'THE CHURCH AND ART'

UNDER the above title the Central Council for the Care of Churches published this week their tenth report, a comprehensive survey of how our great cathedrals withstood the damages of war and also principles for general guidance of Diocesan Advisory Committees and Churchwardens on the care of churches. References are made to church bells and, while much of the information is of general knowledge to ringers, the comments will be of special interest.

What bells have we lost during the war asks the compiler of the report. We quote: 'First, perhaps, the well-known bells of St. Mary-le-Bow, Cheapside. In this case the bells were not those long familiar and recorded for wireless broadcasting, but a modern ring. More serious losses are splendid rings by Rudhall, of Gloucester, in St. Bride's, Fleet Street, and St. Nicholas', Bristol. Another fine ring by the same founder was that of St. Dunstan-in-the-East; one which survived of these bells is to go to Canberra, in Australia. The ring of eight at St. Lawrence Jewry is gone, and also that of Whitechapel. There is little doubt but that these famous rings in the City of London will be replaced.'

The report goes on: 'It is often pointed out that modern tuning methods are usually undesirable where ancient bells are concerned. But such treatment is possible in the case of 19th-century rings, and has just been successfully applied to a light ring of eight at St. Katharine's, Feltham.'

'But bell losses might have been much greater. The bells of Exeter Cathedral are untouched, so are those of St. Paul's, London, Canterbury, Lincoln, York, Westminster Abbey and St. Martin's-in-the-Field, and, indeed, the great majority of our ringing bells. Even at Coventry, where so much else went, the bells were untouched. Of ancient or mediæval bells, as far as our information goes, we have lost none or, at the worst, next to none.' As to protective measures in war time the report states that the earliest bells in the City of London were sent to Cleve Abbey, West Somerset, where they still remain for the present. They include mediæval bells from St. Bartholomew-the-Great and St. Bartholomew-the-Less, and early examples from the Whitechapel Foundry belonging to St. Andrew Undershaft.

At present there is only one member with a direct interest in ringing—the Rev. E. G. Benson—on the Central Council for the Care of Churches. Our Council should have direct representation or liaison with this body; the experts of our art could make a useful contribution.

BELFRY GOSSIP

A list that denotes rare achievement is the 400 peals of Mr. Walter F. Judge, of Oxford. For details see next week.

Leicester handbell enthusiasts remembered Mr. James George's birthday. There was a peal on the eve.

The Ladies' Guild will note with pleasure that Miss Evelyn Steel has rung her 250th peal—seven Surprise Minor methods.

To peal ringers we would say have patience. We have 149 in hand at the time of writing. As far as possible publication will be in chronological order.

The first peal on the recast bells of Wakefield Cathedral was a silver wedding compliment to the Provost, the Very Rev. N. T. Hopkins, who gave such encouragement to their restoration.

'Aristophanes' is reminded that a rule governing the publication of letters is that the name and address of the sender must be forwarded to the Editor. The Editor is not an expert at guessing handwriting.

Sympathy is expressed with Mr. R. O. Fry, of Bath, who was taken suddenly ill last week-end. He was to have conducted in a peal attempt at Sherborne Abbey last Saturday. Because of his illness the attempt has been postponed.

We regret this is an eight-page issue. Unfortunately there are others to come, as the ration received from the Paper Controller is not what we anticipated. It is probable that 'The Ringing World' will alternate between eight and twelve page issues.

Steps are being taken to maintain interest. To conserve space, Notices are being set in a smaller type. May we remind secretaries that the charge is still one penny a word (minimum 2s.). Counting was particularly bad during the Christmas rush.

The peal at Seal, Kent, is the first peal on the bells since 1836 and was rung as a compliment to Mr. T. Groombridge, sen., and Mr. H. J. Ford, the only two surviving members of the band which rang that peal, the first on the bells.

In connection with the Nativity play at Kilburn Parish Church from December 30th to January 2nd, there will be ringing each evening. Mr. E. M. Atkins, of 18, Westbere Road, N.W.2, appeals for volunteers to ensure that a complete band will be available each evening. He would welcome information of attendance in advance (phone Hampstead 4510).

Veteran of the South Wigston band is Mr. John Clarke, who has been ringing there regularly since the bells were installed in 1901. On December 7th he called 1,260 Grandsire Triples in celebration of his 79th birthday, the ringers being R. Perry 1, G. Deacon 2, J. E. Clarke 3, C. Marshall 4, A. Bodycote 5, A. Patrick 6, J. L. Willars 7, F. Ford 8.

To mark the 40th anniversary of the formation of the Coventry Diocesan Guild, a peal of Belgrave Surprise Major was rung at Chilvers Coton. Those taking part were the Master, a former Master, the general secretary, a former general secretary, two district secretaries and the auditor and committee member.

History for the Peterborough Guild was made by the peal at Tichmarsh, Northants, on Nov. 29th. It was the first peal of Spliced Kent and Oxford Treble Bob for the Guild and the first peal of Spliced Major, on the bells and by all the band except the conductor (Mr. George W. Jeffs). There was, however, a first or two left for the conductor—the first to 'circle' the tower and his first Treble Bob as conductor.

The Banstead Peal

Dear Sir,—I, too, would like to congratulate the local band at Banstead on ringing a peal of Spliced Surprise Major in four methods.

To answer your query: Is there another tower in the country whose local band could ring this peal?

We have, at All Saints' Church, Oxford, a band who have progressed so far in Spliced Surprise ringing that eight and ten methods are rung regularly for Sunday service. On practice nights we are joined by some of St. Giles' ringers and university members, and have rung up to twelve methods spliced.

This local band is capable of ringing a peal in ten Surprise methods, but owing to two of its members not caring for peal ringing, no attempt has ever been made, though seven of its members—with the addition of Mr. Bennett, of St. Giles'—have rung peals in four, five, six, eight (2) and ten methods.

Perhaps a short summary on how ringing in Oxford has reached its present high level would be of interest.

When the ban on ringing was lifted, there still existed in Oxford the nucleus of a pre-war band of Surprise ringers, and with the general public taking a more active interest in ringing, recruits began to come along and rapid progress was made. This progress, in the early days, was helped largely owing to the keenness of John Spice and a few other university members. If, at that time, the policy of the more advanced members had been a selfish one, a band could have been formed which, in a short space of time, could have rung almost any method. This would have been a grave mistake, for with the 'going down' of John and Betty Spice, Wilfrid Moreton, not to mention the secession from ringing of 'Dick' Post, the advanced ringing in Oxford would have broken up.

No, the policy of Oxford ringing has been a long term one. We have never neglected to teach recruits, and bring along the slow ones, until we have, besides the Spliced ringers, several ringing Surprise methods, and others in the Grandsire and Stedman stage. The combined ringers of the three active eight-bell towers also meet at 9 a.m. every Sunday and ring for the Cathedral services, when some good Grandsire and Stedman Cinques are rung.

The motto here is, 'Keep Teaching,' a motto which some of the experts would do well to adopt.—Yours faithfully, W. F. JUDGE.

54, Templar Road, Oxford.

NEW ZEALAND AND ROYAL WEDDING

Dear Sir,—Arrangements were in hand for the Christchurch Cathedral Bellingers Society to ring on the occasion of the Royal Wedding, and the N.Z. Broadcasting Service were to make recordings of the ringing. It is with regret that we have to report that these arrangements were cancelled because of the tragic fire in Christchurch at the time; this fire is the worst one in the history of New Zealand. Forty-one people were burnt to death and the city was in mourning for a week; a civic funeral was held on the Sunday, when an undenominational service was held in the Christchurch Cathedral, at the conclusion of which the bells were rung half-muffled as the cortege left for the cemetery.

At a later date the N.Z. Broadcasting Service visited the belfry and made three recordings of the Cathedral bells, one being set changes on ten bells, consisting of Queen's, Whittington and Titum changes. The second one was a plain course of Grandsire Triples on the heavy eight bells, and the third recording was 120 Grandsire Doubles on the light six. It is proposed to use these recordings occasionally prior to church services that are being broadcast.

With best wishes to all ringers. Yours faithfully, G. N. SLOAN, Christchurch Cathedral Society.

Royal Wedding PealsDEFINITION WANTED.

Dear Sir,—When is a 'Wedding Peal' not a 'Wedding Peal'?

This question is prompted by a careful perusal of the issues of 'The Ringing World' for December 5th and 12th, in which 158 peals, purporting to be 'Royal Wedding Peals,' have been published. Of these only 86 can, in my opinion, be regarded as such, having been actually rung on the day of the Royal Wedding. The remaining 72 appear to be just ordinary peals.

Perhaps the term 'Wedding Peal' is subject to a periodic elasticity in order that certain bands will have ample opportunity to get a peal in.

On referring to the issue of May 9th, 1947, it is noticeable that only five peals not rung on the Royal Birthday were classified as birthday peals, although many were rung within a few days of that date.

If this kind of 'date-stretching' is allowed to continue, the whole point of ringing for these special occasions will become a farce.

Whilst on the subject of Royal Peals, it is interesting to note that in only six towers were peals scored both on the 21st birthday and the wedding day of Her Royal Highness. This means that only a very few ringers managed to score a 'double.'—Yours faithfully,

Maidstone, Kent. G. F. CANTRILL.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOLCHELTHENHAM BRANCH.

A year of progress was reported at the annual meeting of the Cheltenham Branch at Leckhampton on December 13th. Mr. J. Ballinger was elected chairman for the coming year in succession to Mr. Dyer, other officers remaining as before.

The secretary reported that the year started with 73 members (27 in arrears) and ended with 84 (one in arrears). The branch had lost by death Mr. J. Causon, a founder member. Nine members had been written off after consultation with the towers concerned. Elections totalled 17, including the whole of the Childswickham band, and four rejoined.

Service ringing had been maintained in most towers. St. Mark's, unfortunately, had been prevented from ringing through damage to the spire caused by the gales of last winter. He understood the repairs were to be put in hand as soon as possible.

Members heard with regret of the serious illness of Mr. Walter Yeend, and that the Association was losing the Rev. N. E. Hope, who is moving into the Oxford Diocese. A committee was appointed to organise an outing on June 19th.

There were 42 ringers at the meeting from 12 towers, including several visitors. Tea was provided by the local band and helpers. Ringing ranged from Grandsire Triples to Double Norwich.

A PONTEFRAC T CELEBRATION

Mr. Harry Walters, of Pontefract, has achieved his ambition to ring 50 peals of Stedman Triples, of which he has conducted 38. At the conclusion of the peal at his own tower on November 29th, Harry entertained the band and a few friends to a substantial supper. The Vicar of St. Giles' spoke in appreciation of Harry's long and untiring service to his church, and presented him with a fountain pen from his friends as a small token of appreciation of his good work. The evening passed all too quickly with recollections of past ringing experiences interspersed with handbell ringing and a touch of Stedman on the piano.

For some years Harry has been greatly handicapped owing to a mishap to his left hand, which cannot grasp the sally, and the tail end has to be hitched on to the hand with a short bight. His ringing is perforce limited to light, easy-going bells with short draught. His striking, notwithstanding his disability, is of the best.

EVERARD SLADE POWELL

AN APPRECIATION.

The recent death of the Rev. E. S. Powell has removed from the Exercise one whose contributions to the art of ringing have been considerable, both in the theoretical and practical fields.

At the time he was completing his education at Oxford at the turn of the century, E. S. Powell had not taken up ringing, nor did he do so until several years later. It appeared that mathematics was his strong point, for he was a scholar of Christ Church and later achieved a first class in Maths. Mods. and in his Final Schools. However, he desired to enter the Church and after taking Holy Orders he was appointed curate of Esher in 1899. In 1903 he was appointed curate of St. Thomas', Exeter, and it was here that he became attracted to ringing and learned to handle a bell.

His next move was to Holbeton, Devon, where he became Vicar from 1906-1926. During this time his interest and ability in all that pertains to ringing were developing and maturing, and it is not surprising to see him becoming general secretary of the Devon Guild (1913-1924) and the president of the same body (1924-1935). During the last few years of this presidency he held the Rectory of Clyst St. George (1928-1935), and he was always very proud of being Rector of the church which had previously been in the charge of H. T. Ellacombe.

It is by his work on the Methods Committee of the Central Council that he will perhaps be best remembered in future. He had begun to represent the Devon Guild on the Central Council in 1914, and in 1927 he was elected to the Methods Committee. Here with two others whose names are famous in the Exercise, H. Law James and J. Armiger Trollope, he was jointly responsible for the compilation of the Central Council's 'Collection of Doubles and Minor Methods.' Later the committee, now consisting of E. S. Powell, J. A. Trollope and Stephen Wood issued a similar work—the 'Collection of Triples Methods'—and a notable contribution to this publication was E. S. Powell's work on Erin Triples.

In 1928 he married Miss Molly Davenport, of Sheffield, who was also a ringer, and for many years, in fact up to the time of his death, they were to have the great pleasure which accrues when husband and wife can share and actively pursue a common interest.

In 1932, taking the view that no up-to-date book existed by means of which newcomers to ringing might be introduced to the four standard methods, they undertook the joint authorship of 'The Ringer's Handbook,' which is still the standard work for beginners.

In 1933 E. S. Powell relinquished his residence in, but not his affection for, Devon, when the Dean of Christ Church offered him the living of Staverton, Northamptonshire, which he held till his retirement in 1946. His ability made itself as apparent in Northamptonshire as in Devon and in 1935 he became Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild and remained so for 11 years.

While the Central Council publications and his own work have ensured for his talents in the theoretical field the profound respect of the Exercise, a visit to one of his practice nights, or, better still, membership of one of his bands, would engender much admiration for his qualities as a teacher. He had all the attributes which make for success in such a sphere, namely, a thorough knowledge of ringing, immense patience with a beginner, a notable sense of humour, an ability to impart knowledge and an insistence on good discipline, while his personal example as a ringer could hardly be bettered.

Needless to say, it would never have done if the bells of the churches in his charge had been unsuitable for good ringing, and he was instrumental in securing the rehanging of the bells at Holbeton and Staverton.

He was not, in his own words, a prolific peal ringer, as he cared more for teaching, and strangely enough he kept no records of his peals, but it is estimated that he rang between three and four hundred; of these he conducted a good many. He was an able conductor, possessing to a high degree the attribute of knowing everyone else's work as well as his own, and thus being able to correct trips quickly and confidently.

The peal of which perhaps he had the happiest memories was one of Grandsire Cinques rung entirely by Devon men at Exeter Cathedral on January 6th, 1926, and composed and conducted by himself. The time was 3 hours and 55 minutes, and the peal proceeded with scarcely a trip and felt most comfortable. It is believed that there has been no other peal of Grandsire Cinques at Exeter since that one.

At the beginning of 1947 he retired from active work and went to live in Somerset. In September he was visiting Sheffield and was ringing for evensong in Sheffield Cathedral when he gave up his bell and a few minutes later died peacefully.

Thus passed on in the surroundings that he would have wished a grand and great man who made the lives of many others the happier for his presence and who by the exercise of his gifts left richer the art of ringing.

December, 1947.

OBITUARY

MR. W. A. COOPER.

The death took place on November 22nd at the Royal Hospital, Wolverhampton, of Mr. William Alfred Cooper, at the age of 78 years. He had been ailing for several months and went into hospital for a major operation, which proved to be too much for him to overcome. His remains were taken into St. Peter's Church for the service, and afterwards laid to rest in the Wolverhampton Cemetery.

William Cooper commenced ringing in his late teens at All Saints' Church, West Bromwich, and later joined the Wednesbury band. When he retired from his occupation as fitter in the engineering business he moved to Wolverhampton, and took up the post of caretaker at the Girls' High School. He then became a member of the St. Peter's band, and so remained until he found the climbing of so many steps was too much for him. But he would not in appearance when he felt fit to do so. His total number of peals for the Stafford Archdeaconry Society was 127, several of which he conducted. He was a member of the R.A.O.B. (Earl Haig Lodge). H.K.

MR. GEORGE HAYDEN.

The last survivor of the old All Saints' company, West Ham, Mr. George Hayden died on December 9th, aged 86. His passing was precipitated by a fall at his home a week previously.

A native of Braughing, Herts, he came to London about 60 years ago and joined the six-bell company at Leytonstone, where he remained for a few years. He then joined All Saints', West Ham, and was towerkeeper for many years. He had many peals on six, eight and ten bells to his credit and was an excellent striker.

The interment was in West Ham Cemetery on December 17th following a service held at All Saints' Church. Six of his ringing friends attended, viz., T. H. Taffender, R. W. Stannard, A. Prior, C. A. Hughes, J. Bullock and G. Dawson, four of whom rang a course of Grandsire Triples on handbells over the grave.

Our old friend will be greatly missed, as he had a cheerful word for everybody. May he rest in peace. G.D.
