THE BELLS OF CARDIGANSHIRE

SOME might regard Cardiganshire as of little interest to the change ringer as there are only two towers which figure in the columns of "The Ringing World"—the eight at St. Padarn's, Llanbadarn Fawr, a happy centre for enthusiasts at the nearby university college at Aberystwyth, and the six at St. Mary's, Cardigan, a tower with a blend of John Rudhall and the Whitechapel foundry as recent as 1961, and a band of keen ringers who against nine teams in the St. David's Diocese won the Bishop Prosser Shield in 1962.

The 143 bells in the county have provided the basis of a very interesting book from the pen and camera of Frederick Sharpe. The author from his long experience knows the art of producing a book of interest to the general public and ringers alike. The evolution of the bell through the ages, the founders of the bells, St. David's Diocesan Guild of Ringers who come of age this year, and a wealth of local history and legend make this a most comprehensive book. The illustrations are good—many of the photographs apart from the towers give fine views of the Welsh countryside, and there are plates of founder's mark—a fascinating study.

Above all, the story of the bells of this county provides romance and adventure. It was at the Church of St. Tygwydd, Llandygwydd, with its beautiful background of trees, that on July 25th, 1935, the author was married to Miss E. J. M. Evans. There is a chime of six bells by John Taylor and Co. here with a tenor of 13 cwt., and a wedding peal of Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor was chimed on that occasion by Canon C. Elliot Wigg, the Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. The church also contains a service bell hung for swing-chiming going back to the end of the fifteenth century. The canons are retained and it is hung on an elm headstock.

There was also adventure, and Mr. Sharpe tells of his experience last August at Rhostie, where there is a bell in a central enclosed turret. Two clerics carried a ladder across the fields to this isolated church. The floor above the vestry was reached, but as the author placed his hands on this floor to heave himself through the hatchway the decayed boards collapsed. Fortunately the supporting joists were sound. From the space above the vestry access was gained to the roof space above the porch, high above which could be seen a small hatchway leading to the bell turret, but the decayed ladder used for gaining access to this collapsed. By standing on the main tie-beams supporting the roof, the hatch was raised revealing a rare fourteenth century bell only a few feet above.

Standing on the tie-beam, with his head through the opening, Mr. Sharpe made his notes of this rare find while one of his companions made rubbings of the lettering and marks. This bell, the author considers, dates from circa 1350 and came from the Bristol medieval foundry which supplied by sea many bells to the West Country and South Wales.

And from the sea comes the legend of a cargo of bells being lost at sea. Verwig, a parish in South Cardiganshire, has a little stump tower. According to "The Western Mail" of February 21st, 1949, a local legend tells of when the tower was being built a cargo of bells to be housed in it was wrecked near the Telfi Estuary. The tower was taken no higher, but sailors approaching the coast on stormy nights could hear the bells being wildly rung as a warning of danger by the spirits of the drowned.

The author heard more about this legend in 1926 from Mrs. Llewelyn Davies, of Ashleigh, Cardigan. Her version of the legend was that after the ship was wrecked on the rocks of the Pembrokeshire side of the Telfi Estuary their solemn tones could be heard by people on Pen Cemmaes at midnight when the moon was full and the tide out.

Cardiganshire has only four medieval bells (14th century to 1540) and two in the transitional period (1540–1600). The 14th century bells are at Llanrhystid and Ciliau-Aeron and the 15th century ones at Gwnws and Llandygwydd. The founders of these four bells have not yet been identified. The percentage of $2\frac{3}{4}$ medieval bells compares, states the author, with Flintshire, where Mr. R. W. M. Clouston found under one per cent. in 1949. Radnorshire, surveyed by Mr. Sharpe in 1947, had over $9\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. Other percentages quoted were Monmouthshire $3\frac{1}{2}$ in 1940, Oxfordshire $4\frac{1}{2}$ in 1953, Worcestershire $5\frac{1}{2}$ in 1930, Wiltshire 6 in 1927, Suffolk and Dorset 15 per cent. Another unusual feature was that no saunce or sanctus bells were found by the author.

In a foreword the Rev. R. W. Thomas, Master of St. David's Guild, mentions that this is the first book to be published dealing with the bells of West Wales. The inspection of the bells had been a very exacting undertaking and "this interesting volume contributes a great deal to the historical annals of the Diocese."

"The Church Bells of Cardiganshire," price £1 15s., plus 1s. 10d. postage, from the author, Frederick Sharpe, Derwen, Launton, Bicester, Oxon.

THE BELLS OF POONA, INDIA

By P. G. BELLAMY-KNIGHTS of the Madras Christian College..

I AST Christmas I decided to utilise the first week of the vacation in going about 600 miles north from Madras to Poona. I had the good fortune to have a fellow teacher from Madras Christian College coming with me, Ian Manning, an Australian. Although he is not a ringer, he had been following with interest the news of Great Adventure II in my copies of "The Ringing World."

We had kindly been offered accommodation by the Cowley Fathers, and arrived at St. John's Mission House in the evening. I had anticipated that a whole morning at least would be required to locate the Church of the Holy Name—listed in "Dove" as containing a ring of eight. We were, however, pleasantly surprised to be taken by Father Bishop a two-minute walk to the church.

The tall, slender, red-brick tower is detached from the church. It was erected some years after the 19th century Church of the Holy Name. Ian noted that the architecture of the tower had a marked Venetian flavour, with its flat overlapping roof.

We were informed by the pastor that, by order of the police, no one was allowed into the tower, since a siren warning apparatus had been installed therein during the time of the national emergency due to the Indo-Pakistan conflict. The following morning, however, found us back at the pastor's house—this time with a note from the Assistant Commissioner of Police, permitting us to be allowed into the tower to see the bells.

allowed into the tower to see the bells.

The eight bells are hung in a metal frame at a height of about 60 feet above ground level and are reached after climbing up past three floors. Access to each bell is easy due to a three foot gap between the floor of the bell chamber and the frame. Well above the frame a narrow wooden gallery round the four walls of the tower affords a good overall view of the bells. Here was the ideal position for a photograph, but unfortunately we had been asked to refrain from taking any photos while inside the tower.

All the bells have the same inscriptions—any photos while inside the tower.

All the bells have the same inscriptions—"John Taylor and Co., Founders, Loughborough, England—1893" around the crown and "JESV" around the waist. The bells themselves are in good condition although tattered ends of ropes hanging from the flights of the clappers indicate clocking. At the moment only the seventh is clocked for services. We were told that in past years tunes were clocked out at Christmas and the National Anthem on Independence and Republic Days. This information was confirmed by the rows of figures chalked up on the louvres of the otherwise bare ringing chamber All the stays are intact but all the ropes are missing (that by which the seventh is clocked not being a proper bell rope). Sixty years of weathering have had their effect on the frame. The wheels are rather loose and, as was to be expected, the bearings certainly need some lubrication.

I should say the bells could be rung after

I should say the bells could be rung after a certain amount of overhauling such as could be done by ringers themselves. Father Bishop, however, expressed doubts concerning the strength of the tower to sustain the bells being rung up at their present height in the tower. Again, it could be some years before free access to the tower is permissible although the Tashkent Declaration has struck a hopeful note for the future.

From Poona we proceeded to Goa. This delightful old Portuguese colony is replete with Roman Catholic churches. Many, such as the Minor Basilica of Bom Jesus (in which are kept the relics of St. Francis Xavier), date back to the 16th century. Our guide book says of the Cathedral in Old Goa: "The church has a huge bell which is supposed to be one of the best in the world." The campanologist is assisted by the fact that the bells are usually visible from outside the church, as the photo of the Church of Our Lady of Immaculate Conception, Panjim, illustrates. Unfortunately time did not permit a thorough investigation of the bells which the area deserved and we returned to Madras having spent a very interesting week.

having spent a very interesting week.

Note.—I should be glad to hear from any ringers in India (if any!).

The Southern Branch held its annual general meeting on February 5th at Saxlingham. About 50 members and visitors were present and enjoyed ringing on this light and present and enjoyed ringing on this light and easy-going eight.

The service was conducted by the Rev. S. Merrifield, who also gave the address. The organist was Dr. D. Heighton, and Mr. T. Simmons read the lesson.

At the business meeting, presided over by Dr. P. Jonason, the secretary's report showed that the past year had been a successful one for the Branch. The only change in the officers was the election of Mr. J. Mowle to the Standing Committee.

the Standing Committee.

The chairman in his vote of thanks mentioned Mr. H. Howlett, and the ladies for arranging the tea.

It is hoped to visit South Lopham for the next meeting.

THE EDENBRIDGE WEDDING Brian Jeffrey-Betty Tester

The sun shone brightly and the bells rang merrily on February 19th at SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Edenbridge, on the occasion of the marriage of Miss Elizabeth (Betty) Tester, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Tester, of Southborough, to Mr. Brian E. Jeffrey, only son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Jeffrey, of Edenbridge.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a white embossed brocade dress, with train trimmed with roses, round neckline and long pointed sleeves. Her veil was full-length held in place by a headdress of roses and lilies of the valley, and her bouquet was of pink roses, white freesias and lilies of the valley.

The bride was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Olive D. Tester, and Miss Margaret A. Ladd (who also made the bride's and chief bridesmaid's dresses), in long dresses of turquoise satin milano carrying white crescents of freesias, carnations and lilies of the valley. Also in attendance were Miss Lynne Albrow (six-year-old goddaughter of the bride) in a long dress of white velvet and turquoise ribbons, and Master Steven Albrow (three years) in black velvet trousers and white blouse. The best man was Mr. Raymond A. Large. The marriage ceremony, conducted by the Rev. D. H. Bartleet, was followed by Holy Communion.

The reception for 100 guests was held at St. John's Hall, Edenbridge, and the honeymoon spent in the Scilly Isles.

The bridegroom is captain of the Edenbridge band of ringers and popular chairman of the East Grinstead and District Guild: the bride is a committee member. A peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung at Edenbridge preceding the service. We wish them both all good health and happiness in the future.

THE BELLS OF ST. JOHN'S, WAKEFIELD

BY DAVID CUBITT

THE erection of a second church in Wakened was mooted in 1723; but for various reasons, including the opposition of one particular Vicar of Wakefield, who feared for his parochial rights, it was not until 1791 that the requisite "Act for Building a new Church in the Town of Wakefield in the West Riding of the County of York and for providing a proper Burying Ground, and making Provision for a Minister to officiate at the said Church" was passed. The church was built in the north of the town, in an area favoured by the more superior townsfolk, in the middle of a square which was bounded on two sides by a terrace of late Georgian three-storied red-brick houses. The foundation stone was laid on November 3rd, 1791.

laid on November 3rd, 1791.

The original architect was John Hope, of Liverpool, but he was quickly replaced by Messrs. Lindley and Watson, of Wakefield, whose plan was adopted on April 19th, 1792. The building was completed in 1794. It was of stone, in classical style, with a small apsidal east end and with vaults beneath. The no-th and south sides, of five bays, were relieved by coupled pilasters with a round headed window between each on the upper storey (above the level of the gallery) and smaller arched windows on the lower storey. The principal door was in the centre bay on the south side. The tower was square for its lower two-thirds, the upper third octagonal, with a domed top surmounted by a vane. with a domed top surmounted by a vane.

Regrettably, in restoration work a hundred years later, when the gallery was removed and only replaced at the west, the furniture replaced and a rectangular chancel added the symmetry was lost by adding a further bay on the south side and vestries on the north, and the external appearance further spoilt by blocking up the south door and the lower windows,

In May, 1793, Charles Watson, one of the architects. was ordered to inquire the price of a ring of eight bells and in August was empowered to order them "at Mears' Foundry half a Note sharper than the Bells in the Parish Church of Wakefield." Mears' bill, dated September 15th. 1794, reads:

ST. JOHN'S YOUTHS
A Society of ringers calling themselves the St. John's Youths was formed. They received their first payment of £9 18s. Od. on August 5th. 1795: thereafter they received £6 5s. Od. each quarter. In 1819 the quarterly payments became £6 11s. 3d. and in 1828 £7 1s. 3d. The last payment at this rate was on March 13th, 1830, and the Society seems then to have gone into suspended animation for a couple of years, when the only payment for ringing was £1 a quarter only payment to the verger.

Foremost among the St. John's Youths was William Woodhead, but after the new ring of ten was opened at the Parish Church in 1817 he transferred his allegiance to that tower, taking others with him. His place was taken by Benjamin Thackray—or Thackrah, as he preferred later to spell his name—the author of a book on ringing, and then by Procter William Hewitt. The Society remained in existence until about 1850. A list of peals rung at St. John's is set out at the end of this article, but is not claimed to be complete.

In 1859 the tower was found to be in need of repair. John Hewitt, whose father was

In 1859 the tower was found to be in need of repair. John Hewitt, whose father was Procter William Hewitt, recorded visiting the ringing chamber in August of that year and, finding it in a dilapidated state, he was told: "This chamber, Mr. Hewitt, was not in this state when your relatives attended here and men of science rung these bells." Hewitt noted that the bells were then chimed by two

TOWER DEMOLISHED

In 1879 the architect employed to plan alterations for the church discovered the tower was cracked. Chiming, or rather clocking, which resulted in the sixth being cracked, continued until 1883. In December, 1883, Taylors, of Loughborough, were employed to remove the bells from the tower to the vaults and it was decided to take down the upper portion of the tower: but the damage, which may originally have been caused by lightning, was apparently more extensive and the tower was pulled down completely. Work on rebuilding started almost immediately the foundation stone being laid on April 18th, 1885, and the tower was built in the former style with much of the old stone; but only to the height of the church roof, and in this stunted form it remained for ten years. On July 31st, 1895, a further inscribed stone was laid in what would be the ringing chamber, and the upper part of the tower rebuilt to the original design, but of brick faced with stone.

In 1900 Mears and Stainbank recast the sixth, an additional inscription being placed on it, rehung the eight bells, dead, in a new frame and supplied a chiming apparatus. In this state they remain today.

THE SANCTUS BELL

Dear Sir,—Mr D. J. Derrick is to be congratulated on his lucid and, I am sure, useful editorial in which he refers to an action for nuisance caused by excessive bellringing brought against a Roman Catholic church in the 19th century.

It is, however, to be hoped that in these more enlightened days, and in spite of the case noted above, the Anglican Church may soon be legally permitted to use a sanctus bell as an outward sign of worship.

—Yours faithfully, Trowbridge, Wilts. JOHN C. SAWTELL.

OLD RINGS IN WEST COUNTRY

Dear Sir,—Mr. Ranald Clouston and others may find interesting some comments from the South-West on his article on "The Oldest Complete Ring."

The Exeter founders are very difficult to distinguish from one another, as they used the same stamp for generations, and one has to take note of moulding wires, etc., as well as lettering-stamps and crosses. The four at Northleigh have a tenor by "I.T."—he left to take note of moulding wires, etc., as well as lettering-stamps and crosses. The four at Northleigh have a tenor by "I. T."—he left his thumbprint on one word of the inscription, but we still do not know his name—but the other three are by a slightly later 15th century founder, who impressed coins, here and elsewhere, in the head-moulds of many of his bells

We have Exeter threes probably by the same founders at Huish and Moreleigh, and incorporated into rings of five or six at Paylembury, Monkleigh and Monkokehampton. Brushford has a three by William Dawe of London; this is probably the oldest complete ring in the county, but alas the treble has recently been cracked through clocking; Wolborough preserves one complete bell and the borough preserves one complete bell and the inscription bands of two others by Bird of London; they are lovely castings and well worth a look as they are in the church and easily seen. Townstal incorporates three by William Chamberlain.

William Chamberlain.

Mixed Exeter threes are abundant—Loxbeare. Wembworthy, West Ogwell (still threes): Churston Ferrers, Gidleigh, High Bray, Honeychurch (the treble here from the time of Mary I): Manaton (one Exeter bell and two lovely London bells by Joanna Hille). Torbryan (three Exeter and one 16th century bell by an unknown founder) and Luppit (two Exeter and one by Roger Semson of Ash Priors, c. 1560) are also of great interest; Broadwindsor, in Dorset, has one bell by Robert Norton of Exeter, another later 15th century Exeter bell, and another early 15th century Salisbury bell. There are probably a number of mediæval threes in Somerset which I have yet to see. Somerset which I have yet to see.

It is beginning to appear likely that Devon has more mediæval bells than any other county; what is more, the Exeter foundry, with bells as far away from the centre as Dorchester-on-Thames, Upton Magna (Salop) and Guernsey, may prove to have as many surviving bells as any pre-Reformation foundry in the country. I have seen over a hundred, and I think I may be halfway through them—Yours faithfully. them .- Yours faithfully,

THE KINGSLEY MASON PROTEST

Dear Sir.—Having read Kingsley Mason's letter in the issue of February 11th, may 1 say that as far as 1 am concerned when the name of Peter J Staniforth appears at the bottom of a peal that in itself leaves no doubt in my mind that the ringing was good enough to be called a peal.

Dear Sir,—May I suggest that the sweeping statement P. A. C. made about Warner's in the February 11th issue is only his own opinion. In my opinion, it was their engineering and not their founding that was at fault.

Most Warner rings cast in the last quarter of the 19th century were among the finest cast by anyone at that time and are still hard to be faulted today Apart from their distinctively individual character they were made to last—anyone who really listens knows this.

To illustrate my point I have drawn up a list of Warner rings I have had the pleasure of ringing on and listening to in my travels. Here they are, listed in their counties, Berkshire: Boyne Hill, St. Paul's, Wokingham; Devon: Withycombe Raleigh; Essex: Chelmsford Cathedral, Galleywood, Harlow Town, Loughton, St. Saviour's, Walthamstow. Broomfield; London: Bethnal Green (all except Mears' modern tenor), St. Mary's Holloway Road, Immanuel, Streatham; Middlesex: St. Mary's, Ealing, St. Peter's, Staines, Shepperton: Northants: St. Mary's, Peterborough: Surrey: Oatlands Park; and, last of all, in my own county, Kent: Chatham, St. Nicholas', Chislehurst, Walmer and, finally, one of Warner's last rings at my own tower. Christ Church, Erith, cast during the first world war—their only attempt at modern tuning as far as I know, and a delight to hear.—Yours faithfully.

THERE'S A "BRISTOL AFFAIR" IN CHESTER GUILD

Dear Sir, — I read with great interest your leading article on January 28th, "A Bristol Affair," as during the past 12 months exactly the same thing has happened within the Chester Diocesan Guild.

At the beginning of 1965 the members of the tower at which I ring decided that they would like to transfer from one branch to another, and by doing so caused quite a disturbance amongst Guild authorities. After extensive negotiations, both at the Committee and Guild annual meetings in 1965, no final decision was attained, but the general feeling was that certain officers were against the was that certain officers were against the

Since then our own ringers decided that in a voluntary organisation, such as the ringing fraternity, a tower has a right to belong to whichever branch it desires, and so paid our subscriptions via our intended branch.

so paid our subscriptions via our intended branch.

Recently, however, I have been informed that the Master of the Guild has instructed the general secretary to repay the contributions through the original branch, as Rule 14 of the Association had been broken, which states that the committee only can decide to which branch a tower must belong. In conclusion, we have decided that if the General Committee fail, this year, to grant the transfer, no further subscriptions will be paid. In my opinion, after paying voluntary subscriptions to a voluntary organisation the ringers themselves should have the right to state to which branch they wish to belong, and should not be dictated to by any committee, as this contradicts the democratic principles of a Christian organisation.

Finally, I should like to hear what the general opinion is in such matters as these.—Yours faithfully.

HEREFORD CATHEDRAL

Dear Sir,-Just for the record, if F. M.

Dear Sir,—Just for the record, if F. M. is the man his initials lead me to suppose, he should know that the eighth was recast again at Whitechapel in 1953. There may be some doubt about the sixth being a 15th century Bristol bell, although for long supposed, with the ninth and tenor, so to be. It could well be older, for it differs in shape considerably from the other two and is inscribed "Stephanus Banastre Me Fecit."

There was, and doubtless still is, a 12th century book in the Cathedral library with an inscribtion in 13th century script to the effect that it was given to the Minor Brethren "for prayers for the soul of their Lord Stephani le Banastre." The inference is that S.B. was Custos of the College of the Vicars Choral, and as such would have responsibility for things 'musical and "Our Lord" to his minor brethren, but unfortunately the records of the College are not sufficiently complete to verify this.

If there is no founder on record as Stephanus Banastre nor real evidence of Bristol origin, then it seems reasonable to suppose that the two S.B.'s were one and the same man and that he cast or had the bell cast at least as early at the 13th century. Perhaps Mr. Sharpe during his current investigations in Herefordshire may be able to find out.—Yours faithfully.

MR. COLLINS' COMPLAINTS

Dear Sir,—In view of the smokescreen and red herrings produced by Mr. A. J. M. Collins in the issue of February 11th, may 1 repeat that from October 24th, 1961, to March 31st, 1962, he insisted on absolute secrecy concerning the film "Ringers Required," and that he personally wished to arrange its distribution to the ringing public.

He is under a delusion that his film, issued He is under a delusion that his film, issued four years ago, has received no endorsement from officials of the Central Council. It was well received and commented upon favourably by numerous Central Council officials, including myself, at the Cardiff meeting in 1961, when it was introduced. Since then, in replies to some of the many people who write to me for information about instructional material. I have recommended his film and given details of where it can be his film and given details of where it can be his film and given details of where it can be obtained.

It is obvious that his dissatisfaction has only arisen since the Washington film became available five months ago and this is borne out by his statement "My reason for dissgatisfaction goes back to 1965 (not 1961), "when it was observed that the Education Committee had presumably purchased a film solely to entertain."

At the last Council meeting (in 1965) in recommending the Central Council to purchase the Washington film, Mr. C. K. Lewis referred to its value, in the high status accorded in the film to bells, ringers and bell-ringing, in connection with church services.

The film, though not one on ringing instruction, includes excellent detailed shots of bells and ringers in action, is excellent propaganda for the art and certainly is enjoyable. Instead of adonting a dog in the manger attitude, Mr. Collins should realise that the two films are complementary and not competitive. Shown together, as they have been on several occasions, they provide an interesting programme and I know that both films are in good demand and booked up well ahead.—Yours, etc.,

BEVERLEY AND DISTRICT RINGING SOCIETY

RINGING SOCIETY

The annual general meeting of the Beverley and District Ringing Society was held at the Churches of St. Andrew, Kirk Ella, and St. Mary, Beverley, on February 12th. The attendance was affected to some extent by illness and adverse weather conditions but 62 members and visitors were present.

The afternoon ringing took place on the six bells at Kirk Ella, followed by a service conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. C. H Wilson, at which the preacher was the Bishop of Hull, patron of the Society. Handbells were rung during the singing of Psalm 150, and the lesson was read by the secretary, Mr. A. B. Cooper. The bells of St. Mary's. Beverley, were rung in the evening.

Tea was provided in the Memorial Hall, Kirk Ella, by wives and parents of the Kirk Ella ringers, and before the business meeting the Bishop of Hull presented the Albert Sellers Memorial Cup to Mr. R. H. Sharp, representing All Saints', Hessle, band, who were judged to have made most progress in church service and method ringing. Under the expert guidance of the Rev. F. Ross, senior curate at Hessle, a very young, enthusiastic band has been trained in a remarkably short time and one member, Robert Hawtree, rang two peals of Surprise Major and one of Minor in seven methods within only 14 months of learning to handle a bell.

The president, Mr. K. Kirk, was in the Major and one of Minor in seven methods within only 14 months of learning to handle a bell.

The president, Mr. K. Kirk, was in the chair for the business meeting, and the annual report and financial statement were formally approved. Ten meetings had been held with an average attendance of approximately 50 members, a feature being the enthusiasm of an encouraging number of young learners. The financial position was greatly improved by a bequest of £10 from the will of the late Mr. Fewster, a former ringer at Patrington. During the year 1965, 45 members took part in 17 peals, and 79 members rang in 53 quarter peals. Some towers, however, are silent and several others require reliable recruits. Society members supported activities organised by the Joint Counci! of Yorkshire Ringing Societies, and the Beverley Society will act as hosts for the festival to be held at Beverley next May.

The Society president, vice-president, secretary and assistant secretary. Mr. K. Kirk, Mr. N. Castle, Mr. A. B. Cooper and Miss J. Gray, were re-elected. Mr. D. S. Johnson resigned from the office of Ringing Master and was succeeded by Mr. R. Ducker, with the Rev. F. Ross as Assistant Ringing Master.

A vote of thanks to the Society officers was proposed by Mr. F. Parker (Bridlington), and Mr. A. Taylor (Beverley) thanked the incumbents and all who heiped in the arrangements made for the meeting. The ladies were complimented on the substantial tea provided at a very reasonable cost. Mr. N. Castle thanked the Bishop of Hull for his address and interest in Society activities.

FAISE?

Dear Sir.—I think the composition used for the peal rung at Peterborough on December 18th. 1965, is false in the fifth and 21st courses. —Yours faithfully, TOM H. RUSH.

Dinner Day at Bristol University

A RECORD attendance was expected at this year's Dinner, as nearly 200 tickets had been sold which, incidentally, makes the Bristol Dinner far and away the biggest University dinner in the country; and now, for many people throughout the land, the fourth Saturday in January is synonymous with the Bristol Dinner.

with the Bristol Dinner.

A number of traditions concern Dinner week-end, and one of the oldest is that people in Bristol on Friday evening and, of course, attending the Dinner, should go to the Volunteer No one knows why—the public house is surely one of the roughest in the city—but, as with all Society traditions, it will never be changed, and certainly part of the charm of the Society lies in its often illogical, always unalterable, traditions. What other University, for instance, has a Cupid, or head- and under-gardeners or, for that matter, a grandmother? However, to return to the point, everybody enjoyed Friday evening in spite of the heaving throng, and were in good spirits for the next day.

AN ORGANISER'S DREAM

With 25 rings of bells to choose from, Bristol is an organiser's dream, and so it was not a difficult task to arrange for 12 towers to be open at various times of the day to accommodate everyone. Bristol has more accommodate everyone. Bristol has more towers per acre than anywhere else, but one wonders where anywhere else there are so many bad rings. However, the general standard of ringing was quite good and for most people the unique charm of the centre of Bristol more than made up for any deficiencies in the bells. Two peals were also attempted, but because of feckless organisation neither was successful. Grandsire Caters at St. Stephen's was lost after two hours, while Stedman Triples at St. Philip's started two hours late and was lost after 20 minutes. Certainly Dinner Day attempts seem ill-fated; a peal has not been rung for over three years.

a peal has not been rung for over an eyears.

As has been customary in the past, a Society meeting was held in St. Michael's Church Hall towards evening, a service following at the church. Unfortunately, the heating apparatus was not in working order and the church was icy cold—so cold in fact that the organist was at times unable to play.

ELEGANT TOP TABLE

For the second year running the Dinner was held in the Senate House, and can these rooms be bettered? A new departure this year was the autocratic decision by the Master year was the autocratic decision by the Master that dinner suits should be worn on top table, which provoked much adverse comment among prominent non-resident members—though whether it will be repeated next year is very much open to question.

The speeches began with Miss P. Bligh-Cheesman proposing in fluent style "The Visitors." She was delighted to report that this year there were more than ever before, and the more who came the better. A certain other Society seemed to be trying to limit numbers by an inflationary price increase: this she thought wrong, and she hoped that Bristoi University Society would always warmly welcome visitors.

Next followed a presentation on behalf of the Society, by Mr. P. J. Bird, of a set of sherry glasses and tray to Professor R. Brocklehurst, the retiring president. Mr. Bird spoke of the tremendous amount of hard work done by the Professor for the Society—he was, for instance, largely responsible for having the Society represented on the Central Council. The Society was tremendously grateful for this and he hoped that the gift would be some token of the esteem the Society held for the Professor.

In reply, the Professor thanked the Society for the gift: he was sure he could put it to good use. Far from being hard work, he had enjoyed the presidency greatly and he was sorry that he had at last to relinquish the post. In retirement, he hoped to find the time to master more complicated methods of ringing bells; however—in reference to a recent letter in "The Ringing World"—Grandsire must never be derided. He had derived a great deal of pleasure from this method, even though it was a relatively simple one.

CUPID HAD TO RESIGN

CUPID HAD TO RESIGN

After "The Society" had been competently proposed by Mr. K. Darvill, of Cambridge, the Master (Mr. D. B. Williams) replied. He regretted that as yet no peals had been rung by the Society in the current year but that was not a sign of weakness. A peal was a transitory thing which might or not be creative. With 30 members to cater for, time was valuable and there were few opportunities to go for peals. However, eight quarters had been rung in one term, in five different towers, with 20 people taking part. These did indicate the strength of the Society, and what augured well for the future was that 19 of those 20 would be returning next year. The Society was nandicapped by the bells it had to ring on; he hoped that someone would donate new rings for St. Michael's and Christ Church. As far as the social side went, Cupid had not been at all successful; in fact he had had to resign. It was to be hoped that his successor would prove more fortunate. In conclusion, he spoke of the need of the Society to look to the future if it were to flourish; if it failed to, it deserved the epitaph given to Cæsar by Hamlet.

Thus concluded the speeches, the rest of the evening being pleasantly spent in the sumptuous lounge. This Dinner was certainly one of the best ever.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD Marlborough Branch

An encouraging feature of the Marl-borough Branch meeting at Ramsbury on February 19th was the number of learners and young people present. The Rev. Roger Keeley (Ringing Master) supervised ringing activities.

The Vicar (Canon H L. Philp) conducted the service, and an excellent tea was provided by the ladies of the parish. Mr. G. Newman (chairman) proposed the vote of were shocked to hear of the sudden death on February 17th of the secretary of the Central Branch, Mr. Sydney A. Chambers. Mr. Chambers, who was 48, had rung as usual at Lincoln Cathedral and St. Giles' the previous Sunday and at Monday practice.

Mr. Chambers was a member of St. Giles' Church for over 40 years and began to ring in 1935 with the writer under the tuition of Mr. Harold Marcon, now of Loughborough, in preparation for the bells which were to be hung in the new Church of St. Giles. He joined the Lincoln Cathedral company in 1946 and was most loyal and regular in his attendance.

He rang his first peal in July, 1939, and had rung a total of 123 peals, mostly for the Lincoln Diocesan Guild. He was a good method ringer and an excellent striker and took part in the first peals of many Major, took part in the first peals of many Major, Royal and Maximus methods for the Guild. One of Mr. Chambers' notable achievements was a peal in 32 Spliced Surprise methods. Sydney Chambers gave varied service to the Church: he was a member of St. Giles' Parochial Church Council for 20 years, a server, sacristan, and he worked for the Church Union in Lincoln. He had been a prison visitor for many years, He was secretary of the Central Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, an office he had held for six years.

The Guild, the Cathedral and St. Giles' have lost a valuable and faithful member and we will miss his friendship and reliability. His sense of humour, too, and his telling of stories on Cathedral outings were a joy.

May he rest in peace.

For much of the 35 years he had been a ringer at Cogenhoe he had been captain and steeplekeeper. Another office he had held was that of churchwarden for about ten years. Like many other places, the ringers came and went but Ralph seemed to go on for ever He only rang one peal in his life, his main object being Sunday ringing, and in this he never failed. B. E. F.

At the business meeting it was decided to send a get-well card to Mr. A. E. Rushton, the Association's president, and also to visit Old Warden on Easter Eve. April 9th, as the Vicar was in full agreement.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH

The annual general meeting of the Llandaff Branch was held at Aberavon on February 14th, the chair being taken by the Rev. Derek Ford, of Newton-Nottage, in the absence of the Vicar.

Subscriptions had been paid by 154 members, a figure lower than usual due to a few bers, a figure lower than usual due to a few rowers being in arrears. Thirty-four new members were elected during the year. Progress was reported from Coity, where the entire band has joined the Association, under the leadership of Mr. D. J. Godfrey; Porthkerry, where methods up to Cambridge Minor are rung for Sunday service; and Newton-Nottage, where Stedman is again rung following the loss of many young ringers from the area.

A very successful year for peal ringing was accomplished. The Branch rang 54 peals in which 13 ringers rang their first peal.

Mr. Christopher Ricketts, at 14½, became the youngest Association member to call a peal of Major, also James Clatworthy had the distinction of ringing his first peal to Stedman Triples Triples.

The Branch was unanimous in its election of Mr. Iolo Davies, of Cowbridge, as Ringing Master for the coming year—a fitting tribute to his untiring interest in the affairs of the Cowbridge Grammar School Society.

Following a long and interesting discussion.

Hollowing a long and interesting discussion, the members agreed to experiment with holding only a half-yearly and annual business meeting. The alternate meetings would then be ringing, service and tea only, leaving it to the discretion of the secretary to call a business meeting at these times if the need arrises.

Meetings for the year were arranged for: Merthyr, June 11th: Coity, September 10th; St. Athan. November 12th; Newton-Nottage.

Merthyr, June 11th: Coity, Sentember 10th; St. Athan. November 12th: Newton-Nottage, February 11th. 1967.

Mr. Gwyn Lewis extended the best wishes of the Branch to the secretary, Mr. David J. Llewellyn, and Miss Penelone J. Welch, who are to be married on March 1st at Llandaff Cathedral, Mr. B. Thomas thanked the ladies of Aberavon for providing an excellent teafor the 53 members present. Mr. R. John Thomas renlied, saving how welcome ringers were to visit the church at any time. D. J. L.

LADIES' GUILD

Eight new members were elected at the annual meeting of the South Wales District in Monmouth on January 28th. They were Mrs. D. Griffiths and daughter Jane, and Anne Goodwin, all of Monmouth, Mrs. B. Jones and Sally Guest (Usk), Miss Jovee Penperall (Ebbw Vale) and the Misses Patricia and Jacqueline Black (Chepstow), Fifty ringers and friends were present. Canon Knight conducted the service, assisted by the Rev. Terrance Palmer, and Mrs. V. Jones and the Monmouth ringers, who provided an excellent tea, were thanked by Mr. T. Stephens.

Next meetings (provisional): Whitchurch,
May 21st; Ross-on-Wye, October 22nd.

Devon Branch

The lately restored bells at Teignmouth were kept going throughout the afternoon of February 19th for the annual meeting of the Devon Branch, and touches of Stedman Doubles and Triples and Plain Bob Major and Minor were rung. Capt. J. C. Styler, assistant priest, conducted the service, and a snack tea was served in the Parish Hall.

Miss M. A. Bould, vice-president, presided at the business meeting. Arrangements for the national meeting at Exeter on July 2nd were discussed, and the Misses B. Duck and J. Bryant were elected members.

Officers appointed for the ensuing year were: Vice-president, Mrs. H. Boobier (Exeter); secretary and treasurer, Mrs. P Burnham (Dartmouth): Ringing Master, Mrs. G. E. Retter (Clyst Honiton); Branch Committee, Mrs. P. Pavey, Misses S, Sims, V Stephens and C. Goss: representatives on the Central Committee, Misses M. Matthews and Y. C. Porter.

Further ringing took place at Bishopsteignton in the evening, the Vicar of Pylle kindly allowed the attempt on his easy-going six.

In connection with our report of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths' dinner, we are asked to make two corrections. In Mr. Barnett's speech, "pestering the Archbishop" should read "pestering the Prime Minister," and the ringer of 7-8 in the touch of Yorkshire Surprise Royal was Roger Baldwin and not Peter Beresford.

An evening practice at Farnborough, Hants, on February 19th attracted an excellent attendance of both District members and visitors. A wide variety of methods was rung including rounds and plain methods, Yorkshire, Cambridge, London and Bristol Surprise Major. The practice was supervised by Mr. Tom Page, Farnham District Ringing Master.

THE FIRST GIRL TO RING A PEAL

THE FIRST GIRL TO RING A PEAL

The first lady to ring a peal, Mrs. Sullivan (née Alice White) sends the following letter to Mr. William Shepherd, of Addlestone, written from Galt, Ontario, Canada:

"In one of 'The Ringing Worlds' I note you put in a word for Dora and me; I was the first girl to ring a peal—at 15 years of age—even though I had to contend with an injured spine, which was caused by a bull tossing me. Bellringing was not hard when the bearings were kept well oiled, and I remember Father taking a bottle of castor oil if we were going to a tower which had no efficient caretaker.

"I have a picture of myself, with Dora, which was taken for the then 'Bell Newe'

"I have a picture of myself, with Dora, which was taken for the then 'Bell News." I was then 17, and Father rigged up the ropes in the studio—twice. It was all ready the first time and I suddenly had a bad hæmorrhage; even at the second attempt Father was kneeling on the ground holding me up. I am sending the photo back to Harold to be kept in the family."

SOMERSET'S FAST PEALS

Mr. G. W. Massey, peal secretary to the Bath and Wells, has, in consequence of the false claim of the peal at Corfe as the fastest for the Association (it was, however, for the Taunton Deanery), been looking into the times of peals.

He writes that there have been nine faster peals for the Association, the record being shared by two peals rung at Dunkerton, near Bath, in 2 hours and 15 minutes, viz: February 20th, 1960, six Doubles methods; July 28th, 1962. Plain Bob Minor. Other peals in less than 2 hours and 21 minutes have been rung at Corston, Farmborough, Bathampton and Ash-in-Martock.

ROUGHAM BELLS AT THE FOUNDRY

"The East Anglian Daily Times" in its issue of February 19th had a fine picture of one of the six bells at St. Mary's, Rougham, near Bury St. Edmunds, being lowered preparatory to going to the Loughborough Foundry for overhauling. The oldest bell here dates back to about 1410 and is thought to have been cast by John Bird of London. Its Latin inscription can be translated: "I, being rung, am called Katherine, the rose of the world." This bell is to be one-eighth turned. It is badly worn where the clapper strikes and the metal there is in danger of cracking.

Three of the other bells are by John Darbie —two 1661 and the other 1678. The tenor of 1790 was cast by Thomas Osborn of Downham Market and weighs about 16 lb. The voungest was cast by John Warner and Son in 1894. The estimated cost of the work is about £7.000. Mr. Claude Rush informs us that the 1553 Survey showed four bells.

TWO IRISH RECORDS

The name of Mr. John T. Dunwoody, of Holywood, Co. Down, should have been included in the handbell peal table for 1965. He rang 17 peals "in hand" (conducted 16). His total of peals for the year was 31 (conducted 25). Both figures are a record for the Irish Association.

The peal of Ealing on January 22nd, 1966 (page 98), was rung at St. Peter-in-Thanet, Kent, and not as printed.

STRIKING COMPETITION AT BURGESS HILL

For the third year running a striking competition was held at St. John's, Burgess Hill, in conjunction with the Mid-Sussex Arts Fespetition was held at St. John's, Burgess Hill, in conjunction with the Mid-Sussex Arts Festival. Eight towers entered—the same number as in 1965—and once again A. P. (Pat) Cannon was the adjudicator.

Those taking part were: St. Leonard's, Aldrington; St. Mary's, Balcombe; St. Peter's, Brighton; Good Shepherd, Brighton; St. John's, Crawley; Holy Trinity, Hurstpierpoint; SS. Damian and Cosmos, Keymer.

St. Peter's, Brighton, were declared the winners with 82 faults, and have thus won every time since the competition started.

About 60 people sat down to tea and to hear the adjudicator's comments on the standard of ringing which, unfortunately, was not up to the level of previous years. Following tea, Pat Cannon gave a brief but interesting talk on his recent trip to Australia. Ringing then continued until 8 p.m.

The competition seems to be maintaining its interest among local towers and, after three years, is acquiring an air of permanence. This must surely be to the good of ringing and ringers, as it not only brings about an awareness of what constitutes good striking but also, by its link with the Arts Festival and the attendant publicity, brings the art of bellringing to a wider (and possible more appreciative) audience. A further competition will be held in 1967.

61 YEARS AS CAPTAIN

61 YEARS AS CAPTAIN

On February 15th Mr. William Lawrence was re-elected captain of the St. Nicholas', Stevenage, band for the 61st year. He began ringing in October, 1900, and has been in charge of the belfry since 1906. Except for war service in 1914-18 and the enforced silence in World War II he has rung morning and evening on Sundavs with only very rare absences because of illness.

Ringers are well known for longevity and faithful service, so Stevenage does not claim this as a record, but Mr. Lawrence's term of office must be amongst the longest—and still continuing to the joy of all his colleagues.

still continuing to the joy of all his colleagues.

SPLICING THE MAINBRACE FOR JAMES BENNETT

Many of the old school will remember Jim Bennett, who went into the Royal Marines in 1905 and later rang many peals with the late William Pye.

Apart from "the screws" in the arms, Jim is hale and hearty and as upright as ever. and still enjoys a touch on Sundays and practice nights. It is a pity he could not stand in the peal of Grandsire Caters on the evening of his 79th birthday, but the ringers were glad to join him to splice the mainbrace after the peal.

Jim sends best wishes to all old friends.

BROTHERS FATHERS THE SAME DAY

The two brothers, Geoffrey and Brian Pratt, achieved a remarkable distinction on January 28th by both becoming fathers for the first time. Geoffrey and Margaret's baby was a boy (David Charles) and Brian and Jill's a girl (Helen Anne), All four parents are ringers and all are from Cambridge, although Geoffrey and Margaret now live near Nuneaton.

"A COLLECTION OF SURPRISE COMPOSITIONS"

This book, by Cyril A. Wratten, has made a significant addition to the small but gradually increasing amount of published technical data. It is intended for the conductor who has neither records of methods and compositions published in "The Ringing World' nor the time or know-how to derive falseness and compose peals.

The book is divided into sections dealing with Major, Royal and Maximus. In each section all Surprise methods rung and published up to and including October 22nd, 1965, are listed by name, together with leadheads and falseness groups. These lists of methods are followed by compositions, grouped by leadheads, with the falseness groups to which each composition is true. The Major section is by far the largest, containing over 600 methods and 119 compositions.

The user has merely to look up the leadheads and falseness of the method for which he needs a composition and then look through the group of compositions with the appropriate leadheads to find the ones which are true to the method's falseness.

As in any book of finite size, there are limitations: because the falseness of the methods and the "truth" of the compositions are given without incidence, no compositions will be found for a small proportion of methods, such as Hitchin, which have falseness to which no composition is true for all incidence.

A final section contains a selection of peals of spliced in up to 30 methods; these have been chosen so that the same composition can be used to a wide range of methods.

At five shillings, this well-printed book is a bargain. It provides compositions for over 700 named methods and, if used in conjunction with Hudson and McClenahan's publications, compositions for several thousand more methods become available.

DAVID J. MARSHALL.

RANG WITH THE REV. F. E. ROBINSON

Mrs. Sullivan (nee Alice White), who was born in 1880 and rang her first peal at the age of 15, rang peals with the Rev. F. E. Robinson. She now lives at Galt. Ontario, age of 15, Robinson.

Mr. William Shepherd writes that he rang three peals with the Rev. F. E. R.—at Hersham in 1903 and two at Arklow, Ireland, in May, 1905. He also rang a peal with Mr. Louis A. Wilson at Putney on November 25th, 1901, and with Mr. A. E. Pitstow's father, Frederick Pitstow, at Waltham Abbey on January 25th, 1919.

WESTBURY PEAL'S TIME

Dear Sir,—The band which rang the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Westbury, Wiltshire, on January 29th, 1966, have no desire to be credited with the crime of ringing the fastest peal on these glorious bells. It was a good peal rung in the reasonable time of 3 hours and 29 minutes, and not as published on page 121.—Yours sincerely.

GEORGE MASSEY.
