"We are very short of ringers—not enough to keep the bells going."

"You can't get people interested and even if somebody does start they soon give it up."

HOW often have we heard those sentences quoted in towers all over the country. Yet nearby, there are towers bursting with members. It is suggested that towers with too few members, or those which are unable to keep new recruits, have only themselves to blame. Moreover, in most cases it is laziness or selfishness, or both, on the part of the resident members.

Most ringers will agree that:—

- (a) In an undermanned tower, the constant calls for regular service ringing, weddings, and other functions and practice nights are a severe tie, often clash with personal affairs and usually result in only a few bells being used or, worse still, no ringing at all.
- (b) Ringing, and all that happens in a belfry, is a closed book and a mystery to the general public.
- (c) Learning to handle a rope and ring—more or less—in rounds is relatively easy, but that ringing methods and attaining accurate striking is difficult and can lead to frustration and disillusion unless there is maximum of encouragement, help and co-operation from all the experienced members.
- (d) Ringing is a fascinating and rewarding hobby and generates its own enthusiasm.

Examine these four points in detail. With the best will in the world we cannot all, at all times, be available for all ringing occasions. Illness, absence from home, inescapable social duties alone will prevent appearance at the belfry. And the best of us suffer from sheer personal disinclination at times. But supposing there were at least two members per bell? Then surely there would never be a lack of numbers. And since casualties do happen and numbers must be kept up, there should be some trainees in the pipeline. It is suggested therefore that every tower might well aim at having a basic minimum of members—15 for six bells, 20 for eight bells and so on. With these numbers available captains could always be sure of meeting every call with a full set of bells.

"Wonderful," you will say, "but how do we get these numbers when so few are interested or come forward?" Why should they come forward? Whoever takes any interest in bells? Somehow, when bells are wanted badly—weddings for example—they are available. We go to all sorts of lengths and ruses to meet urgent demands. It is like electricity, always there at the flick of a switch, but nobody asks how it gets there, who produces it or to what lengths the C.E.G.B. goes to get and train the necessary staff. How does the C.E.G.B. get its staff? It advertises, publicises, invites the public into its showrooms and exhibitions, visits schools and colleges and, by devious means, entices the public to have a look and get interested, and once it gets its hooks on to suitable material it goes to endless lengths to maintain its interest, train it and hold on to it.

Do we, as ringers, do anything like that? A few towers hold open days and get a recruit or two, but the majority are too lazy to bother. Have you ever seen an advertisement in a local paper or a poster at a church function inviting people to visit the belfry on a practice evening? How many tower captains have visited the local school to give a talk or to try and make ringing a school activity? Even more elementary, if somebody is interested how do they find out more? How many churches display the name and address of the captain or details of practice nights? It seems that very few of us try very hard to arouse interest. Perhaps we are just selfish and want to keep the available ringing time for ourselves.

Many will remember that delightful article "Ringingitis or Galloping Belmania" in "R.W." No. 2756, Vol. LX—the story of someone who had never even thought about ringing until he visited a tower and became a convert. We all have a large circle of friends and acquaintances—why not take it in turns to invite one friend along to "see what goes on" and even perhaps to "have a go"? One wonders how many visitors would then contract ringingitis. It is certain that if all of us bestirred ourselves just a little, almost all belfries could have a more than adequate membership. Just as Mahomet had to visit his mountain, so it is up to us to get out and find our recruits. Let us open our book to the general public.

Having gained our recruits what is going to happen to them? No doubt the unfortunate captain will be expected to, and will, cope with the early tied practices and handling exercises. Later the other members will help with rounds. It is at the next hurdle that so many towers fall down. In some towers the captain and one or two enthusiasts are expected to cope with trainees for the first half hour or so. The rest arrive that much later and expect, from then on, to take over all the ringing. The pupil stands and looks hopeful, finally loses hope and interest and goes, or perhaps at odd periods he gets a few rounds thrown to him like a bone to a dog. A good captain will always ensure that plenty of experienced ringers are there from the word go. Also that all the members join in to help the pupil right through the evening. At regular intervals bring in the pupil on only four or six bells or keep the back ones covering. Don't expect him to try and cope with all the bells. It may be fun for the other seven or more ringers, but the pupil gets lost, bewildered, ashamed and finally disheartened.

Perhaps tower captains could well take an honest and dispassionate look at the records over the last year or so. How many recruits have stayed on and how many dropped out. If too many have left, take a good look at the training methods. Are you being fair to the pupils? Are you and the members perhaps being too selfish? Has the whole tower joined in a combined team effort? If not, you know what to do.

These are just some random thoughts on what can be done to ensure that all the bells in a tower ring whenever the church wants them; how we might get more ringers; and above all, how we can keep them. Implementation will put a load of extra work on the captains, but if the tower works as a team much of that load can be shared. It could introduce many more to the fascination of ringing. Above all, it would point a finger at any tower which still produced those two opening quotations.

GREAT ADVENTURE II

IN NORTH ISLAND—THE CHARM OF HAMILTON

THE party was reduced to 11 at Christchurch as Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Burton were later in the day meeting their son-in-law preparatory to a long drive of 280 miles on the Friday to the south of the island. It was a short hop to Wellington and a taxi ride enabled some of the party to gain a very favourable impression of the Commonwealth Capital.

Hamilton was a relatively short journey and the air "field" was very different from the concrete expanses associated with the larger airports. There was a brief wait for the cars to convey us about five miles to the town, this service being performed by Mr. C. A. Caldwell, who has done so much for Hamilton ringing, and two lady assistants. There is a restful charm about Hamilton despite its wide main thoroughfares and parking meters for 3d. a quarter of an hour. The Commercial Hotel was well furnished with spacious lounges and dining room, and this was our headquarters. Within a few minutes we were again in the cars to be conveyed to the Church Hall just below St. Peter's Cathedral, where a typically English tea was awaiting us and we were welcomed by the Dean (the Very Rev. Clifford G. Palmer).

We had heard much of the bells of St. Peter's Cathedral of the Waikato Diocese, and we were not disappointed. The tenor of 20 cwt. 2 qr. 8 lb. was provided in 1931, but the eight was not completed until 1950, all the bells being cast by Mears and Stainbank. One of the bells was the gift of the Hebrew congregations of Auckland and Christchurch and another by Mr. and Mrs. A. C. A. Caldwell. The steel frame was designed by Mr. Caldwell, and Ken Chandler, son of the then Dean, was responsible for putting the bells in.

The ringing chamber is of great beauty and was panelled by Mr. Caldwell personally, the work taking about six months. Rimu wood, which has a fine polish, was used. There is a balcony on one side and the belfry bookcase contains bound volumes of "The Ringing World" from 1950. The first peal on the bells—Plain Bob Minor—was rung on October 22nd, 1950, conducted by Albert Lancefield, on the day following the dedication.

In the practice that evening we were joined by Mr. C. W. Martin, of Cheltenham, who is spending a year in New Zealand. The Ringing Master is Mr. David McAdam, and his wife, Pamela, also rings. The Editor and Mrs. White spent a pleasant evening with them and Mrs. Eileen (Mary) Bailey (née Foot), who formerly rang at Battle, Sussex. Five of the party made the 40 mile journey to the Waitomo caves, one of the wonders of the world, where millions of glow-worms "shed a celestial radiance to the glassy waters below."

Cambridge Surprise Major was selected for the peal attempt the next morning. Tom Lock gave his customary interview and promised with Anne Horsford to visit the television studio in the afternoon. The Bishop of Waikato (the Rt. Rev. John T. Holland) came and wished the ringers success in their venture. It was a good peal and was conducted by Tom Lock, the time taken being 3 hours 5 minutes.

Before the peal the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. McAdam climbed the steps to the ringing chamber and, to the delight of the company, presented two packets of raisins to Pat Cannon. A memory of 15 years ago was revived; Malcolm Melville was wrongfully accused for perpetuating the incident.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL, HAMILTON

While the peal was in progress Mr. Caldwell motored Mr. and Mrs. White around this attractive city with a beautiful river and lake with velvety lawns at the water's edge. Clumps of arum lilies—regarded as weeds—were to be seen near the river. Hamilton is a university city and is planning a new building. Among its more recent buildings is the theatre, seating 1,250 people, which was built by voluntary subscription and is self supporting. It has a spacious stage.

There was a cheer from below the hill on which the Cathedral stands when the bells

The ringing chamber panelled in rimu wood by Mr. A. C. A. Caldwell, personally. It took him six months to complete the wood-work in this beautiful room.

came round—whether of congratulation or relief we know not. In close proximity was the Supreme Court of Justice, and before the start Mr. Caldwell obtained from them permission for the peal to proceed.

The peal band were ready for lunch and they were the guests of Mr. Caldwell at the Swiss Restaurant. Barely an hour was left for sightseeing before it was time to collect our bags and be motored by our kind friends to the airfield. Anne had promised to sew on two buttons for Malcolm. The journey to Auckland was only 35 minutes by air. A humorous request was made for the journey to take a little longer so that Anne could complete her task. It was finished well within the time limit.

We said "goodbye" to Anne at Auckland. She had hired a car for the week and it was at the airport, but not the make she had ordered. Malcolm gave her a lesson on manipulating the gears. Ahead of her was a journey of approximately 300 miles—no light undertaking on a strange road with a somewhat imperfect map. The story of the drive to visit her uncle and relatives has yet to be told. Another member of the party, Mark Damerell, also had an uncle in New Zealand, and he met Mark at Hamilton Airport. This accounted for Mark's exclusion from the peal.

At Auckland we boarded the Qantas plane that took us to Nadi, in the Fiji Islands, where in the early hours we spent an hour ashore and then continued our journey across the Pacific to Honolulu. It was a hot morning and it seemed to sap one's energy. American health formalities were completed here; Customs having to be passed at San Francisco. Few of the party wandered beyond the confines of the transit halls, and the return to the plane and continuation of the journey towards home was really welcome. An air of home-sickness seemed to prevail.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

The autumn meeting of the Bridgnorth Branch was held on November 6th at the unspoilt village of Worfield, which has a very fine parish church and graceful spire. Mr. Alan Jones, the Ringing Master, supervised the ringing, and the service, with address, was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. G. G. C. Thompson), a former ship's officer and naval chaplain.

SUFFOLK GUILD

The Central District's annual general meeting was held at Earl Soham on October 23rd. The Ringing Master, Mr. R. E. Lester, was re-elected; the posts of chairman and hon. secretary were reversed, Mr. L. E. Last now being elected chairman, and Mr. H. W. H. Leather hon. secretary. The committee was re-elected.

Support by Central District members was very poor; thanks are due to visitors from outlying districts who helped to swell the numbers and make the meeting a success.

Ringing was enjoyed at Earl Soham during the afternoon, followed by a short service taken by the Rev. Mr. Foster, and an enjoyable tea at the Falcon Inn. Evening ringing was at Brandeston. H. W. H. L.

DINNER-DANCE AT WINDSOR

SOCIAL life is prominent in the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, and the fourth annual dinner and dance, held at the Thames Hotel, Windsor, on November 20th, was supported by a company of 126. These included the Branch president, the Bishop of Buckingham (the Rt. Rev. G. D. Savage) and Mrs. Savage, the Branch chairman (Canon Eric Perkins), the Master of the Guild (Canon C. Elliot Wigg) and Mrs. Wigg, the Rev. S. W. Doran (Bray) and the Rev. John Grover (Cookham).

The hall had been attractively decorated by Mr. E. Gosling, who with Miss Doreen Hague, the Branch hon. secretary, were responsible for the arrangements.

After an excellent meal and the loyal toast, the Branch chairman said these dinners and dances were the brilliant idea of one man (Mr. E. Gosling) and they had proved to be very worthwhile. He welcomed the Bishop, the Master of the Guild and other clerical colleagues, also Mr. T. W. White and Mr. Walter Knight, an Australian visitor who had been ringing at St. Mary's, Slough.

Canon Wigg presented a certificate to St. Mary's, Amersham, who came second in the Guild striking competition, and this was received by their conductor, Anthony Fortin. The chairman presented certificates for the Branch striking competition, which was also won by Amersham with Hughenden (conductor, David Cornwell) and Lane End (Colin Hagger) being the runners-up. Mr. George Gibbs was thanked for framing the certificates.

The Bishop of Buckingham, in proposing the toast of "Our Church Bell Ringers," said as their president he felt he should present his credentials as this was the first time he had met them. He thanked the Branch most sincerely for allowing his wife and himself to be present.

"I can say I know a little about change ringing and my skill in this noble art has been confined to places in the Diocese of Oxford.

I first learned to ring such a thing as change ringing when I came to Oxford and was inveigled to go to St. Thomas' Church. I found it interesting and not hard physically.

The Bishop said his next experience was at a theological college and they rang at Drayton St. Leonard's, and there were broken stays right, left and centre. He remembered that one of their number, who was now an Archdeacon, got the rope round his neck and it was only the foresight of one of the party, who got hold of the rope above him, that prevented a casualty.

While a naval chaplain during the war, he remembered when his ship was in the Indian Ocean they had on board Sub-Lieutenant A. R. Pink, who was now an outstanding personality in the Diocese. Wherever he went he took with him a little box, and he remembered him producing his handbells and putting them through it.

He had always been fortunate as a Vicar or Rector to have towers with good bells. At one tower the village blacksmith was a ringer and made him a crook, not that he had any gift of looking forward. But the Bishop added that he used this lovely crook Sunday by Sunday. He wanted to thank the Bucks ringers for ringing so nicely when he visited their churches.

Concluding, the Bishop said that was not the place to preach a sermon but to thank them for everything they did in their art. "Go on teaching this noble art to the younger generation and see that the towers are always manned for calling people to worship and in ringing out praises to God."

Mr. T. W. White replied and gave a brief résumé of ringing in Australia and New Zealand, in which he mentioned the generous hospitality those who took part in Great Adventure II received, and that Sydney ringers this month had rung a peal of Surprise and two quarters of Surprise. They could now produce a very capable band at Sydney.

Dancing followed to Don Humphries' Band.

Letters to the Editor

LIFE OF BELL ROPES

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. John Royal's letter from Kenilworth, I can only say that the rope he refers to as having to splice after less than a year's wear must surely be a poor rope or there must be some roughened surface on the wheel or in the garter hole that has chafed and frayed it.

The surface of the wheels of bells should be checked for absolute smoothness all the way round and any pulleys the rope runs over should be checked to see that they rotate properly and that the surface of the pulleys is also smooth. Any roughness found anywhere should be rubbed down. Even the slightest roughness will cause chafing of the rope, particularly in the garter holes. Fillet holes should also be checked.

The best ropes to be recommended are four-strand ropes, which are considerably superior to the three-strand ones, as they last longer and are much stronger.

In these days to help make ropes last longer leather sleeves can be obtained to put on the ropes where the wear occurs at the garter holes. If these tend to slip, then adhesive tape can be used to ensure they are kept in position. As a second best, adhesive tape can be wound round the rope where most wear takes place.

To harden the rope where the wear occurs and so lengthen the rope's life I would suggest rubbing in wax. I have not tried French chalk or castor oil as Mr. Royal suggests, but this may also help. Whatever method is adopted there would still be the need for adjustment up and down occasionally. For bells that may be exposed to the elements—and there are some, too—I would suggest the ropes be treated with some rope preservative.

In my own tower we have two sets of ropes at present for the eight bells. The old ropes are 11 years old and have only been spliced twice and are in use most of the time, and the new ropes are used for special occasions such as meetings, etc., also peal attempts (one hears too often of peal attempts being lost owing to a broken rope).

R. H. DUKE.

Tower Captain and Towerkeeper,

Dear Sir,—We find that rubbing with Russian tallow is very effective. The life of our ropes averages 10 years. I would also advise moving the ropes up and down a few inches occasionally.

GUIDE BOOK TO COMPOSITION

Dear Sir,—I wonder if you could find space in your columns to put a correction I have found necessary in "A Guide Book to Composition"?

Page 27, para. 4, should read: "We know the relationship between rounds and Y to be the same as that between the false lead-head/end and X."

AGAINST ADJUSTMENTS

Dear Sir,—I have found that there are four chief places at which wear of bell ropes occurs (assuming, of course, that the guides are in alignment). Two places are above the ringing chamber roof and two below.

Above: (1) The most wear naturally takes place at the hole through which the rope passes into the groove of the wheel. To minimise the wear here I have sewn round the rope a double thickness of drill or light canvas for a length of about three inches either side of the hole. Lubricate the rope at this point with castor oil and make sure that the hole itself has no sharp edges.

(2) See that the pulleys revolve freely and keep them oiled. I have found a pulley seized with a groove worn into it by the rope.

Below: (3) The rope should be protected from abrasion where it hits the floor. Soft mats are best for this purpose, but coconut matting is fatal; it will cut through the strands in no time.

(4) Stop ringers from "fiddling" with the adjustment of the length of the rope-ends. Adjust them for the ordinary ringer and keep them at that. Jabbing the strands apart with a marline spike damages them and starts a potential weakness; and for some unknown reason the original point where the end was tucked away seems to have been weakened.

Finally, I have found that there are two kinds of rope available. One seems to be made from short lengths of yarn, and another with long fibres. The latter takes longer to settle down, but I prefer it as it gives a better service and splices more easily.—Yours, etc.

Willesborough, Kent. W. P. GARNER.

ONE-ARMED RINGER

Dear Sir,—Mr. D. R. Pope, of Kington, may well be encouraged to hear that Mr. Fred Hannington, of Cardiff, suffered the loss of his right arm in an accident shortly after the first world war. Since that time he has been a most regular ringer at St. John's, Cardiff. Fred's advice to Mr. Pope is to try on a ring of bells with a short length of rope and not to loop the tail end round his wrist in any way but to hold it in the normal manner. A little practice gives confidence.

In addition Fred is a very highly-skilled tapestry worker, and for 17 years served his Association as general secretary.

I am sure that all ringers will join me in wishing Mr. Pope every success in his efforts to overcome his disability. M. J. P.

THE MYSTERIOUS X

Dear Sir,—I support your correspondent who would like the Central Council to deal with the mysterious symbol X. There was a resolution before the Council in 1956 condemning the wrong use of this symbol. It was proposed by me and seconded by Mr. P. A. Coroy. The total show of hands was greater than I have seen on some occasions, indicating considerable interest in this subject, with more against than in favour. I am not now eligible to try again. Another awkward question to be asked by a young student is "What is the difference between FCH and FCE?"—Yours sincerely,
Skegness. JOHN SEGAR.

THE FILM "RINGERS REQUIRED"

Dear Sir,—The misleading statements which are likely to create misunderstanding and ill-feeling, which Mr. A. J. Collins makes in his letter headed "Ringers Required" in "The Ringing World" of November 19th, page 766, cannot go unchallenged.

After opening with a 12-line free advertisement in our Central Council journal he goes on to say that the machinations of the Central Council and its Education Committee are beyond him and refers to Great Adventure II and his film as instances.

Now the Central Council Education Committee has never at any time had anything to do with any aspect of Great Adventure II or any decision made by the Council concerning it.

As convener of the Education Committee, however, I was in 1961-62 involved in a great deal of work investigating the pros and cons of the Council itself producing a film on bellringing and my full report thereon appeared on page 409 of "The Ringing World" of June 22nd, 1962. I still have a file of correspondence, etc., about that investigation, including one or two letters from Mr. Collins, the contents of which he has perhaps forgotten. The Council decided not to undertake at that time the making of a film.

One of the reasons given was that Mr. Collins, who learned of my investigations and had himself secretly produced an amateur film on bellringing, requested that efforts to start another project be dampened down.

Mr. Barnett and I arranged for his film to be shown to members of the Central Council at Cardiff in 1962, the Council undertaking to bear the cost of projector hire, and the local Association bearing the expense of having a suitable room available for the purpose. Mr. Collins thus had a very influential audience for his film in that many of these representatives went back to the Associations and recommended the hire of his film on some future occasion.

The Council at that meeting commended his film and decided to refrain from competing with it.

Mr. Collins made it clear at that time that the film would be made available through sources that he would arrange, and that he "was not exactly willing for amateurs to get hold of it" (his £35 print) "and strip off all the perforations."

As numerous hirers well know, Mr. Collins made his film available through the Grass-hopper Group at 30/- per day.

It is not intended to criticise his film or photographic skill and he is to be commended (as he was at Cardiff in 1962) for producing an amateur film on this subject.

Mr. Collins has never asked this committee (nor, so far as I know, the Council) to take over the responsibility of handling his film.

Of what, then, is he complaining? If he is now dissatisfied with his present arrangements, which he himself made, and wishes the Council to take over this work or help him in some way, his method of approach is rather odd and, to say the least, ungentlemanly and tactless—Yours, etc..

Convener, C.C. Sunday Service

THE ROVING RINGERS' TOUR, 1965

ON Saturday, August 21st, the little town of Bletchley, Bucks, concentrated on surviving heavy showers of rain, little expecting that an even heavier shower of 25 Roving Ringers, tested old-stagers and welcome newcomers, was about to descend upon it. The Rovers had this year decided to blaze a trail through six counties, no less, and in Bucks, Northants and Warwickshire, in Worcestershire, Gloucester and Oxfordshire we left behind conquered towers, broken bicycle parts, thriving landlords and despairing youth hostel wardens.

As we passed on this first day through Stony Stratford, where there is a church which is very lucky to have any bells now, since other parts of the church were wickedly destroyed by fire, and through Towcester, we stuck to familiar paths like Stedman and Plain Bob, Grandsire and the A.5. There were those who embarked upon Erin and Cambridge, as there were also those who braved a steep short cut. But the ringing came round satisfactorily and the cycling also achieved its end as we arrived at Green's Norton to see the usual sight, comforting by virtue of its familiarity, of Fred Ellis, with his bike upside down, mending a puncture. The tour had truly started!

Green's Norton has a pleasant six and we rang them for morning service, refreshed by what John Slater repeatedly assured us was a "nourishing and filling youth hostel breakfast" and rejuvenated by a happy session in the adjoining playground (see photo). If we are honest we will admit that the roundabout was probably not designed for half a dozen sadists to spin the poor chap on it until he was ejected—bruised and nauseated—into the surrounding mud; but it supplied innocent amusement for Rovers on the prowl and satisfied the blood-lust.

Despite the magnificence of Y.H.A. food, the ten miles to Daventry reshaped our appetites, and the one place in the whole town which offered anything to eat was invaded as by a swarm of locusts. We were impressed by the bells of Daventry and as we progressed through Grandsire Caters and Plain Bob Royal to Stedman and Cambridge, I think we did the bells justice. It was even worth facing the drizzle to hear them outside.

By Monday we had heard the rumour that it was National Accident Week and decided that our party of 25 should be able to make a substantial contribution thereto. It was left to Rosemary to start us off by slipping and damaging her ankle to an extent which was still unknown by the end of the tour. Bob ("The Wrecker") Ashman was biding his time.

THE RINGING FLOURISHES

Meanwhile at Warwick (St. Nicholas') Double Norwich Court Bob Major submitted reluctantly and with noisy protest to our efforts to get it round. However, Yorkshire was much more docile and we led the bells smoothly through an enjoyably rhythmical course. At Redditch in the afternoon some of our less experienced members tried to tame Cambridge with commendable success, especially considering it was a first attempt for two of them. We must not fail to mention here the welcome appearance at the evening's festivities, after the ringing at Chaddeley Corbett had finished, of an old member of the Society, David Beacham. The company in the Swan that evening was so large and lively as to draw surprised comment from the wife of the warden of Chaddeley's hostel.

Tuesday dawned grey in contrast to our spirits. At Stoke Prior it would only need to have been a little darker for the bells justly to remind us of "things that go bump in the night." At Bidford-on-Avon we found some choice bells and descriptions to match. From John Slater's corner of the tower we heard the mumbled conviction that the second had masonry bearings, whilst John Brain, after ringing the treble, declared that it was mounted in quick-setting concrete.

WEDNESDAY, DAY OF TWELVES

The middle of the week had arrived and Evesham, Tewkesbury and Cheltenham heard the sound of Stedman Cinques, a sound which swells majestically on the bell tower's worthy twelve. A tribute must here be paid to our Master, George Evenden, for the way he organised the touches for the younger members and enabled those who did not feel at home on twelve to find their way through Stedman Cinques.

As evening sauntered towards us, Cleve Hill loomed like a malevolent ogre far above. But appropriately daunted, we walked and walked, then walked a little farther beside our halting bicycles; and eventually we reached the well-earned refreshment and the hostel at the top.

Our contribution to National Accident Week started on Thursday. It is nice to have a scapegoat. Well, rain, Bob Ashman and ungracious Fate comprise a formidable trio whom we might like to blame. Perhaps it was not Bob's fault when a car cut him close and his pedal scraped a neat line of paint off the side. Nor next day, when he was riding cheerfully along and one handlebar was found to be no longer attached to his bicycle. Nor was it discovered (I hope!) who was at fault when Andrew Slade and Roger Ashmore found themselves in a messy heap in front of a still messier heap of mangled bicycle. How justified were the oft-quoted words, once apparently heard from an eminent Somerset Rector, "Get off the road, you lout!" Still, it was all trade for the local bicycle shops. A little ingenuity even managed to cope with a full-scale blow-out in Adrienne's back tyre.

Such were our troubles. How pleasant, then, to be able to continue ringing in spite of everything at Swindon Village (more "things that go bump in the night"), to press on to Prestbury, Charlton Kings and Leckhampton, where a ladies' touch of Bob Major was successful, on Thursday. Then to have the pleasure on Friday of ringing at Watermoor, Fairford and Burford.

REINFORCEMENTS RALLY

The week-end brought many old members in and made a party totalling about 40 at The Elms, Ifley. As if the bells were giant magnets, the ringing on the way into Oxford at Witney and Eynsham gradually attracted the new arrivals. Merton College's precarious balcony supported the full party and thus was completed Saturday's ringing. The luxuries of the hotel were bliss to the hostellers, and the dinner and meeting proceeded successfully.

The party was still a goodly size on Sunday at All Saints' and St. Ebbe's on Magdalen College's splendid ten and at the Cathedral. A trip to Appleton to ring for Evensong made an enjoyable excursion, and the day's ringing finished at St. Mary's, the prodigious six that sound so far afield.

Monday's ringing on Abingdon's ten, at Dorchester and Wallingford brought to a close another very enjoyable tour. For the excellent arrangements we owe our thanks to John Cobb and are also grateful to all incumbents whose permission to ring we gained, M.R.A.

OBITUARY

MR. J. A. HERBERT

The many friends of Mr. Jim A. Herbert, of Luton, will receive with great regret the news of his death, which occurred on November 7th at the age of 58.

He first learned to ring at Hadleigh, Suffolk, the place of his birth, and after settling in Luton in 1935 he joined the local band, of which he remained a regular member until his death.

The funeral service was held on November 11th at Luton Parish Church, conducted by the Vicar, and attended by the local captain (Mr. H. Wood) and a large number of ringers, including two from Harpenden, where Jim was a frequent visitor. The Bedfordshire Association was represented by the president, who read the lesson. Cremation followed.

In the evening 1,259 Grandsire Caters was rung with the bells half-muffled, by the local band as a tribute to the memory of a loyal comrade.

AN APPRECIATION

Those who were so fortunate to enjoy the privilege of Jim Herbert's friendship will find it hard to believe that this very staunch character has left us.

It is just 30 years ago that Jim left his native Suffolk and settled in the busy industrial town of Luton. He never lost his love for the beautiful county of his origin, but that did not prevent him being loyal and faithful to the place of his adoption, and in the 30 years he served Luton Parish Church as a bellringer he was regular in his attendance and earnest about his work as an officer of the church.

MR. LESLIE C. W. HUNTER

For 36 years Leslie Charles William Hunter, popularly known as "Les", was tower captain at Shalford, Surrey, and during that time, by hard work and devotion to the cause, he was successful in keeping in being an efficient change ringing band there who, even if not renowned for the multiplicity of methods rung, were famed throughout the area for their accuracy in striking. In 1936, through his efforts, the rather bad-going and non-melodious six at Shalford were recast and augmented to eight, an eight now noted for their musical qualities and "go."

To the great grief of all who knew him Les died on November 19th at the age of 57 after an illness that had for years made itself manifest and which to a great extent had curtailed his ringing activities.

He could claim to be a founder member of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, had served for years on the Executive Committee and acted as auditor for a long period. He also recently served the Guildford District as Ringing Master for a period of two years. Les had been associated with Shalford Parish Church all his life, serving as chorister from boyhood and in later years as a member of the Parochial Church Council there.

At a memorial service held in the Parish Church on November 24th, following cremation earlier in the day, there was a gathering of fellow ringers, fellow workers in the office of the Collector of Taxes, where he had been employed since leaving school, members of his family, relatives and friends, and in his address the Vicar (Canon W. R. Horth) referred to Les's sterling qualities, his devotion to Shalford bells, his service to the Church in other capacities and his great sense of loyalty, friendliness and regard for others, his gifts as a leader and his willingness to help his fellow man.

Les leaves a widow and son and a great company of fellow ringers, fellow workers, fellow churchmen and friends to mourn him.

AN APPRECIATION

Over the past few years the Guildford Diocesan Guild has lost many of its established characters and now in the death of Leslie Hunter it has suffered another tragic blow. He started his service to Shalford Parish at a very young age as a choirboy and then learned to ring on the heavy six bells. During the next 40 or so years he watched the augmentation to eight and the constant training that is necessary to maintain an eight-bell band. He had been captain of the tower for 36 years and served the Guild in various capacities. He learned the more advanced methods with the late A. H. Pulling in Guildford and maintained at Shalford the precision striking he learned there.

It has always been a pleasure to visit Shalford whether one has been an unknown learner or an established ringer—the welcome was always warm and sincere. Les was truly a gentleman and instilled enthusiasm and unity in all with whom he came into contact. The happiness of his band, their annual family holiday together and the full ringers' pews were a constant reminder of the way he worked. He will be greatly missed by all, and our deepest sympathy is with his family and friends at Shalford.

D. A. R. M.

MR. KEITH TAYLOR

With deep regret we report another loss to the Colehill belfry, Warwickshire, by the tragic death of Keith Taylor, killed on the road when returning from ringing practice at Kingsbury on November 12th. He was interested in many of the neighbouring towers and their ringers and he will be greatly missed, especially by some of the younger members of these bands.

Twenty-seven ringers attended the service at Yardley Crematorium on November 18th, and the following towers were represented: Coleshill, Kingsbury, Knowle, Yardley, Tamworth, Sheldon, Great Barr and Burton-on-Trent.

At Coleshill that evening 1,260 Bob Triples was rung, half muffled, by Miss R. Morgan 1, Mrs. D. Bennett 2, D. L. Lloyd 3, D. L. Hooper 4, L. L. Willis 5, E. H. Hill 6, G. Lane (conductor) 7, A. Ensor 8. This was followed by 1,260 Doubles, half-muffled, by Miss L. Deebank (first quarter) 1, K. Lane 2, N. Attaway 3, J. Belshaw 4, M. Edwards (conductor) 5, N. Ensor 6, H. Walker 7, H. Williams 8.

The Kingsbury ringers paid their tribute in their own tower on November 19th, when 1,260 of Plain Bob Minor was rung, half-muffled, by K. Cummings (first quarter) 1, N. Richards 2, N. Attaway 3, R. Farmer 4, K. Richards 5, G. Lane (conductor) 6.

All three quarters were preceded by a silence, and prayers were said.

The ringers of Knowle visited Coleshill tower on the Sunday afternoon, November 21st, and rang a peal of Grandsire Triples, half-muffled.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Godfrey, of Pulborough, have left for Ghana. They will be out of England for 18 months.

Miss Jean Dale, of St. Albans, rang her first peal on her new set of Dutch handbells. These are believed to be only the second set in this country made by Petit and Fritsen.

Mr. J. E. Jeater has received a postal order for 12s. in an envelope posted at Gloucester on November 22nd. He awaits instructions as nothing else was included in the envelope.

Mr. George E. Bonham calls attention that during his peal week a peal was rung at Brafield-on-the-Green and not Bradfield-on-the-Green. See page 765.

Mr. Noel D. Deam, of Marston, Oxford, fulfilled on October 16th a long-standing ambition by equalling the then record peal of 42 Doubles methods conducted by Mr. Alan R. Pink in this tower.

The peal of Cambridge Surprise Major rung half-muffled at St. Neots, Hunts, on November 13th, has particular significance, as the bells were recast and hung in an iron frame in 1919 in memory of the parishioners who gave their lives in the 1914-18 war.

A friend of a group of Southwell Guild ringers is Mrs. Drury, of Swinderby. For six years they have rung a peal in honour of her birthday, which on November 9th was her 82nd. Despite the ringers' request not to bother, she insisted on giving them a really good supper. Comments our correspondent: "She is one of the few who get pleasure in giving as well as receiving."

WASHINGTON RING FOR PRINCESS MARGARET

The ringers of Washington Cathedral had the great honour, writes Richard S. Dirksen (Bellmaster) "to ring for H.R.H. Princess Margaret on November 16th, following a short service for her in the Cathedral. Rounds and call changes were rung on the Cathedral's ten (33 cwt.) as the Princess left the building and entered her limousine. Then, as her car drove away, a touch of Plain Bob Minor was rung on bells 1, 2, 3, 6, 8 and 9 with tenor behind.

"In the opinion of a number of educated listeners, the striking was superb, and the Bob Minor rung on those bells, though perhaps slightly unorthodox by Central Council standards, was a beautiful sound indeed.

"The Washington Press, refusing to be educated, commented '... and as the Princess descended the stairs, the Cathedral's ten-bell carillon broke forth.'

"I can only repeat how great an honour we felt it, to ring for English royalty, and how pleased we were to have the opportunity to welcome Princess Margaret 'in her native tongue,' as it were."

A record of these bells and also interviews with the band that rang at their opening is advertised on page 817.

SYDNEY'S SUCCESSFUL RUN

The Sydney ringers have had a successful run of late. Quarter peals of Cambridge, Lincolnshire and Superlative have been rung at St. Mary's Cathedral and St. Jude's, Randwick. Following these there was a half-muffled peal of Lincolnshire at Randwick on Remembrance Sunday. A peal of Minor has also been rung at Turramurra.

BELLS IN INDIA

Dear Sir,—In answer to the query by Mr. Claud Rush re "Bells in India and Pakistan," I was stationed in Delhi from 1914 to 1917 and from there visited many cities in India.

The only ring of bells I know of was in the English church at Poona. I was with the late Mr. Frank Green and we tried to get a band for a quarter peal but before this materialised we were moved to Bombay and Palestine.

I often wondered if they had been rung before then or since. We had enough for Grandsire Triples in our battalion, 1/4th Wiltshire Regiment, but were never able to ring.

We visited Bethlehem whilst in Palestine, but as you all know now the bells were only hung for swinging headstock high.—Yours truly,

W. C. WEST.

Salisbury Diocesan Guild.

THE CURATE'S PRANK

For a long time a resident West Cumberland band has been trying to ring a peal of Surprise Major. This area is not blessed with many opportunities or many ringers. On November 20th at Cockermouth the band was within sight of success. Two hours and 35 minutes of excellent ringing had taken place when, with only two and a half courses to go, the lights went out!

"Luckily nobody was injured and we clattered to a standstill," writes L. B. "Immediately afterwards we made inquiries and discovered that it was the assistant curate who had switched off all the lighting to 'play a joke' on the women who were cleaning the church. We did not laugh!"

MAXIMUS PEAL AT LIVERPOOL CATHEDRAL

An historic achievement in the art of peal ringing was the first peal of Maximus on the bells of Liverpool Cathedral on November 20th. It was Cambridge Surprise Maximus and was accomplished in the excellent time of 4 hours 16 minutes. To the conductor, Mr. Joseph Ridyard, and his Cathedral band drawn from Merseyside, the warm congratulations of many friends will be extended.

The peal was in honour of the retirement of the Bishop of Liverpool, the Rt. Rev. Clifford Martin. When the Central Council had its memorable meeting at Southport in 1959, Dr. Martin gave a most cordial welcome. He is not without practical experience of ringing, as he learned to handle a bell while at Plymouth, being a pupil of Mr. Tom Myers, and received his certificate of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers.

The Bishop attended the dinner given by the Lancashire Association on the evening previous to the Council meeting. He told the story that at one tower he rang they asked him which bell he would like. He replied "No. 5." After he had rung they put a little tablet inscribed "The Bishop's Bell."

PROMOTION FOR PORTISHEAD RINGER

Portishead tower is the poorer by the loss of Police Sergeant Fred Sandy, who is moving to Yeovil on promotion to inspector. Portishead bells are out of action at present while the clappers are being rebushed, and so a farewell quarter peal of Stedman Triples was rung at the neighbouring tower of Wraxall by a representative band. Inspector Sandy's eldest son, Robert, has recently started to learn to ring, and they go with the best wishes of the Portishead band for their future in Yeovil.

OXFORD GUILD ORGANISE LEADERS' COURSE

Adequate support was forthcoming for the tower leaders' course at Charney Manor from November 5th to 7th. There were 28 people of vastly differing ages and ability present and the strength of the organisation lay in the adroitness of the very able tutors in adapting to the different standards of all their pupils. The tutors, to whom we are very grateful, were Messrs. F. Sharpe, W. G. Wilson, W. F. Moreton, M. Hatchett and P. J. M. Gray. A vast range of subjects was covered, including the history of bells, the technique of bell-control, the science of composition, the ringing of handbells, tower maintenance and the part played by the Guild.

Miss Marie Cross is sincerely thanked for organising the course, and the Society of Friends, the owners of Charney Manor, for being so hospitable.

MIX-UP OVER TWO FIELDENS

Correction.—In regard to peals published on page 782, the ringer of the eighth at Leyland, the treble at Walton-le-Dale and the tenor at Adlington should be John H. Fielden, and not J. Henry Fielden as published. The error is regretted.

The footnote to the peal of London Surprise Major rung at St. Thomas', Heptonstall (page 784) should read: "Rung in the octave of All Saints' on the octave of St. Thomas'." Mr. J. Henry Fielden also asks us to state that he did not ring in the peals at Adlington, Leyland and Walton-le-Dale on page 782. These peals were rung by John H. Fielden.

NORTH BERKS' FIRST DINNER

One hundred and twenty ringers and friends met in Hagbourne Village Hall on November 19th for the first annual dinner of the North Berks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. Towers represented included Abingdon, Appleton, Aston Tirrold, Blewbury, Cholsey, Hagbourne, Harwell, North Moreton, Radley, Stevenston, Wantage and West Hendred, and guests included the Rev. H. J. Pickles, the Rev. G. R. Wells and Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Wilkins. Canon C. E. Wigg, Miss M. R. Cross and Mr. F. Sharpe were also invited but unfortunately had to decline.

The toast of "The North Berks Branch" was proposed by the Rev. Martin F. Gibbs, the Rural Dean, who recalled some amusing eccentricities of Bishop Sheddin; Mr. Alfred H. Webb, the Branch Ringing Master, replied. Mr. Claude Corderoy, the Branch hon. secretary, proposed the toast of "The Guests and Friends," and the Rev. G. R. Wells made a well-received musical reply. Mr. Kenneth Leach, the Branch vice-chairman, proposed votes of thanks to those who had organised the dinner, and to Messrs. Bees Catering Service of Oxford for an excellent spread.

After the dinner the assembly was entertained by the Appleton Handbell Ringers (Alf Webb, Harry White, George Bishop, Cliff Garlick and Miss Peggy East) and the evening concluded with enthusiastic community singing. So successful was the evening that it is hoped to make it a regular annual event.

M. B.

THE DEVON ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting was held in the Diocesan Board Room, Exeter, on November 20th, when some 40 towers were represented.

After the routine business had been transacted and Mr. E. J. Cole, of Ashreigney, re-elected hon. secretary, the choice of towers for the 1966 festivals was made as follows: April 23rd, Bovey Tracey (eight-bell); May 7th, Stokenham (six-bell—south); May 21st, Bickleigh (six-bell—north); June 11th, St. Budeaux, Plymouth (six-bell—final).

Mr. Bartlett reported briefly upon his attendance at the meeting of the Central Council at Northampton and the welcome which he had found there and announced that he hoped to arrange the usual June six-bell competition by invitation at, subject to permission being formally obtained, Blackawton. The festival held at Bridford last summer resulted in almost £60 being handed to the P.C.C. to help in the repayment of a loan from the Historic Churches Preservation Trust.

DISS POPULAR WITH NORFOLK RINGERS

The Southern Branch visited Diss, always a favourite tower for a meeting, on October 30th. As usual, there was a large attendance, well over 50. A warm welcome was received from the new Rector (Canon E. L. Corbell), who conducted the service, assisted by the Rev. S. Collins (Rector of Bunwell).

At the business meeting, which was presided over by Mr. Nolan Golden, president of the Association, Canon Corbell was elected an honorary member.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Rector, organist and Mr. A. G. Harrison, who made all the arrangements for the meeting.

Branch annual meeting: February 5th, at Saxlingham.
