and Richards (Swansea and Brecon Guild) and Thomas and Warburton (St. David's Guild).

The Master of the Guild read a letter of apology for absence from the president of the Guild, the Bishop of St. David's (Dr. J. R. Richards). Grace was said by the Vicar of Cardigan and the loyal toast proposed by Mr. R. Pateman, who also performed the duties of toastmaster.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

A successful meeting of the Biggleswade District was held at Clifton on February 10th, when over 30 ringers were present, including several learners. Evensong was taken by Rev. E. Hall, and then tea followed in the Church Hall.

The Rector took the chair for a brief business meeting, which was followed by more ringing, with Mr. G. Mayes as Ringing Master.

Next meeting, Sandy, March 10th.

PERSONALITIES OF THE EXERCISE—54

MR. HAROLD S. PEACOCK,
Ely Diocesan Guild.

One of the most important members of any Association is the general secretary. The general welfare of the members is in his hands, and the amount of enthusiasm he displays is often reflected in other people. In this respect the Ely Diocesan Guild is very fortunate, because in Mr. Harold S. Peacock, of Huntingdon, who has been general secretary of the Guild since 1959, they have a really hard-working enthusiast. In addition to his secretarial duties, Harold makes a practice of visiting every District at their monthly meetings during the year, and for most weeks of the year he visits struggling bands, and endeavours to help and instruct. At the Easter Monday annual meeting, he arranges for a large number of towers to be open, and gladly welcomes visitors from a very wide area. He usually has a typewritten sheet of directions as to the best route to get to the various towers, which is much appreciated by all.

Harold Peacock was born on September 11th, 1919, in the same house in which he lives at present, with his mother, and was educated at the Huntingdon C. of E. School. Like many other ringers, he started his service to the Church by joining the choir of All Saints', Huntingdon, in 1927, and is still a keen member, as well as being a sidesman and a member of the Church Council for the last 16 years. He learnt to ring about 1930, but up to 1939 there was very little method ringing done in the tower, and change ringing was only practised in half-pulls from cards.

During the war, he saw service with the Royal Marines for six years, and was demobbed in 1945, with the rank of sergeant. Upon returning to civilian life, he decided not to follow his previous trade of gents' tailoring and outfitting salesman, owing to the coupon difficulties, so went omnibus driving. In 1946, Harold started to get All Saints' bells ringing again, helped by three others, who had done some method ringing. Soon word went round by 'jungle telegraph' to St. Ives, where lived that great 'spade-worker,' the late Frank Warrington. Very soon Frank was over to help, and bringing others, and it was not long before Bob Minor was under way. This great help and advice was always available until Frank Warrington's death in 1955.

Harold rang his first peal at All Saints' on November 5th, 1947, when he rang the treble to Bob Minor, conducted by Frank Warrington, with other 'first pealers,' and he scored his 'first as conductor' at Caxton, Cambs, on July 14th, 1954, in three methods. Up to date, his peal total is 188, of which he has conducted 16, in Minor and Doubles methods. Although he says he has no great performances to record, Harold has, nevertheless, rung a large number of Surprise Minor peals in up to 12 methods, and several peals of Cambridge Major. One item of interest was that, when Prince Charles was born, along with two other ringers, he scored a peal each night of the week, from Monday to Friday, and attended the District meeting on the Saturday! He has not been so active of late with peals, owing to his job as a Hunts County ambulance driver.

Before becoming general secretary and treasurer, Harold served the Ely Diocesan Guild as the Hunts District secretary from 1951-59, and during this time he saw the number of resident members in his District rise from the middle 60's to over 100, fully paid up. Another record he is proud of is that whilst he was the District secretary, and indeed to the present day, he has never missed a District meeting. Every year he arranges the annual tour of the Hunts District, and he has represented the Ely Diocesan Guild on the Central Council since 1954. He is very keen on ringing quarter peals for Sunday service, and keeps records of all, along with all 720's, and he is never happier than when arranging a first peal for his recruits, and ringing with them.

Other hobbies in which Harold has indulged include badminton, a game which he enjoyed with great gusto. He founded a club at All Saints' shortly after the war, but although the club is still going strong, he has retired gracefully for the present, if not for good. Gardening is also a great favourite, both vegetable and flower. In the summer time he can often be found about 6 a.m. on his allotment, which is two miles from his house, so that he can find time to visit a tower for practice in the evening.

Altogether Harold is a faithful servant of his Guild, who sets an excellent example to his members. By his regular attendance at all functions, and by his keenness for instruction, coupled with his methodical manner of conducting his secretarial duties, there is no doubt that he will ensure that the Ely Diocesan Guild will continue to flourish in a mainly rural area. APACE.

EASTBOURNE RINGERS' SOCIAL

On the occasion of the ringers' social on February 17th, the Church Room at St. Saviour's, Eastbourne, at one time resembled a farmyard. Any startled passer-by would have been later reassured, however, when the sounds of fun and games gave way to the more familiar one of Grandsire Triples 'in hand.'

The predominance of youth at the 35 strong gathering reflected the age of the up-and-coming band. But just a few over-30's were observed shuffling for a favourable position in the musical chairs or cheating outrageously at charades.

The new Vicar, Rev. Mr. Whiting, welcomed visitors and thanked the ringers for their service to the church. Tom Barlow, the excellent M.C., fully deserved the cheers he received at the end of an enjoyable evening. H. R.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

AUSTRALIA'S IMPORTANT YEAR

Dear Sir.—Here, 'down under,' we are, I hope, about to enter an important phase in our ringing history. This year should see the extension of the Australian Association from its inception point of New South Wales to include all Australian States and towers.

Also, the Cathedral here (St. Paul's, Melbourne) is about to open an appeal to improve the fabric, and a portion of this has been set aside for the rehanging of the bells.

Further, this year should see the resumption of regular ringing at the Anglican Cathedral at Perth, Western Australia. A team is being trained, members of which we occasionally see in Melbourne, and are able to help accordingly. They have got a new set of ropes and progress is apparently quite rapid.—Yours sincerely,

GRAEME W. HEYES.

Melbourne.

DIOCESAN BOUNDARIES

Dear Sir.—Mr. Corby tells us nothing we did not know about the anomalies of the Kent Association's 'territory.' That was not the main intention of my letter, neither was it signed 'Cotton' or 'Clare.' I have no intention of making take over bids.

I submit, nevertheless, that much good could be done in the way of long term policy if some arrangement could be made whereby a tower belonged to its own Diocesan Guild, if there was one, and if not there was everything in favour of decentralisation on that basis.

My suggestion of Central Council action was solely in the way of reconstruction. The Central Council is sometimes like the United Nations, 'authority with little or no power,' but its objects are most laudable.—Yours, etc.,

B. SHARP.

EVERCREECH BELLS

Dear Sir.—I am in complete agreement with Mr. W. A. Haythorne regarding the shortness of time allowed by the B.B.C. for the recordings of the beautiful bells of Evercreech on Sunday mornings.

How frustrating and infuriating it is to switch on the wireless at 8.50 a.m. to hear nothing but a buzz, then a prolonged silence and then, just when one is beginning to wonder if there is going to be any time left for them, the bells come on for the odd minute or two, only as Mr. Haythorne states, to be rejected quite often before they come into rounds.

Surely the B.B.C. wouldn't reject a Frank Sinatra record with five words still to go, so why, oh why, give these melodious bells this undeserved treatment?

How nice it would be to switch on at 8.45 a.m. and hear up to ten to fifteen minutes of the bells, as surely that was the idea when the recordings were made.

Wake up B.B.C., and let's have the job done properly, please!—Yours sincerely,

EDWIN P. KING.

Muston, near Filey, Yorks.

PLEASE NOTE, MR. DOVE!

Dear Sir.—I wonder if Mr. Dove would like to know of another four-bell tower. The ring in question is at Stockton-on-the-Forest, near York. The bells are rung from the ground floor, although when I visited the church about two weeks ago I discovered that the tying up knots were stiff and thus probably meaning that the bells weren't rung. It seems, from a photograph in the vestry, that the tower and spire are recent (within the last 30-40 years, I should say) additions. Originally, the church had a western bell-cote with two bells.—Yours sincerely,

MICHAEL KING.

York.

COMPLAINT OVER BELLS 572 YEARS AGO

It would seem that Daventry had a very keen team of ringers even as long ago as 1390, according to the following from 'The Daventry Express' of January 21st, 1893.

'In 1390-1 a controversy arose between the Prior and Convent, "parsons of the Parish Church set within the same Priory and the good folks of the same town, parishioners of the said Parish Church," the former alleging that the latter rang the Church bells so early before the hour of rising, so often, and in such manner, that they the said prior and convent, were disceised and disturbed of their rest, and the less disposed to do Divine Service the day following, considering they rose at midnight for Matins, and the latter complaining that the Prior and Convent made chase, and re-chase, with their carts and carriages through the Churchyard, claiming to have a way for their ease.

'This case was decided in the presence of the Right Mighty Prince John, Duke of Guyenne and Lancaster, at Kenilworth on the 18th of March in the fourteenth year of Richard II reign, that the said parishioners should ring in the morning "One Covenabull peele and ringing with one bell, at the leuacan of the sacrament of the same mass, three knellings only afore the rising of the said Prior and Convent aforesaid and that the Prior and Convent shall have a way as of ancient time through the Churchyard, as their business shall require without disturbing Divine Service and that the gate of the churchyard to be shut and with two locks and keys locked. One key to be in the keeping of the Prior of the Convent, the other in the care of the parishioners.'

One wonders what a 'Covenabull peele' was, and whether there is reference elsewhere to such a 'peele.' The possibility of its being a corruption of 'Conventual' seems to be discounted, as it was to take place 'afore the rising' of the Prior and Convent. P.C.

BRAMPTON TO HAVE SIX BELLS

The ring of bells at the Church of St. Mary Magdalene, Brampton, Huntingdon, will shortly be augmented to six by the addition of a treble, and a brighter note will sound from the tower upon which Samuel Pepys must have gazed many times.

On February 8th a party of ringers and other members of the church were present at the casting of this bell at the Whitechapel Foundry. The bell weighs approximately 5½ cwt. and will fit in with a tenor of 14 cwt., in the key of F natural. It was named the Magdalene bell by Miss E. Lenton, an esteemed member of a well known family in the parish, who expressed the hope that 'she may ring to the glory of God for many years.'

A special feature of the occasion was the presence of an I.T.V. camera. In the following evening's showing of Applia News a good view of the pouring of the metal was shown and the excitement of the occasion was apparent.

It was a most interesting ceremony and one which will remain for a long time in the memory of those who were privileged to witness it.

The date of the tenor is 1631 and is inscribed 'James Keene.' The treble is dated 1605, and it is thought that the third also dates from that year. The second was recast by Mears and Stainbank in 1934, and the fourth was cast in 1741.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

It was a pleasant change for members to visit their own county town for the winter meeting on January 27th, which turned out to be a beautiful day.

Having conducted the Society's form of Evensong in St. Mary's Church, the Rector joined the large gathering of ringers and friends who filled the nearby hall for tea.

After the meal members heard with regret that Mr. Derek Tranter had resigned the post of Society honorary secretary as a sudden promotion in his work necessitated his living in Leicester. He announced that Mr. Clive M. Smith, of Lichfield, had temporarily undertaken to fulfil this task until the annual meeting in June, and ringers are asked to communicate with him with regard to Society matters. Mr. Tranter was thanked by the members for all he had done for the Society during his term of office and all best wishes go to Derek, Monica and their family for the future. The Rector of Stafford, the organist and not least the local band's lady helpers were thanked for all they had done to make this meeting so enjoyable.

Ringling took place on the ring of ten bells housed in the octagonal tower of St. Mary's Church, under the watchful eye of the Ringing Master, Mr. James S. Eastwood. All tastes were 'catered' for, from rounds and Queens on ten to more advanced methods. The 'titt-bit' of the day was the half course of Yorkshire Royal rung during the evening.

BEVERLEY AND DISTRICT

A significant feature in the East Riding of Yorkshire during 1961 was the continued growing interest shown by the younger generation. At the annual meeting of the Beverley and District Society at Holy Trinity Church, Hull, on February 10th, it was reported that 34 new members had been elected, an early breaking of the record figure of 30 new members in 1960. These have been predominantly teenagers, and their enthusiasm is reflected in the increase to 41 in the average attendance at the monthly meetings. The Society's membership now stands at 149.

Sixty-four ringers attended the meeting, from 17 towers in Yorkshire and Lincolnshire. Visitors included Australian Brian Cox, who was paying a short visit to Beverley and the East Riding. The ringers were welcomed by the Vicar, Canon R. Iliff, during a short service which included an anthem sung by members of the choir and a plain course of Grandsire Triples on handbells.

At the business meeting the chair was taken by the vice-president, Mr. H. Parker (Bridlington), in the absence through indisposition of the president, Mr. A. E. Sellers (Beverley). The policy of holding meetings at rarely visited towers had been continued, with meetings at North Ferriby and Burstwick, after intervals of 12 and 9 years respectively. The new ring at Holme-on-Spalding-Moor had also been visited for the first time.

Mr. D. Johnson presented the Ringing Master's report, stating that 10 peals and 26 quarter peals had been rung for the Society. Five members had rung their first peal, and 12 first quarter peals had been rung. Outstanding amongst the Society's peals were Plain Bob Royal, 12 Minor methods and 16 Doubles methods. Mr. Johnson warned against a falling off in the standard of striking in the enthusiasm for ringing new methods, and stressed the necessity of good striking for Sunday service ringing.

The vote of thanks to the local clergy and company was proposed by the Society's chaplain, Rev. G. Slorer. The retiring officers and committee were re-elected, with Mr. J. Singleton (Hessle) being elected to a vacancy on the committee.

OBITUARY

MR. EDWARD G. L. COWARD

It was a great shock to his many ringing friends to hear of the passing of Mr. Edward G. L. Coward, captain of the St. Martin's, Dorking, ringers, suddenly on February 8th, at the early age of 53. He had seemed his usual cheerful self at the previous Monday practice, and his last touch in his own tower was a course of London Minor, with four of the local band. On the Tuesday he had stood in an attempt for a quarter peal of Stedman Caters at Reigate, and this was his last ring. On returning from work on the Thursday evening, he complained to his wife of having a pain in his chest. He went to bed, and within two hours he was dead. We in Dorking will miss him very much, both for his friendship and excellent leadership as captain since 1957, and also his conscientious loyalty to anything connected with the church, including the choir.

Ted Coward, as he was known to his Surrey friends, and 'Copper' to his West Country friends, was a true Wiltshireman, having been born in Mere on December 23rd, 1908, where he was taught to ring about 1921. His first peal was Grandsire Doubles at Zeals, on September 25th, 1926, conducted by his friend, Bill Shute, with whom he did a great amount of ringing. To make progress in that part of the country, one had to travel, and this Ted gladly did, usually by cycle and motor cycle, and his first 50 peals were rung in no fewer than 42 different towers in Somerset, Wilts and Dorset. In 1931 he became associated with the Somerset 'Wednesday' band, which met for peals and practice in different towers, and he was always very pleased when talking about two peal tours he had in Somerset in 1931 and 1932, when he rang several Surprise peals. Under the conductorship of such men as George Pye, George Williams, Bill Cave and Frank Perrens. On August 30th, 1931, he rang his first peal of London Major at Dibden, Hants, followed by another at St. Martin's, Salisbury, on November 21st, the same year, both conducted by George Williams. One peal of which he was justly proud was ringing the treble to the first peal of Major at Sherborne Abbey, on December 20th, 1930. In March, 1939, he conducted a peal of Doubles in four methods on handbells, in which Mrs. Coward rang 5-6.

Ted's trade was brushmaking, which he learnt at the Hill Brush Co., Mere, and where he was formerly a foreman. When war was declared, he was called up into the R.A.F., serving in the Military Police, in Austria, Italy and Sicily. While stationed in the London area in 1942, he rang two handbell peals of Grandsire Triples, and one of Bob Major, all conducted by Ernest C. S. Turner. In 1948 he moved to Leatherhead, Surrey, to become an instructor in brushmaking at the Royal School for the Blind. In this work Ted was eminently suitable. His patience and interest with his pupils were always appreciated. He joined the local band, and rang several peals in the neighbourhood, including Yorkshire Royal. In 1935 he moved to Dorking, and was elected captain in 1957. Ted was always keen on instructing others, and would do anything to help beginners. A fine handler of a bell himself, one of his favourite axioms, which helped to improve the ringing, was to place people on the bells most suited to them, rather than let them catch hold in a haphazard manner. He always believed in simple touches for Sunday service, so as to get better striking.

On April 14th, 1956, Ted took part in the first and only peal of Cobham Surprise

Royal, rung at Leatherhead, and conducted by Albert Harman. This is not a Cambridge or Yorkshire variation, and the blue line is distinctly tricky. His last peal was one he conducted at Nutfield, in two methods of Doubles on April 19th, 1961, and this brought his total of peals to 181, including five on handbells. He had conducted 13. His peals was rung in 111 different towers. He was proud of being a member of the College Youths, for whom he rang six peals, including Stedman Cinques at Southwark Cathedral on April 15th, 1932. On a few occasions, he had been privileged to deputise at St. Paul's Cathedral for Sunday service. Ted was always of a modest disposition, shunning the limelight, and his work was always done as a service for others.

The funeral, which was fully choral, took place at St. Martin's, Dorking, on February 13th, and was attended by a large gathering of friends and relatives, including some 30 Surrey ringers, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Targett, of Chilcompton, Somerset. About 50 of his pupils from the Blind School were present, and also five of his former works colleagues from the Hill Brush Co. at Mere, with Mr. Jack Paul, who also represented Mere ringers, and the Salisbury Diocesan Guild. In his address, the Vicar, Canon K. D. Evans, spoke of the thought that Ted always had for others. At the committal service in the Dorking Cemetery four of his friends rang a course of Grandsire Triples over the grave—F. Oakshott 1-2, F. E. Roberts 3-4, Rev. E. B. Wood 5-6 and A. P. Cannon 7-8, and in the evening a well-struck half-muffled quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at the Parish Church, in the slow time of 55 minutes, by the local band, assisted by Frank Oakshott. Muffled touches were also rung at Mere the same evening. There were many floral tributes.

The deepest sympathy is extended to his widow and three children, Brian (a ringer), Lloyd and Heather. We have lost a good friend and a fine ringer, but he has left behind him a practical example of Christianity. May he rest in peace. A. P. C.

APPRECIATIONS

FROM SURREY

'An excellent captain and a good friend,' said 'The Ringing World.' How true.

It was a great shock to learn of the death of Ted at such a young age, after ringing with him at his District's annual meeting only the previous week. He was a friend of all, especially young ringers, always keen to help them in their ringing and a great believer in promoting the enthusiasm of young people by voting them into tower and Guild offices. Ted gave a real welcome to visitors to Dorking, and was always willing to help struggling bands in their practices and quarter peals. He was a keen churchman, which influenced his life to the extent that no one was ever heard saying anything but good of him, and he was dedicated to his work.

One of his remaining ambitions in peal ringing was to ring 42 Doubles methods. Loyalty to his office of captain of Dorking was shown on one occasion by his refusing to attempt a Sunday afternoon peal in 21 methods, the first stepping stone, unless it could be guaranteed that he would be back in time for evening ringing. The order of importance he attached to the various aspects of ringing is an example to us all. A tragic loss to the Guildford Guild—we will remember him. D. A. R. M.

FROM SOMERSET

The news of the sudden passing of Mr. Edward 'Copper' Coward brings back a flood of memories of ringing days prior to the war, when he lived in his native Mere.

Under the wing of that great enthusiast, Bill Shute, and later under the guidance of J. T. Dyke, 'Copper' became a first class ringer and conductor. Our first peal together was of Grandsire Triples at Evercreech in 1927, and later in 1931 at Bradpole. He conducted his first of Major by calling a peal of Plain Bob, it being his first touch as conductor in the method. From 1929 to 1939 he took part in Bill Shute's Bank Holiday tours.

When the 'Wednesday' band was formed in 1931, in mid-Somerset, he was a founder members. During these years we rang quite a number of peals together to say nothing of the vast number that fell by the wayside. In the early 1930's he was invited to join in one of the late Canon Coleridge's Somerset peal tours, and rang his first peals of Surprise Major in exemplary fashion. As he matured he settled down to become an excellent tutor and did yeoman service in the North Dorset Branch as a Ringing Master and in training local bands.

'Copper' was truly a man of many parts. Besides his ringing interest he was a keen chorister and an excellent musician, being a very keen bandsman, and above all he was a splendid and sincere churchman in every sense. In all things he undertook his aim was always perfection. He had no use for the slipshod and careless type, nor was he backward in making this known to the culprit, without fear or favour, in that delightful Wiltshire accent we knew so well. Although he had lived in Surrey for some years his visits to friends in the West were real occasions, and he never tired of talking of our days together. It was fitting that the funeral service was attended by another close friend and member of the 'Wednesday' band, Fred Targett, of Midsomer Norton.

The passing of 'Copper' Coward leaves us the poorer in the loss of his person, but the example of his enthusiasm, earnestness and forthright character will ever remain with us. Evercreech. H. J. S.

Mr. Herbert Worsfold

The death occurred suddenly on February 11th of Mr. Herbert Worsfold, of Slough, Bucks, aged 72 years. Originally a member of the band at Egham, Surrey, he did his early ringing in that area, and rang a few peals of Grandsire Triples in the 1920's. His chief 'guide' was William Welling (who also died this year), and Mr. Welling conducted his first peal at Wraysbury, Bucks, in July, 1925.

In 1928, Mr. Worsfold moved to Slough, where he was buyer for a large drapery store, which firm he served for 33 years and, although officially retired, he still went to help during the busy part of the week.

'Bert' Worsfold was not a great ringer; as his work precluded his attendances at meetings and peal attempts, but prior to World War II he was a most regular Sunday ringer at Slough Parish Church. Since the war one saw little of him in the belfry, partly because of his wife's long illness. Only a fortnight before his death he spoke of his loneliness since his wife's decease, a year or so ago, and said he was thinking of taking up ringing again, but it was not to be! He always maintained his interest in ringing, and one never met him without his opening up that subject. Domiciled between Slough and Burnham, he was a regular worshipper at Burnham church.

Mr. William Henley and Mr. W. Birmingham represented the Slough bellringers at his funeral. Memorial quarter peals were rung at Windsor and Slough.

LESS THAN TWO MONTHS TO EASTER.

THE THEORY OF CHANGE RINGING

Some Elementary Points

By A. W. T. CLEAVER

The principles upon which the production of changes is based are very simple, much simpler than many ringers realise. Some knowledge of these matters is not only of great interest for its own sake, but can be of considerable practical help. Unfortunately the subject is confused by the various meanings given to some of the technical terms. In these notes only old established terms are used, but an attempt is made to clarify their meanings.

THE PRODUCTION OF CHANGES

The term 'change' is apt to be used ambiguously. It should properly refer to the difference between any one combination and its predecessor or successor: the combination itself is better referred to as a 'row,' at least for theoretical purposes.

Successive rows are produced by reversing the positions of adjacent pairs of bells. Adjacent pairs only are reversed because of the practical difficulties of moving a bell by more than one place at a time. As an example consider the production of changes on four bells.

1 2 3 4
X  X
2 1 4 3
X X X
2 4 1 3

4 2 3 1

4 3 2 1
X  X
3 4 1 2
X
3 1 4 2
X  X
1 3 2 4
X
1 2 3 4
(I)

Starting with rounds we first reverse the positions of the first two and the last two bells, 1 and 2 and 3 and 4. A repetition of this process would bring us back to rounds so for the next change the first bell in the row is left undisturbed and the next pair is reversed. This obliges us to leave the last bell in the row where it was as well. The operation for the next change is the same as that for the first, for the fourth change the same as that for the second and so on until we finally return to rounds, the row from which we started. In (I) the pairs of bells which are reversed are shown by crosses. The procedure is universal in change ringing; the various methods, as will be shown later, are all produced in this way, the difference between them being in the selection of the bells reversed or left undisturbed.

On odd numbers of bells the procedure is the same except that one bell must always be left alone.

2 1 4 3 5
X  X
2 4 1 5 3
X  X
4 2 5 1 3
X  X
4 5 2 3 1
etc.
(II)

For the first change the first and second pairs of bells were reversed, leaving the last one alone. Repeating this would return us to rounds so for the next change the first bell is left and the remaining two pairs reversed, and so on. On larger numbers of bells the procedure is the same except that there are a greater number of pairs to reverse. On any even number two bells must be left alone for each alternate change; on any odd number one bell must be so treated in each change.

METHODS

The maximum number of possible combinations on four bells (the extent) is the number known to mathematicians as Factorial 4 (4!) which is equal to $4 \times 3 \times 2 \times 1 = 24$. In the diagram of changes on four bells (I) rounds reappeared after only eight changes; eight different rows were produced. How are the other 16 obtained? Suppose the procedure of diagram (I) is repeated with on alteration,

1 2 3 4      1 3 4 2      1 4 2 3
2 1 4 3      3 1 2 4      4 1 3 2
2 4 1 3      3 2 1 4      4 3 1 2
4 2 3 1      2 3 4 1      3 4 2 1
3 4 1 2      4 2 1 3      2 3 1 4
3 1 4 2      4 1 2 3      2 1 3 4
1 3 2 4      1 4 3 2      1 2 4 3
1 3 4 2      1 4 2 3      1 2 3 4
(III)

For the final change of the eight the first and second bells have been left alone instead of the first and last as in (I). In diagram (III) this process has been repeated twice giving the whole 24 rows before rounds reappeared.

This making of second's place has caused the other two bells to execute a dodge. The method is, of course, Bob Minimus. The treble bell is not affected by this variation in the means by which the changes are produced, in each of the three leads shown above it follows the same plain hunting path among the other (working) bells.

There are other ways of achieving the same result, e.g.,

1 2 3 4      1 3 4 2      1 4 2 3
2 1 4 3      3 1 2 4      4 1 3 2
2 4 1 3      3 2 1 4      4 3 1 2
4 2 3 1      2 3 4 1      3 4 2 1
4 2 1 3      2 3 1 4      3 4 1 2
4 1 2 3      2 1 3 4      3 1 4 2
1 4 3 2      1 2 4 3      1 3 2 4
1 3 4 2      1 4 2 3      1 2 3 4
(IV)

Rounds has again reappeared after 24 changes but the fourth change in (I) has been altered instead by leaving the third and fourth bells undisturbed rather than the first and fourth, causing the bells in 1-2 to dodge. The treble still pursues its plain hunting path and the method will be recognised as Reverse Bob Minimus. Both alterations can be incorporated; the resulting method is Double Bob Minimus.

If the procedure shown in (I) is applied to six bells rounds reappear after 12 changes.

1 2 3 4 5 6
2 1 4 3 5 6
2 4 1 5 3 6
4 2 5 1 3 6
6 4 5 2 3 1
6 5 4 3 2 1
5 6 3 4 1 2
5 3 6 1 4 2
3 5 1 6 2 4
3 1 5 2 6 4
1 3 2 5 4 6
1 2 3 4 5 6
(V)

On six bells the extent is factorial 6, $6 \times 5 \times 4 \times 3 \times 2 \times 1 = 720$. How far towards this do we get if we apply the same variation to (V) as we did to (I) to produce the plain course of Bob Minimus (III)?

(VI)

This is the plain course of Bob Minor, five leads each containing 12 rows making 60 in all. Once again the making of second's place has caused the other working bells to dodge whilst the treble continues to plain hunt. For the present we will leave the question of obtaining the whole extent and look a little more deeply into the construction of methods on six bells.

In Minimus (four bell changes) there are only two changes where it is possible to introduce alterations in the bells we choose to leave undisturbed (the place making bells) without either affecting the plain hunting treble or causing any bell to stay in one place for more than two rows in succession. In Minor the choice is far less restricted. We might, for instance, decide to alter (V) by making first's and fourth's place at the second change giving

1 2 3 4 5 6
2 1 4 3 5 6
2 4 1 3 5 6
4 2 3 1 5 6
4 3 2 1 5 6
3 4 6 2 5 1
(VII)

SYMMETRY

Before going any further there is another factor to be kept in mind: methods should be symmetrical. In the example above (VII) first's and fourth's place were made at the second change. To make the lead symmetrical the same places must be made at the second change from the end.

1 2 3 4 5 6      Lead head
2 1 4 3 6 5
2 4 1 3 5 6
4 2 3 1 6 5
4 3 2 6 1 5
3 4 6 2 5 1      Halflead end
3 6 4 5 2 1      Halflead head
6 3 5 4 1 2
6 5 3 1 4 2
5 6 1 3 2 4
5 1 6 3 4 2
1 5 3 6 2 4      Lead end
(VIII)

This is the complete lead. Note that the beginning and end are also determined by the principle of symmetry. In a treble dominated method the lead contains two rows with the treble in each position and each halflead one such row. The halfleads are arranged like the object and image in a mirror placed on the line between them. Hence the places in the second half occur in the reverse order to that in which they occur in the first.

LATE NEWS

MR. WILLIAM G. GIGG

While preparing to ring for morning service at St. James's Church, Taunton, on February 18th, Mr. William G. Gigg, Ringing Master of the Taunton Branch of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association for 15 years, collapsed and died.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION

St. Albans District

The annual District meeting was held at St. Albans on January 20th. At St. Peter's during the afternoon 46 people, including members from about half the District's towers, had the pleasure of ringing Cambridge Royal, standard methods and rounds. The service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Ferguson.

After an excellent tea, served by local ringers and their wives, the president, Mr. G. W. Seaman, acted as chairman at the business meeting. The company stood in silence remembering members who had passed away during 1961. They were Messrs. J. T. Kentish, F. W. Brinklow, W. Hill, B. A. Cornell and a friend at Tewin, Mr. C. Jeeves. A suggestion for the next meeting to be held at Hatfield was accepted. Many new members were elected.

In her report, the secretary (Mrs. Coburn) said that there had been a good attendance at meetings during 1961 and an addition of 25 new members. Attendance for Sunday service ringing had been good, but members should remember the reason behind their ringing activities. She concluded by thanking members for their support and hoped that the improvement in District affairs would continue during 1962. A statement of accounts was read.

A proposal by Mr. G. W. Debenham that officers should be re-elected 'en bloc' was accepted. The officers are: Honorary secretary and treasurer, Mrs. M. A. Coburn; Ringing Master, Mr. G. Penney; District Committee, Messrs. G. Penney, G. Dodds, F. Jacklin, J. Cull, S. Huckle, Mrs. M. A. Coburn and Miss C. Rimmer; General Committee, Messrs. G. Dodds and F. Jacklin; 'R.W.' representative, Miss C. Rimmer. Mr. H. V. Frost (St. Albans) was nominated as president of the Association.

Much discussion was caused by a committee recommendation to alter the name of the Association slightly and one of the rules concerning the object of the Exercise. The committee propositions, that a list of special methods, coupled with a list of towers to suit all stages of advancement, be used in 1962, and that the March meeting should be replaced by a visit to Carter's Ringing Machine, were adopted. Mr. G. Penney thanked the District for its support at meetings, and Mr. S. Huckle proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and the ladies for an excellent tea.

CIRENCESTER GOLDEN WEDDING

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Lewis, of 31, Chester Street, Cirencester, Glos, who celebrated their golden wedding on February 15th.

Owing to a slight attack of thrombosis about 18 months ago, Mr. Lewis cannot climb the 92 steps at Cirencester Parish Church, where he has given many years of faithful service. He does, however, ring at Watermoor for services and practices.

On February 17th Mr. Lewis collected a band from some of his oldest ringing friends and at Holy Trinity, Watermoor, they rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples. The band consisted of W. H. Hayward 1, W. A. Godwin 2, H. L. Cooke 3, E. H. Jefferies 4, F. J. Lewis jun. (cond.) 5, P. Morgans 6, P. J. Lewis (grandson) 7, W. Wrigley 8. The quarter was followed by a touch of Stedman Triples, conducted by Mr. F. J. Lewis sen.

Later the ringers were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis at their home when handbells were brought into use.

EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD

The 9th annual dinner of the East Grinstead and District Guild was held at 'The Culverden Arms,' Tunbridge Wells, on February 10th. After last year's poor support, the organisers had some doubts, but with plenty of push and propaganda 50 tickets (the limit of seating) were sold and the 'best ever' resulted.

An excellent meal put everyone in the right mood for the speeches and entertainment.

When the loyal toast had been drunk, Mr. B. V. Collison gave a welcome to the president, thanking him for his interest and support. The Rev. J. R. Missen, in reply, was in his most jovial mood, amusing the company with jokes and anecdotes, but he was very sincere when he thanked the ringers for their service to the church, stressing the fact that the clergy were very conscious of the effort and loyalty of their local bands.

The Guild chairman, Mr. B. E. Jeffrey, welcomed members who lived out of the Guild area. He proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. E. J. Ladd and Margaret, for the hard work that they had put in, in arranging the dinner, and to Mr. R. Large for arranging the entertainment.

While the tables were being cleared the handbells were put to good use by Mrs. F. I. Hairs, Miss H. Oakshett, Miss M. Ladd and Messrs. F. I. Hairs, E. J. Ladd and G. Fry.

For the entertainment, Mr. R. Large, with friends from Tonbridge, sang songs, duets and a quartet, with dancing by another young lady, all accompanied by Mrs. E. J. Ladd at the piano. George Fry entertained with his monologues, and later Godfrey Fitzhugh took over at the piano for musical chairs, etc.

The president won first prize in the raffle (a bottle of whisky), he also held the second and third winning tickets, but refused prizes. Ten-thirty came all too soon, and the party broke up after the singing of 'Auld Lang Syne.'

Reference to the first wireless in 'The Ringing World' (page 107) prompts a reader who still has a cat's whisker set to ask: Is it by now 'vintage' or 'veteran'? What is vintage or veteran anyway? As an example—a motor-bike to be veteran has to be one made before December 31st, 1914. To be vintage it must be manufactured before December 31st, 1930. After that it is of no historic value as a show-piece, say the rules of the Vintage Club. And for bells?—'veteran' up to 1600, and 'vintage' up to 1750, contends the writer. Anyone disagree?

Mr. John S. Walton has now rung Stedman from Doubles to Cinques.

The peal rung at Adlington, Lancs, on January 27th (see page 113) was Grandsire and not Stedman Triples.

The Leatherhead District have submitted two nominations for the post of Guildford Guild Master, which Mr. C. W. Denyer is vacating. They are Messrs. Harold N. Pitstow and Douglas May.

There were several sightseers during a peal at Wolvercote, Oxon, on February 17th. One became so engrossed that he watched for about 20 minutes and before leaving wrote out a cheque for two guineas for the ringers. This has been paid into one of the Wolvercote Bell Funds.

There was another husbands and wives get-together at Heptonstall, Yorks, on Sunday, February 18th, when four married couples rang a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major.

Mr. Derek Tranter, secretary of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, has resigned his appointment on being promoted to a post at Leicester. Mr. Clive M. Smith, of Lichfield, is acting as secretary temporarily until the Society's annual meeting in June.

Thanking the Editor for giving so much space to news from Australia, New Zealand, Canada and South Africa, Mr. William Smith, of Turramurra, Sydney, writes. 'We all share your excellent journal which, like the string of a necklace, links us all in one big fellowship.'

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. Tom Briggs, of Somerby, Leics, has rung his first quarter at the age of 84.

Starting at Oakham, Rutland, before the turn of the century, Mr. Briggs travelled widely, including South Africa, where he learnt to drive a motor-car in 1903. He returned to live at Somerby and became the conductor of the local band, who rang only Grandsire Doubles. He is now keen to ring a quarter of Grandsire Triples at his native Oakham and, writes our correspondent, 'I think there will be no peace until he has done just that.'

We are sorry to learn that Mr. John Worth has been confined to his room for nearly a month. His many friends hope that before long he will be back in the belfry.

Essex ringers, conducted by Mr. Howard J. Egglestone, have now reached 60 methods of Spliced Minor to a peal. This was rung at Stisted on February 16th and constitutes most methods yet rung to a peal. Congratulations!

Messrs. P. J. Staniforth and Alfred Ballard have rung Yorkshire Surprise from Major to Maximus on both hand- and tower bells. This was achieved by their participating in the first peal of Yorkshire Maximus ever rung 'in hand' at Leicester on February 13th.

Mr. Harold Gorton, of Bolton, who has been ringing for 58 years, is anxious to find out who put in the old frame at Deane Church, Bolton. He has a cutting, dated August 2nd, 1873, from 'The Bolton Chronicle' recording that when the bells were hung by Messrs. J. Taylor, the frame, dated 1688, was taken out.

St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham has been dogged with misfortune in their peal attempts to honour the installation of the new Provost (Bishop G. Sinker) on February 17th. On the day of his installation a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus was rung. One of the ringers, Mr. Rodney Pipe, had spotted that the composition was false, and a check with the conductor revealed that it would have been true to Yorkshire, but not to Cambridge. A second attempt, the following Thursday, was 'sunk' after three hours' ringing.

SURREY-GUILDFORD MERGER IS OFF

The proposed merger is off. At the end of the special general meeting of the Surrey Association at St. John's, Croydon, on February 24th, the votes of both Societies were counted and the result was:

	For	Against	Totals
Guildford Diocesan Guild	19	125	144
Surrey Association	38	39	77

This meeting was the climax of two years' work. Following moves in the Leatherhead District, the Guildford Guild had passed a resolution at their March, 1960, A.G.M., which initiated proceedings. Two committees had been set up, and by February 1961, had agreed on a common basis for the new Society. The proposals were publicised, and special general meetings of both Societies were arranged, to decide in principle by secret ballot whether a merger should take place. Identical resolutions were to be put, and the votes of both Societies counted at the same time at the second of the two meetings. Seventy-five per cent of members present and voting in favour in each Society were required for a change.

The Guildford Guild had held their meeting at Guildford on January 13th (reported on page 51 of 'The Ringing World'), and now the outcome was awaited with excitement.

It is not often that issues of this kind have to be decided in the Exercise, and everyone at Saturday's meeting was conscious of a sense of history. The mood was set by the Vicar at service, taking as his theme the Apostles' choice of Matthias to replace Judas, from Acts i. 15. It was heightened at the meeting, when Mr. Collins and Mr. Denyer paid tributes to the late Ted Coward, whose tragic death is a loss indeed to the Guild and the Association. The merger was very much to his heart, and had he been present members would have been surely influenced by him.

The Master, Mr. F. E. Darby, offered time for discussion, but, sensing the atmosphere, warned members that he would allow only two minutes per speaker. If anything, this only served to increase tension. But, remarkably, no one had anything to say, and laughter and good humour returned as Messrs. Collins and Parrott proposed that 'we get on with it.' So, in a few more minutes, the white ballot papers had been issued, and the votes cast and counted.

The ballot of each Society was announced by its own Master: Mr. Denyer first, Mr. Darby second. Now we knew what most had guessed.

Both emphasised, as a postscript, the good relations between the two Societies, and knew they would continue. It was right to press an issue such as this to its conclusion, so as to clear the air of argument and to help members realise more the value of their own Society. The Guild at least had achieved a record membership in 1961!

The deed done, members returned either homewards through the icy east wind, or to resume ringing on St. John's twelve bells in the usual congenial ringers' company—as if nothing extraordinary had happened.

LATE NEWS

Mr. Reginald John Whitford, of 96, Ash Road, Aldershot, died peacefully in his sleep on February 23rd, aged 57. He was a member of the Aldershot tower and married Miss Nancie Denyer, daughter of the late Mr. William Denyer.

Lancashire ringing has had a big loss by the death of Mr. Percy H. Derbyshire, who, for over 60 years, rang at St. Mark's, Worsley. He was vice-president of the Lancashire Association in 1958, and a life member.

'DISTINGUISHED VISITORS'

'Twas Sunday morn on a dull winter's day
As to the church I made my way.
Prospects for ringing were poor. I knew,
For our captain was off on a Firemen's do.
I arrived at the tower a little bit late,
Bad habit of mine, I'm sad to relate.
I really must try to mend my ways
As they'd already started bells to raise.

As I slipped into belfry, I had quite a start
For several strangers were taking part.
They appeared quite at home at handling ropes
'Perhaps they ring changes,' were our hopes.
'Doubles,' says leader, '4, 6, 8 behind.'
Their limitations attempting to find.
They join in gladly: Grandsire Triples, too,
And very soon Stedman, they are pulling us through.

'Twas obvious now, these chaps from the blue
Were no ordinary ringers like me and you;
Our man-in-charge then a wise step took.
'Will you put your names in Visitors' Book?'
As they started to write all necks were craned
And sure enough they were all ringers famed.
Pat Cannon, Wilf Williams and Edwards, R. G.
Illustrious names, to mention just three.

It certainly was a thrill to ring
Alongside the famous Tenor King—
From conducting peals of Maximus,
I wonder what Wilfred thought of us?
Our skipper, of course, felt he could scream
At having missed this ringing cream.
'Really,' he said, 'it's hardly fair
When my absence is so very rare.'

There's a moral in this little tale:
When you're tired and feeling stale,
The weather's bad, you've a cold in the head
And are tempted to sit by the fire instead.
Just brace yourself! to your duty repair
There may be a treat awaiting you there.
'The famous' may next be to your tower led
As they dropped from heaven on Portishead!
